Redefining Motherhood Changing Identities And Patterns:

Redefining Motherhood Sharon Abbey, Andrea O'Reilly, 1998 Women have through choice and circumstance changed what it means to be a mother today No longer is there one clear and correct prescribed definition As economic social cultural and political conditions evolve women are revolutionizing concepts of mothering in a way unrecognizable short decades ago In this unique collection twenty three women teaching at colleges and universities throughout Canada explore how traditional views of motherhood have been influenced by changing social and cultural conditions Their essays unravel patriarchal constructions of motherhood and re present new definitions drawn from women s lived experiences From Motherhood to Mothering Andrea O'Reilly, 2012-02-01 In the years since the publication of Adrienne Rich s Of Woman Born the topic of motherhood has emerged as a central issue in feminist scholarship Arguably still the best feminist book on mothering and motherhood Of Woman Born is not only a wide ranging far reaching meditation on the meaning and experience of motherhood that draws from the disciplines of anthropology feminist theory psychology and literature but it also narrates Rich s personal reflections on her experiences of mothering Andrea O'Reilly gathers feminist scholars from diverse disciplines such as literature women s studies law sociology anthropology creative writing and critical theory and examines how Of Woman Born has informed and influenced the way feminist scholarship thinks and talks about motherhood The contributors explore the many ways in which Rich provides the analytical tools to study and report upon the meaning and experience of motherhood Matricentric Feminism: Theory, Activism, Practice. The 2nd Edition Andrea O'Reilly, 2021-04-04 The 2nd edition includes a new preface that considers how matricentric feminism in positioning mothering as a verb affords a gender neutral understanding of motherwork and allows for an appreciation of how motherwork is deeply gendered and how this may be challenged and changed through empowered mothering The book argues that the category of mother is distinct from the category of woman and that many of the problems mothers face are specific to women s role and identity as mothers Indeed mothers are oppressed under patriarchy as women and as mothers Consequently mothers need a feminism of their own one that positions mothers concerns as the starting point for a theory and politic of empowerment O'Reilly terms this new mode of feminism matricentric feminism and the book explores how it is represented and experienced in theory activism and practice Mothers and Children Susan E. Chase, Mary Frances Rogers, 2001 Motherhood is a highly personal array of experiences with a uniquely public dimension preoccupying policymakers advice givers health care providers religious leaders child care workers educators and total strangers who feel entitled to judge mothers they see with their children in the neighborhood or on the TV news Chase U of Tulsa and Rogers U of West Florida approach motherhood and mothering as feminist sociologists focusing on questions such as how ideas about motherhood are shaped by social and historical conditions how ideas about motherhood change over time and across social contexts who has the power to make their definitions of motherhood stick and what diverse groups of mothers themselves

Maternal Abandonment and Queer Resistance in Twenty-First-Century Swedish Literature Jenny Björklund, 2021-06-03 This book questions why so many mothers leave their families in twenty first century Swedish literature analyzing literary representations of maternal abandonment in relation to sociopolitical discourses The volume draws on a queer theoretical framework in order to highlight norm critical dimensions failure and resistance in literature about motherhood Jenny Björklund argues that novels about mothers who leave can be understood as ways to problematize and challenge Swedish branded values like gender equality and a progressive family politics that promotes ideals of involved parenthood the nuclear family and pronatalism The book also raises questions beyond the Swedish context about maternal ambivalence family politics and privilege and discusses how literature can work as resistance and provide alternatives to the current social order

Troubling Maternity Emily Jeremiah, 2003 The question of maternity is crucial for feminists to whom it represents both challenge and inspiration as it is for many thinkers engaged with the issues of agency corporeality and ethics This examination puts forward the idea of a maternal performativity drawing on the work of Judith Butler and numerous other feminist theorists to offer new ways of looking at 1970s and 1980s literary texts by ten German speaking women writers including Barbara Frischmuth Elfriede Jelinek Irmtraud Morgner and Karin Struck It argues that as yet maternal agency has not adequately been theorized a project which is urgent given the traditional view in Western culture of the mother as passive and suggests that Butler's notion of performativity can assist in this task It proposes a performative conception of both mothering and literature and links both of these to the question of ethics which is understood as involving embodiment and relationality To different extents all of the texts examined depict mothers as marginal abject or insane thus demonstrating the operations of exclusion and the need for a maternal agency to be developed and enacted The idea of maternal performativity is refined in five chapters which focus respectively on community corporeality the mother child relationship the family and discursive production The conclusion explores the ethics of literary practice and knowledge production and argues that in the light of the developing fields of new reproductive technologies and genetics it is imperative that we seek new understandings of embodiment community and care a task to which this study aspires to contribute

The Politics of Recognition and Social Justice Maria Pallotta-Chiarolli,Bob Pease,2013-11-07 Via a wide range of case studies this book examines new forms of resistance to social injustices in contemporary Western societies Resistance requires agency and agency is grounded in notions of the subject and subjectivity How do people make sense of their subjectivity as they are constructed and reconstructed within relations of power What kinds of subjectivities are needed to struggle against forms of dominance and claim recognition The participants in the case studies are challenging forms of dominance and subordination grounded in class race culture nationality sexuality religion age disability and other forms of social division It is a premise of this book that new and or reconstructed forms of subjectivity are required to challenge social relations of subordination and domination Thus the transformation of subjectivity as well as the restructuring of oppressive power relations is necessary to achieve social justice By examining the construction of subjectivity of particular groups through an intersectional lens the book aims to contribute to theoretical accounts of how subjects are constituted and how they can develop a critical distance from their positioning

Feminism, Psychoanalysis, and Maternal

Subjectivity Alison Stone,2013-03-01 In this book Alison Stone develops a feminist approach to maternal subjectivity Stone argues that in the West the self has often been understood in opposition to the maternal body so that one must separate oneself from the mother and maternal care givers on whom one depended in childhood to become a self or in modernity an autonomous subject These assumptions make it difficult to be a mother and a subject an autonomous creator of meaning Insofar as mothers nonetheless strive to regain their subjectivity when their motherhood seems to have compromised it theirs cannot be the usual kind of subjectivity premised on separation from the maternal body Mothers are subjects of a new kind who generate meanings and acquire agency from their position of re immersion in the realm of maternal body relations of bodily intimacy and dependency Thus Stone interprets maternal subjectivity as a specific form of subjectivity that is continuous with the maternal body Stone analyzes this form of subjectivity in terms of how the mother typically reproduces with her child her history of bodily relations with her own mother leading to a distinctive maternal and cyclical form of lived time

Parenting and Professing Rachel Hile Bassett,2005 Featuring many personal accounts the twenty four essays in this collection explore the challenges and possibilities confronting those especially women who combine parenting and academic work Written by a diverse group of educators who present a real world variety of situations the collection also includes ideas for change at the individual interpersonal policy and system levels

Understanding Depression Janet

Stoppard,2014-01-14 Women are particularly vulnerable to depression Understanding Depression provides an in depth critical examination of mainstream approaches to understanding and treating depression from a feminist perspective Janet Stoppard argues that current approaches give only partial accounts of womens experiences of depression and concludes that a better understanding will only be achieved when womens experiences and lived realities are considered in relation to the material and social conditions in which their everyday lives are embedded The impact of this change in approach for modes of treatment are discussed and solutions are suggested Understanding Depression offers new insights into the problem and its treatment It will prove useful to those with an interest in depression and gender as well as mental health practitioners
