Law and Neuroscience: Justice as a Challenge for Neurorights, Neurolaw, and Forensic Psychology Eric García-López, Eduardo Demetrio Crespo, Cristina Nombela Otero, Federica Coppola, 2025-05-29

Justice is one of the most complex issues in the study of Law Philosophical sociological and religious studies have attempted to articulate this value central to human coexistence throughout history More recently specialised sub disciplines such as Legal Psychology have significantly contributed to refining the relationship between Law and Justice by enriching the study of these normative domains with empirical knowledge about social interactions In more recent developments the discipline of Neurolaw has begun to offer new insights into the analysis of the longstanding and disputed issues surrounding Law and Justice Neurolaw can be defined as the analysis of Law and Justice from the perspective of Neuroscience and involves an understanding of human behavior through the study of the brain's interactions with the environment Neuroscience appears to provide a more up to date understanding of human behavior focussing on the legal and forensic implications Yet neuroscientific studies of crime fail to grasp the impact of broader socio contextual contingencies on human conduct including institutional failures gender dynamics and cultural power Such a failure evidences the limits of neuroscience as a complete epistemological tool It is too narrow to provide a complete understanding of complex human conduct like crime as it involves a careful examination of the variegated interactions between various social and biological levels This Research Topic addresses the need for developing a holistic theoretical framework that considers not only the biological nature of human beings but also the social cultural and political influences on human behavior Such a holistic approach is necessary to clarify some foundational philosophical questions including subjectivity and consciousness as well as the role that these concepts play within the notion of criminal liability and punishment In addition to these unresolved philosophical questions there is also the need for a revised legal and forensic approach that grasps a more nuanced and complex understanding of human conduct Topics for contributions include but are not limited to the following Neuroscience Law and Criminal Justice Neuroscience Law and Social Justice Neuroscience Law and Racial Justice Neuroscience and Restorative Justice Neurorights Neuroethics Criminal responsibility Decision making Juvenile Criminal Law and Punishment Free will Ethical legal and social repercussions of the neurotechnologies currently available as well as of those that are currently being developed We welcome submissions from authors with backgrounds in law justice philosophy forensic neuropsychology forensic cognitive social psychology forensic psychiatry criminology sociology addressing theoretical methodological or empirical issues related to these topics and other related ones Cross inter and multidisciplinary contributions are of course welcome

Understanding Drugs, Alcohol And Crime Bennett, Trevor, Holloway, Katy, 2005-04-01 Bennett and Holloway's Understanding Drugs Alcohol and Crime is the best most up to date and comprehensive examination for the United Kingdom of interactions among drugs alcohol and crime The authors exhaustively and authoritatively survey current knowledge in the UK and from many other countries on drug and alcohol use as cause and consequence of crime and the effects of law enforcement and treatment responses Clearly written unfailingly lucid and admirably accurate this book will be the indispensable work on British drug policy for many years to come Professor Michael Tonry University of Minnesota Law School USA What makes this book particularly interesting is the refreshingly non judgmental presentation which conveys the essence of very important issues in contemporary society Therefore this is an ideal text not only for students but also for policy makers drugs and alcohol counsellors treatment agencies and everyone interested in doing research on drugs alcohol and crime Nicoletta Policek University of Abertay Dundee The publication is not only an excellent summary of the existing research in Great Britain and to a lesser extent from other jurisdictions it is a foundation for future research by evoking and at times provoking questions and offering a variety of possible responses Hirsch Greenberg University of Regina What is the connection between drugs alcohol and crime What works in reducing drugs and alcohol related crime The book provides a succinct overview of current theory and research on the links between drugs alcohol use and crime It discusses the legal and social context of drug and alcohol use and identifies current levels of consumption Focusing on the UK context it also takes into account international research where appropriate Detailed review of the research literature on the connections between drug use and crime Examines the current government anti drugs policy and assesses the effectiveness of programmes that have been used to reduce drug and alcohol related crime The book concludes that future government drugs policy should pay particular attention to the lessons learned from research on the connection between drug and alcohol use and crime Ideal for criminology criminal justice social policy and social work students this book will also be a useful source of information for policy makers the police probation workers social workers drugs and alcohol counsellors treatment agencies sentencers voluntary agencies Drug Action Teams and others with an interest in research on drugs and crime
