Reelpolitik Political Ideologies In 30s And 40s Films:

Reelpolitik Ideologies in American Political Film Beverly Merrill Kelley, 2012-03-22 In Reelpolitik Ideologies in American Political Film Beverly Merrill Kelley examines more than a century of political movie history providing a thorough historical background for diametrically opposed political ideologies in order to facilitate debate and dialectical learning Kelley explores 185 American political movies categorized by ideological themes and presented in chronological order in order to illustrate the history of film as well as the history of the specific political ideology Each chapter includes a case study which provides an in depth analysis of the single film that best illustrates the ideology at hand including The Candidate populism Wall Street elitism The Godfather fascism All the President's Men anti fascism Patton interventionism and M A S H isolationism Reelpolitik Ideologies in American Political Film establishes a paradigmatic analysis of political films that details the cyclical nature of ideological dialectic throughout American history and identifies the values attitudes and beliefs of the voters who choose not to affiliate with Republicans and Democrats and who often determine the outcomes of elections The text also includes an extensive ideological filmology spanning more than 100 years of American cinema This study represents a bold investigation of the political and social values of American film and is an essential text in the study of the relationship between culture and politics

Reelpolitik II Beverly Merrill Kelley, 2004-02-16 Reelpolitik II moves past typical left right political distinctions to examine political ideologies cycling through U S history during the 50s and 60s These eight Cold War movies especially equipped the moviegoer with a unique vantage point to scrutinize the arms race the Red Scare the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam War They also helped audiences to observe the way film functions as a purveyor of American mythology a megaphone to shout political messages a metaphorical route to the emotions a flattering mirror an unflattering microscope and a magic carpet ride back to the future

Reelpolitik, 1998 Reelpolitik Beverly Merrill Kelley, 1998-11-24 Using the unique vantage point of eight classic American movies Mr Smith Goes to Washington Magnificent Ambersons Gabriel Over the White House Citizen Kane Casablanca All Quiet on the Western Front Daily Bread and The Fountainhead Kelley and her colleagues explore the political ideologies thrumming through the American psyche during a period of national catastrophe and triumph

Seeing through the Screen Bruce E. Altschuler, 2017-11-22 Although films affect and reflect the way Americans look at politics they have received far less attention than television or newspapers This is changing particularly on college campuses where courses on politics and film are growing in popularity This book consists of short essays on approximately fifty American political films It is distinctive in two ways Firstly it defines politics broadly enough to include a range of films not only on obviously political topics such as the presidency congress and elections but also on the media law and courts war and peace and a variety of policy issues Secondly it goes beyond plot and dialogue to discuss the language of film including visual aspects sound mise en scene and other ways that films communicate their messages to audiences Each chapter begins with a brief introduction to the films included The essays also explain the political context of each film and when films are based on historical events discuss the accuracy of their depictions. References to additional sources are included at the end of each essay. This book explores the extent to which films take on the political issues of the day and their influence on public perceptions of politics. Do films support the status quo or do they challenge it?

Reelpolitik Beverly Merrill Kelley, 1998-11-24. The movies that document American history during the interwar years still hold relevance today. While we may be put off by the corny sentimentality popular at the time, we feel attracted despite our 1990s veneer of sophistication to healthy portions of unadulterated American spirit. Americans resist encumbering themselves with political labels. Kelley asserts content to remain simultaneously fragmented between elitism and populism, isolationism and interventionism even today, yet remain somehow united by a fundamental essence they can't quite define but readily recognize as the American can-do attitude. Using the unique vantage point of eight classic American movies: Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, Magnificent Ambersons, Gabriel Over the White House, Citizen Kane, Casablanca, All Quiet on the Western Front, Daily Bread, and The Fountainhead, Kelley and her colleagues explore the political ideologies thrumming through the American psyche. The stock market crash and ensuing depression proved a defining experience. For the first time, the national psyche was sent careening toward alien political ideologies: the seductiveness of communism and fascism took hold in the wreckage wrought by the Depression. American foreign policy likewise fluctuated from the isolationist stance adopted after fighting the war to end all wars to an interventionist response to the intensifying pressure to vanquish communist and fascist bullies. Students, scholars, and the general public will find intriguing insights on a period of national catastrophe and triumph.

War and Film in America Marilyn J. Matelski, Nancy Lynch Street, 2017-10-27. America's chief exports are war and entertainment combined; they are the war films viewed all over the world. The film industry is a partner of the government. American film shapes the ways in which both Americans and others view war. The authors herein explore differing film perspectives across five decades. The essays, written especially for this volume, explore topics such as frontier justice, Cold War fervor, government-sponsored terrorism, the back to Vietnam films as a venue for propaganda, and war's far-reaching effects on personal values, family relationships, and general civility. The movies used in these analyses vary from conventional battle epics like Bridge on the River Kwai and The Green Berets to motion pictures with a war motif either as part of the story, The Way We Were, or as a historical setting, The Graduate. Some of the films are satirical, Dr. Strangelove; some are propagandistic, The Alamo, Big Jim McLain. Other films include Black Hawk Down, True Lies, The Deer Hunter, Patriot Games, and Let There Be Light. Teaching Politics Beyond the Book Robert W. Glover, Daniel Tagliarina, 2012-11-22. To teach political issues such as political struggle, justice, interstate conflict, etc., educators rely mostly on textbooks and lectures. However, many other forms of narrative exist that can elevate our understanding of such issues. This innovative work seeks new ways to foster learning beyond the textbook and lecture model by using creative and new media, including graphic novels, animated films, hip hop, music Twitter and more Discussing the opportunities these media offer to teach and engage students about politics the work presents concrete ways on how to use them along with teaching and assessment strategies all tested in the classroom The contributors are dedicated educators from various types of institutions whose essays span a variety of political topics and examine how non traditional texts can promote critical thinking and intellectual growth among students in colleges and universities The first of its kind to discuss a wide range of alternative texts and media the book will be a valuable resource to anyone seeking to develop innovative curricula and engage their students in the study of politics American Politics in for most Americans entertainment and most importantly film has been crucial in conveying to citizens what fascism is about Fascism Comes to America has been enhanced by many illustrations that exhibit how fascism was absorbed into the US public consciousness Ghettos, Tramps, and Welfare Queens Stephen Pimpare,2017 Explores how American movies have portrayed poor and homeless people from the silent era to today Front jacket flap Hollywood's War with Poland, 1939-1945 M.B.B.
