Reflections and Observations on Mark Twain's "The Gilded Age: A Tale of Today" Fritz Dufour, 2021-02-27 The Gilded Age a Tale of Today is a depiction of those crimes committed in the United States in the late 19th Century which so frequently went unpunished and of the casualties which ought to be called crimes The description severely winds up with the satirical verdict No one to blame The project of Colonel Sellers for raising mules for the Southern markets is a satire upon the fraudulency and soap bubble speculation of capitalists The work is full of hints and descriptions that take their rise from the frauds and outrages under which the country had plagued for so many years Family social and national questions are all cleverly satirized The monument erected to the memory of the Father of his country a monument begun but of course never completed calls forth some strokes of bitter but not unjust humor The means by which preferment is obtained in Washington are amply satirized There are two views of this book favorable and unfavorable This essay considers both For instance while some critics think that it is incoherent others suggests that the narrative departs from the traditional methods of concluding and is thereby more natural than most novels because every chapter of the book bears the marks of both writers and is therefore a novelty in its way In this essay I argue that The Gilded Age is essentially a satire and should always be accepted as such Of course other good contemporary books did not make it to our time in terms of popularity and legacy The Gilded Age did We talk write and read about it to this day Evidently it is an integral part of the annals of American literature and fully contributes to Mark Twain s reputation legacy and lasting influence

Reflections Mary Wyatt Byers,2014-07-23 We must learn to look beyond the mirrors of our lives not only to view the outward appearance of what seems to be but with a deep meditation that allows God to speak to us in ways that exalt His glory in our three dimensional world Rarely are reflections planned instead they are usually triggered by stimuli such as smells songs words or visuals Time and again we pause to ponder about a variety of issues and things that evoke emotions that may range from silliness to self pity More often than not these are the things that shape and mold our lives

Marx and We Sun Zhengyu,2024-08-01 Marxist ideology is the only fully scientific ideology the only one able to guide mankind toward the settlement of fundamental social problems and to point out the royal road for the proletariat to take in its march toward socialism and communism Without Marxism modern people cannot establish true social ideals nor can they engage in the rational pursuit of values Without Marxism modern people cannot choose the correct path of development nor can they build up new forms of civilizations Without Marxism modern people would never base their commitments to schedule the consensus building effort and support the consensus building process on any irrefutably and sufficiently sound theoretical foundations
