starting point of each essay and the unifying thread of this collection is the praxial philosophy of music education explained in Elliott's Music Matters: A New Philosophy of Music Education (OUP, 1995). This philosophy argues for a socially and artistically grounded concept of music and music education challenging the field's traditional absolutist foundations. Praxial Music Education is both a critical companion to Music Matters and an independent text on contemporary issues in music education. Among the themes discussed are multicultural music education, the nature of musical understanding, early childhood music education, the nature and teaching of music listening, music curriculum development, and musical creativity. Praxial music education is a living theory. This unique collection will not only enrich discussions that already use Music Matters as their core but will globalize current discussions and applications of the praxial philosophy and emphasize the positive and practical values of collaborative efforts in music education.

Stage Confidences Clara Morris, 1902
 This volume is a frank book opening with a chapter dedicated to the stage-struck girl, warning her of the obstacles and hindrances with the candor of one who has known them all. Ms Morris speaks with humor and charm about the mysterious and alluring life behind the footlights while giving readers bits of the shams and deceptions of the stage and in a peculiarly open manner strips it of its false glitter. The highlights are the little stories of the actress's own career which show how truly the most dramatic scenes in plays reflect the happenings in actual life.

 Rotimi Williams Olatunji, 2013-09-30
 This book brings together cutting edge research by leading African communication and media theorists to provide a broad but detailed survey of the history and present state of the art of advertising in Africa. The book is a thought-provoking reminder of the variety of approaches to the study of marketing communication on a continent where advertising is often taken for granted. From indigenous African forms of advertising by street criers, wall paintings and even olfactory appeals to the latest experiments in integrated marketing communication via the Internet, home videos, smartphones and social media, Dimensions of Advertising Theory and Practice in Africa is a comprehensive survey both of Africa's contributions to the globalized advertising industry and of the industry's profound affect on African economies and cultures. The first collection of its kind, the book marks an important moment in the study of marketing communication in Africa. It will be an essential text for years to come.

Robinson, 2011. Shift Linguals traces a history of the cut up method, the experimental writing practice discovered by Brion Gysin and made famous by Beat author William S Burroughs. From the groundbreaking works of Dada and Surrealism that paved the way for Burroughs' breakthrough through the countercultural explosion of the 1960s, Shift Linguals explores the evolution of the cut ups within the theoretical frameworks of postmodernism and the avant garde to arrive at the present and the digital age. Some 50 years on from the first discovery of the cut ups in 1959, it is only now that we are truly able to observe the method's impact not only on literature but on music and culture in a broader sense. The result of over nine years of research, this study represents the first sustained and detailed analysis of the cut ups as a narrative form. With explorations of the works of Burroughs, Gysin, Kathy Acker and John Giorno, it also contains the first critical writing on the works of Claude P. L'Évêque and Carl Weissner in English, as well as the first in-depth discussion of the writing of Stewart Home to date.
