Reflective Practice in Education and Social Work Robyn Ewing, Fran Waugh, David L. Smith, 2021-12-14 This book offers unique interdisciplinary insights into developing connections between reflective practice and employability particularly through the lenses of the education and social work professions It recognises the various meanings that can be applied to the notion of reflection and examines the challenges of using reflective practice in the workplace The chapters explore the tensions that arise from preparing professionals to be agents of change and concerned with social justice and equity Further the book provides much needed perspective on how diverse positions can be identified and leveraged and shared meanings negotiated in the creation of meaningful professional learning resources for early career teachers and social workers and across the career continuum Bringing together contributions from internationally renowned scholars Reflective Practice in Education and Social Work is essential reading for early career and experienced professionals in education and social work academics and practitioners seeking further professional development in reflective practice

Learning Critical Reflection Laura Béres, Jan Fook, 2019-08-13 Learning Critical Reflection documents the actual learning experiences of social work students and practitioners It explores how a more in depth understanding of the process of learning combined with an analysis of how to critically reflect will help improve the learning process The contributors are all professionals who have learnt in a formalised way how to critically reflect on their practice They speak in depth and with feeling about their experiences how downsides and upsides worked together to transform the way they understood themselves their professional identity and their practice Existing literature about critical reflection is reviewed identifying the details of learning and pulling no punches in recognising the difficulty and complexity of becoming transformed through this learning process The editors of this book also contribute their own reflections on learning how to teach critical reflection and include the findings of a research study conducted on students learning Edited by two experienced educators this book showcases the process of learning from the perspective of the learners in order that educators and students managers supervisors and frontline practitioners alike may make the most of opportunities to critically reflect in both educational and workplace settings It should be considered essential reading for social work students practitioners and educators

Reflections on Current Social Work Practice Rory Truett, Leonie Nowland, 2002

Reflections on Values Education John Meyer, 1976-06-28
Everyone ought to be profoundly concerned with the development of the learner and consequently the development of society The ultimate standard value for such development is to attain a more adequate level of value and moral awareness sensitivity reasoning and action The why what and how of the value education emphasis are being seriously confronted in a more dedicated and systematic manner This is perhaps symptomatic of something much deeper in our personal and social fabric Dissonance conflict tensions are inevitable ingredients in our development toward self actualization as we struggle with the sticky matter of life The challenges are many the roads are arduous and the journey is lengthy but who cannot say immensely worthwhile and valuable
