Gastroesophageal reflux symptoms affect 20% of adult Americans on a weekly or more frequent basis and Barrett's esophagus a pre cancerous lesion of the distal esophagus associated with chronic GERD is prevalent in 2-6% of the adult population. Additionally there have been remarkable advances in the care of esophageal diseases in the last several years with the development of new imaging modalities, new physiological tests and promising data emerging with respect to biomarkers for esophageal neoplasia. A relatively new clinical entity eosinophilic esophagitis is being characterized in the literature and the ubiquity of this condition is now recognized. Given the dynamic nature of this area the strides being made in esophageal diseases and the importance of these diseases to clinicians practicing both subspecialty and general medicine a volume dedicated to esophageal diseases is timely and necessary.
