Handbook of British Literature and Culture of the First World War Ralf Schneider, Jane Potter, 2021-09-20 The First World War has given rise to a multifaceted cultural production like no other historical event This handbook surveys British literature and film about the war from 1914 until today The continuing interest in World War I highlights the interdependence of war experience the imaginative re creation of that experience in writing and individual as well as collective memory In the first part of the handbook the major genres of war writing and film are addressed including of course poetry and the novel but also the short story furthermore it is shown how our conception of the Great War is broadened when looked at from the perspective of gender studies and post colonial criticism The chapters in the second part present close readings of important contributions to the literary and filmic representation of World War I in Great Britain All in all the contributions demonstrate how the opposing forces of focusing and canon formation on the one hand and broadening and revision of the canon on the other have characterised British literature and culture of the First World War

Poetics of the Pretext Roland-François Lack, 1998 Poetics of the Pretext is an original study of the French poet Lautréamont 1846 1870 who was rediscovered by the Surrealists in the 1920s and promoted to the vanguard of theoretical debate by the Telquelists of the 1960s but whose work has remained largely ignored or misinterpreted beyond a small circle of enthusiasts Poetics of the Pretext analyses closely the texts pretexts and intertexts of this innovative poet bringing Les Chants de Maldoror and Poésies to the foreground of contemporary critical debates around poetics genre intertextuality and influence This book will make a major contribution to our understanding not only of the work of Lautréamont but also to the function of originality imitation and plagiarism in the nineteenth century An Imagist at War Richard Aldington, 2002 For the first time all the war poems of Richard Aldington have been brought together This collection is intended to reaffirm

Aldington's position as a significant voice in the literature of the First World War Medieval and Renaissance Humanism

Stephen Gersh, Bert Roest, 2003-11-01 This volume discusses humanist aspects of medieval and Renaissance intellectual life and thought and of their appropriation by modern history and literature It charts the humanist representations of the scholarly enterprise the self representation of the intellectual the representation of individuality in humanist literature as well as the problem field of Renaissance humanism as an ideological programme of educational moral and political reform The volume is particularly useful for medievalists and Renaissance scholars as well as for historians specialised in the history of medieval and Renaissance art medicine music and education Contributors include Wout Jac van Bekkum Theodore J Cachey Jr Karl Enenkel Catherine Kavanagh John Kerr Christel Meier Staubach Marinus Burcht Pranger Bert Roest Catrien Santing Nancy van Deusen Charlotte Ward and Robert Zwijnenberg Writing disenchantment Andrew Frayn, 2015-11-01 It has become axiomatic that First World War literature was disenchanted or disillusioned and returning combatants were unable to process or communicate that experience In Writing disenchantment Andrew Frayn argues that this was not just about the war non combatants were just as disenchanted as those who fought and writers such as D H Lawrence and Virginia Woolf produced some of the sharpest criticisms Its language already existed in contemporary sociological and historical accounts of the problems of mass culture and the modern city whose structures contained the conflict and were strengthened during it Archival material sales data and reviews are used to chart disenchantment in a wide range of early twentieth century war literature from novels about fears of invasion and pacifism through the modernist novels of the 1920s to its dominance in the War Books Boom of 1928-30 This book will appeal to scholars and students of English literature social and cultural history and gender studies Richard Aldington & H.D. Richard Aldington, Hilda Doolittle, 1995 Editor Zilboorg draws on the later 1929-1961 correspondence between the life long friends and one time spouses and seminal literary Modernists Richard Aldington 1892-1962 and Hilda Doolittle 1886-1961 to explore their personal and professional lives their friendships and topics which concerned them both including sexuality and the role of literature in the modern world Distributed by St Martin's Press Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Publishers, Readers and the Great War Vincent Trott, 2017-10-05 Literature is at the heart of popular understandings of the First World War in Britain and has perpetuated a popular memory of the conflict centred on disillusionment horror and futility This book examines how and why literature has had this impact exploring the role played by authors publishers and readers in constructing the memory of the war since 1918 It demonstrates that publishers were as influential as authors in shaping perceptions of the conflict and it provides a detailed analysis of critical and popular responses to war books tracing the evolution of readers attitudes to the war between 1918 and 2014 By exploring the cultural legacy of the war from these two previously overlooked perspectives Vincent Trott offers fresh insights regarding the emergence of a collective memory of the First World War in Britain Drawing on a broad range of primary source material including publishers correspondence dust jackets adverts book reviews and diary entries and examining canonical authors such as Wilfred Owen Siegfried Sassoon and Vera Brittain alongside long forgotten texts and more recent autobiographical works by Harry Patch and Henry Allingham Publishers Readers and the Great War provides a rich and nuanced analysis of the climate within which First World War literature was written published and received since 1918 Crossroads in Literature and Culture Jacek Fabiszak, Ewa Urbaniak-Rybicka, Bartosz Wolski, 2012-11-05 The book contains a selection of papers focusing on the idea of crossing boundaries in literary and cultural texts composed in English The authors come from different methodological schools and analyse texts coming from different periods and cultures trying to find common ground the theme of the volume between the apparently generically and temporarily varied works and phenomena In this way a plethora of perspectives is offered perspectives which represent a high standard both in terms of theoretical reflection and in depth analysis of selected texts Consequently the volume is addressed to a wide scope of both scholars and students working in the field of English and American literary and cultural studies furthermore it will be of interest also to students interested in theoretical issues linked with investigations into literature and culture
