Richard Flusser And The After Dinner Opera Company:

Richard Flusser Michael Lydon, 2000 Richard Flusser and the After Dinner Opera Company tells the tale of a little opera company that could An opera lover since childhood Richard Flusser founded the After Dinner Opera Company in 1950 Through the thick and thin of fifty years and always on a shoestring he and his wife Beth with dozens of talented singers have produced hundreds of American comic operas many of them historic debuts in 1956 the ADO became the first American company to take American operas to Europe While coping with backstage crises and two growing kids in their East Village home the Flussers stuck to their dream of bringing American opera to audiences in New York across the country and around the world In doing so they have championed countless composers and librettists including Ned Rorem Seymour Barab and Gertrude Stein The book's appendix listing the seventy seven American operas produced by the ADO gives a measure of the Flusser's lasting contribution to American musical theater A heart warming and humorous book Richard Flusser and the After Dinner Opera Company will make inspiring reading for anyone who knows the joys and pains of life devoted to the creative arts Michael Lydon a writer and musician is the author of Richard Flusser and the After Dinner Opera Company and three other books on American music Rock Folk Boogie Lightning and Ray Charles Man and Music Richard Hall a noted writer on opera wrote the introduction to Richard Flusser and the After Dinner Opera Company His insights into the ADO's half century of achievement and the fun the Flussers have had along the way provide an excellent summary of this informative and enjoyable book From Richard Hall's introduction to Richard Flusser and the After Dinner Opera Company We haven't learned to lose money yet The closest we came was in our 1950 season when we lost 2 50 I guess we'll have to do better than that if we're going to get a subsidy Richard Flusser's black eyes were bright with laughter as he delivered these sentiments Founder producer and director of the After Dinner Opera Company Flusser has built his group into the oldest permanent floating chamber opera group in the country no mean trick for a troupe without a home theater and with a taste for contemporary music The After Dinner Opera owes its success to its style which is both exotic and delicate rather like a banana soufflé and to its material which could be described as modestly madcap The ADO specializes in instant operatic fun in works that are quaintly mythological pseudo folkish cheerfully sexy One critic has described its output as opera of the absurd and the name suits In a single evening the company may bounce through as many as seven short works each zanier than the one before none lasting more than twenty minutes If you think of Harpo Marx in A Night at the Opera swinging through the air on ropes and dropping the wrong sets behind the tenor you'll get some idea of the mayhem involved For all its friskiness however the ADO has serious musical ambitions to provide a testing ground for young composers and help them master their art Therein lies the chief paradox of its existence Are we musical comedy or opera Flusser has lived with the paradox for years and cheerfully admits its insolubility We manage to offend almost everyone he says Encyclopedia of American Opera Ken Wlaschin, 2024-10-16 This encyclopedia lists describes and cross references everything to do with American opera works both operas and operettas composers librettists singers and source authors along with relevant recordings The approximately 1 750 entries range from ballad operas and composers of the 18th century to modern minimalists and video opera artists Each opera entry consists of plot history premiere and cast followed by a chronological listing of recordings movies and videos Marc Blitzstein Leonard Lehrman,2005-09-30 Marc Blitzstein was one of the 20th century s most important American composers lyricists and critics often credited with having virtually invented opera in the American vernacular Called the father of American opera in the vernacular by luminaries Aaron Copland and Leonard Bernstein Blitzstein was a masterful pianist coach and accompanist though ironically he made more money on the lyrics to one song Mack the Knife than on everything else he ever did Blitzstein s brilliant career was cut short in 1964 when he died at the age of 58 This book catalogs Blitzstein s own writings and writings about him followed by detailed listings chronological alphabetical and genre analysis a comprehensive performance history and summaries of all known critiques of his 128 original musical works and 18 texts set to the music of others Shown in detail are the ways in which Blitzstein took music from his earlier works and developed it in later works a process that Lehrman utilized in completing with Bernstein s and the Estate s approval 20 Blitzstein works for performance including The Cradle Will Rock I ve Got the Tune No for an Answer Idiots First and Sacco and Vanzetti which Blitzstein believed would be his magnum opus The book provides a unique and full perspective on the works of one of America s greatest composers one who deserves to be better known Mama Dada Sarah Bay-Cheng,2004-06 Sarah Bay Cheng offers an examination of Gertrude Stein s drama within the history of the theatrical and cinematic avant gardes The Art of the Song Recital Shirlee Emmons,Stanley Sonntag,2001-11-15 Since its original publication the Emmons Sonntag text has continually stood out as the definitive work on the song recital The book presents imaginative advice and practical techniques for producing successful recitals and kindling audience excitement Every aspect of the recital is covered from building programs and the use of acting skills to the relationship between the singer and the accompanist Singers of all levels and backgrounds will benefit from the authors vast experience in the performance of song recitals as a singer accompanist team The comprehensive repertoire lists now organized by voice and instrumentation as well as by composer appeal to both students and professional musicians Readers will agree that the authors have met their goal of providing extensive throughgoing and definitive insights into the attributes that can render the song recital at once a great art and a magnificent entertainment New York Magazine ,1990-04-02 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea From Johnson's Kids to Lemonade Opera Victoria Etnier Villamil,2004 American baritone Lawrence Tibbett created an overnight sensation at the Metropolitan Opera in 1925 when the audience stopped the performance of Falstaff to honor their compatriot for his exceptional talent Tibbett's now legendary curtain call foreshadowed a startling new era for classically trained native singers who rarely received the public recognition or respect given to their European colleagues In this absorbing work Victoria Etnier Villamil chronicles the extraordinary time from 1935 to 1950 when American artists who felt intensely inferior to foreign performers journeyed from being unappreciated in their own country to standing without apology on stages at home and abroad Drawing on exhaustive primary research and extensive interviews Villamil tells the remarkable story of a generation of American opera singers whose profession image and art were forever altered by the upheavals of World War II as well as sweeping cultural and technological changes The author's in depth look at these breakthrough years explores such defining factors as Edward Johnson's drive to Americanize the Met in his first seasons as general manager the impact of the microphone on singers and singing styles and the importance of radio and motion pictures in introducing classical music voices to wider audiences Villamil also considers how travel restrictions imposed on European artists during the war unlocked opportunities for American artists and the role of political and Jewish refugees in enriching music education and training in this country In addition the author discusses thoroughly the founding of the New York City Opera the rise of regional and smaller opera companies including the enterprising and popular Lemonade Opera and advancements for African American classical singers Brimming with entertaining anecdotes and colorful figures both famous and little remembered the fascinating book concludes with an examination of this crucial period's legacy for the American classical music scene in the 1950s and beyond From Johnson's Kids to Lemonade Opera contains an invaluable appendix that provides biographical sketches of the over 250 opera and radio singers as well as art song specialists featured in this illuminating study

New York Magazine, 1990-02-19 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea
