H. Hinsley, Francis Harry Hinsley, 1967-10 In the last years of the nineteenth century peace proposals were first stimulated by fear of the danger of war rather than in consequence of its outbreak In this study of the nature and history of international relations Mr Hinsley presents his conclusions about the causes of war and the development of men s efforts to avoid it In the first part he examines international theories from the end of the middle ages to the establishment of the League of Nations in their historical setting This enables him to show how far modern peace proposals are merely copies or elaborations of earlier schemes He believes there has been a marked reluctance to test these theories not only against the formidable criticisms of men like Rousseau Kant and Bentham but also against what we have learned about the nature of international relations and the history of the practice of states This leads him to the second part of his study an analysis of the origins of the modern states system and of its evolution between the eighteenth century and the First World War The Letters of William Cullen Bryant: 1809-1836 William Cullen Bryant, Thomas G. Voss, 1975 When William Cullen Bryant signed the first of 314 letters in the present volume in 1809 he was a frail and shy farm boy of fourteen who had nonetheless already won some fame as the satirist of Thomas Jefferson When he wrote the last in 1836 he had become the chief poet of his country the editor of its principal liberal newspaper and the friend and collaborator of its leading artists and writers His collected poems previously published at New York Boston and London were going into their third edition His incisive editorials in the New York Evening Post were affecting the decisions of Andrew Jackson s administration His poetic themes were beginning to find expression in the landscape paintings of Robert Weir Asher Durand and Thomas Cole Here in essence is the first volume of the autobiography of one whom Abraham Lincoln remarked after his first visit to New York City in 1860 It was worth the journey to the East merely to see such a man And John Bigelow who of Bryant s many eulogists knew him best said in 1878 of his longtime friend and business partner There was no eminent American upon whom the judgment of his countrymen would be more immediate and unanimous The broad simple outline of his character and career had become universally familiar like a mountain or a sea Slavish Shore Jeffrey L. Amestoy, 2015-08-01 In 1834 Harvard dropout Richard Henry Dana Jr became a common seaman and soon his Two Years Before the Mast became a classic Literary acclaim did not erase the young lawyer s memory of floggings he witnessed aboard ship or undermine his vow to combat injustice Jeffrey Amestoy tells the story of Dana's determination to keep that vow American Paintings: A
