Education for All EFA to be achieved children must be healthy enough not only to attend school but also to learn while there. Because school health and nutrition programs specifically benefit poor sick and hungry children they can make a key contribution to achieving EFA's goals. However children can benefit only if the programs reach them. Rethinking School Health: A Key Component of Education for All describes how schools have been used as a platform for delivering familiar safe and simple health and nutrition interventions to hard to reach children in low income countries. The book's foreword was written jointly by Elizabeth King of the World Bank, Susan Durston of the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) and Qian Tang of the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) indicating the interagency support for this approach. The book will be of particular interest to those working in the fields of education, health and nutrition and early childhood development.

Book Jacket The New School Health Handbook Jerry Newton, Richard Adams, Marilyn Marcontel, 2002-09-18. This fully updated edition spells out what action school personnel should take when faced with specific physical, emotional and behavioral problems. Covering everything from the common cold to trauma, it helps school personnel make decisions that protect student health and prevent litigation.
