The Marriage Contract Lenore J. Weitzman, 1981 The Sexual Contract Carole Pateman, 1988 In this remarkably original work of political philosophy one of today's foremost feminist theorists challenges the way contemporary society functions by questioning the standard interpretation of an idea that is deeply embedded in American and British political thought that our rights and freedoms derive from the social contract explicated by Locke Hobbes and Rousseau and interpreted in the United States by the Founding Fathers The author shows how we are told only half the story of the original contract that establishes modern patriarchy The sexual contract is ignored and thus men's patriarchal right over women is also glossed over No attention is paid to the problems that arise when women are excluded from the original contract but incorporated into the new contractual order One of the main targets of the book is those who try to turn contractarian theory to progressive use and a major thesis of the book is that this is not possible Thus those feminists who have looked to a more proper contract one between genuinely equal partners or one entered into without any coercion are misleading themselves In the author's words In contract theory universal freedom is always a hypothesis a story a political fiction Contract always generates political right in the forms of domination and subordination Thus the book is also aimed at mainstream political theorists and socialist and other critics of contract theory The author offers a sweeping challenge to conventional understandings of both left and right of actual contracts in everyday life the marriage contract the employment contract the prostitution contract and the new surrogate mother contract By bringing a feminist perspective to bear on the contradictions and paradoxes surrounding women and contract and the relation between the sexes she is able to shed new light on fundamental political problems of

freedom and subordination The Marriage Contract Henry Brooke,1996 The Marriage Contract Ruth Ann Nordin,2018-04-21 On her wedding day Patricia Cotter the widowed Lady of Pruett signed a contract agreeing to the following 1 She would never look at her husband s face 2 She would never remove the sheets covering the mirrors 3 She would never ask her husband about his past In return for doing these things she will have a secure place for her unborn child and her worries will be over She has nothing to lose by agreeing to her husband s terms Yes she s heard the rumors about Mr Stephen Bachman He was said to have killed his first wife though there is no proof condemning him of the crime He is aloof and never leaves his manor He is practically a prisoner in his own home But as she gets to know him she begins to believe her husband isn t the beast everyone s made him out to be There just might be a gentleman worth loving beneath his hard exterior The questions is can she get him to let go of the past so he can open himself up to the possibility of a fairytale romance The Marriage Contract Tara Ahmed,2014-09-30 Meet Dorothy Web Twenty two years old and struggling to survive in the big city Ever since she moved to New York to join a theatre program making ends meet has been tough While she works part time as a maid at Hotel Bellevue one of the top five hotels in the world she stumbles upon James Bellevue part time heir and full time jerk Upon their first meeting it s hate at first site for her and a curious fascination for him To make matters worse James offers her a proposal that could make everything in her life a million times easier A marriage proposal James the man who s lived his entire life looking down on the poor has been threatened by his parents to either get married or get cut off James needs a girl that won t cling on to him emotionally or financially and to his luck meets the sweet but feisty Dorothy To James she s perfect Well perfect for his plan anyway If he and Dorothy can stay married for a whole year his dyeing grandfather will put a chunk of the family assets in his name The question is will Dorothy agree to marry James in the hopes of a struggle free life The Marriage Contract Ruth Ann Nordin,2018 On her wedding day Patricia Cotter the widowed Lady of Pruett signed a contract agreeing to the following 1 She would never look at her husband s face 2 She would never remove the sheets covering the mirrors 3 She would never ask her husband about his past In return for doing these things she will have a secure place for her unborn child and her worries will be over She has nothing to lose by agreeing to her husband s terms Yes she s heard the rumors about Mr Stephen Bachman He was said to have killed his first wife though there is no proof condemning him of the crime He is aloof and never leaves his manor He is practically a prisoner in his own home But as she gets to know him she begins to believe her husband isn t the beast everyone s made him out to be There just might be a gentleman worth loving beneath his hard exterior The questions is can she get him to let go of the past so he can open himself up to the possibility of a fairytale romance Cases Decided in the Court of Session, Teind Court, Etc. and House of Lords Scotland. the study of the Old and New Testaments Ancient History the ancient Near East and the history of religion In two volumes leading American Israeli and European specialists in the history literature theology and archaeology of Judaism offer factual answers to the two questions that the study of any religion in ancient times must raise The first is what are the sources written and in material culture that inform us about that religion The second is how have we to understand those sources in reconstructing the history of various Judaic systems in antiquity The chapters set forth in simple statements intelligible to non specialists the facts which the sources provide Because of the nature of the subject and acute interest in it the specialists also raise some questions particular to the study of Judaism dealing with its historical relationship with nascent Christianity

Carole Pateman Terrell Carver, Samuel Chambers, 2013-03 Carole Pateman's writings have been innovatory precisely for their qualities of engagement pursued at the height of intellectual rigour This book draws from her vast output of articles chapters books and speeches to provide a thematic yet integrated account of her innovations in political theory and contributions to the politics of policy making The editors have focused on work in three key areas Democracy Pateman's perspective is rooted in a practical perspective enquiring into and speculating about forms of participation over and above the traditional exclusions through which representative systems have been variously constructed over time Her work pushes hard on theorists and politicians who make easy assumptions about apathy and public opinion who bracket off the workplace and the home and who see politics only in partisan activity voter behaviour and governmental policy Women Pateman's innovatory and still cited work on participation antedates the feminist revolution in political theory and many of the practical struggles that developed through the later 1970s While woman centred her concerns were always worked through larger conceptions of social class economic advantage power differentials liberal individualism and contracts including marriage Her feminism was innovative in political theory and within feminism itself As a feminist Pateman defies categorization and her concepts of the sexual contract and Wollstonecraft's dilemma are canonical. Welfare. Pateman's innovation here is an integration of welfare issues in particular the proposals for a basic income or for a capital stake into her broad but always rigorous conception of democracy. This is argued through in terms of citizenship taken as the result of a social contract. In that way Pateman puts liberalism itself through an imminent critique drawing in the practicalities and risks of life in late capitalist societies. Her theory as always is political taking in neo liberal attacks on welfare states and the stark realities of international inequalities. Pateman's career achievements in democratic and feminist theory are brought productively to bear on debates that would otherwise occur in more limited and less provocative academic and political contexts.

Gender, Law and Material Culture Annette Cremer, 2020-10-26 This interdisciplinary volume discusses the division of the early modern material world into the important legal economic and personal categories of mobile and immobile property possession and the rights to usufruct. The chapters describe and compare different modes of acquisition and intergenerational transfer via law and custom. The varying perspectives including cultural history legal history social and economic history philosophy and law allow for a more nuanced understanding of the links between the movability of an object and the gender of the person who owned possessed or used it. Case studies and examples come from a wide geographical range including Norway England Scotland the Holy Roman Empire Italy Tyrol the Ottoman Empire Greece Romania and the European colonies in Brazil and Jamaica. By covering both urban and rural areas and exploring all social groups from ruling elites to the lower strata of society the chapters offer fresh insight into the division of mobile and immobile property that socially and economically posed disadvantages for women. By exploring a broad scope of topics including landownership marriage contracts slaveholding and the dowry this book is an essential resource for both researchers and students of women's history social and economic history and material culture.
