

But most thro' midnight streets I hear How the youthful Harlots curse Blasts the new-born Infants tear And blights with plagues the Marriage hearse

Curse is symbolic of her life – she feels cursed to suffer

Young prostitutes
are “attacking” (shouting at) new born babies for crying

The existence of a young prostitute (who may have had a child) ruins the concept of marriage

Oxymoron used to mirror marriage with death. The prostitute may have passed on STIs and in doing so ruined (“plagued”) marriages.

Ideology and Utopia in the Poetry of William Blake Nicholas M. Hill,2014-07-03 Constituent and Pattern in Poetry is a collection of essays on literature and language It is built on the assumption that works of literature have existence in the real world and that they may be analyzed in a fashion that is not totally subjective Using models derived from structural linguistics Archibald A Hill presents a number of theoretical contributions to the study of poetry as well as new ways of looking at specific poems The book as a whole provides an overview of the tools and ideas Hill has developed for analyzing works of literature and it is the first time the essays have been gathered together in one volume The book is divided into three sections Definition of Literature and Study of Its Patterns Types of Meaning and Imagery and Principles for Interpreting Meaning Each section opens with a theoretical essay followed by three essays that work analytically with specific poets and poems using the methods defined in the first In his examination of such poets as Hopkins Browning Milton Blake Keats and Dickinson Hill uses such proposals as the law of least lexical contribution and maximal contextual contribution the hypothesis that when possible meanings occur together in a cluster they support each other and the idea that it is sometimes possible to recover underlying language sequences from which the author has departed for identifiable reasons By applying these suppositions to the study of particular poems Hill shows how the reader may arrive at statements about the relative artistic merit of works of literature     Mourning and Panegyric Celeste M. Schenck,2010-11 This work is primarily a genre study aiming both at enlarging the canon of pastoral texts and at theorizing generical development in a comparative context Addressed to a general audience of poetry enthusiasts as well as students of genre theory and specialists in the field the book takes as its examples the twin pastoral genres of funeral elegy and marriage hymns Schenck establishes in her introduction that the strategies she isolates in elegies and epithalamia govern lyric processes more generally that in fact every poem might be an epitaph if it pronounces an elegy upon a former poetic self and announces rebirth of the artist as a poet All poems are genuinely epitaphic in their attempt to record verbally and lastingly the death and implied rebirth of the poet as poet each time he lifts his pen to begin a new poem The specific forms explored in this book elegy and epithalamium serve precisely as model initiatory scenarios Elegies tend to gesture toward the past pronouncing an epitaph upon poetic apprenticeship and recovery voice by means of symbolic burial of a forebear Marriage poems alternatively are future directed celebrating as do elegies passage from virgin to mature state Both forms aim at circumventing mortality by apotheosis and deification in the case of the elegy and by the projection forth of issue at the end of the marriage poem Investigation of the symbolic reciprocity of these seemingly distinct forms yields a surprising range of variant forms extends provocatively Claudio Guillen s theory of genre and counter genre and initiates a poetics of pastoral ceremony that has implications for the general study of lyric modes     York Notes for AQA GCSE (9-1) Rapid Revision: Power & Conflict AQA Poetry Anthology eBook Edition David B.
