Marshlands Prometheus Misbound:

Marshlands, and Prometheus Misbound André Gide, 1953 Marshlands A harassed young writer attempts to produce a novel which will persuade his friends to abandon their directionless lives Prometheus misbound The titan Prometheus accompanied by several legendary ancient Greeks visit modern Paris where they mix in municipal government high finance and cafe society Marshlands, and Prometheus Misbound. Two Satires. Translated by George D. Painter. [Translations of "Paludes" and "Le Prométhée Mal Enchaîné."]. André Gide, 1953 Marshlands Andre Gide, 2021-01-05 A slim but powerful work of metafiction by a Nobel Prize winning French writer and intellectual Andr Gide is the inventor of modern metafiction and of autofiction and his short novel Marshlands shows him handling both forms with a deft and delightful touch The protagonist of Marshlands is a writer who is writing a book called Marshlands which is about a reclusive character who lives all alone in a stone tower The narrator by contrast is anything but a recluse He is an indefatigable social butterfly flitting about the Paris literary world and always talking about what else the wonderful book he is writing Marshlands He tells his friends about the book and they tell him what they think which is not exactly flattering and of course those responses become part of the book in the reader s hand Marshlands is both a poised satire of literary pretension and a superb literary invention and Damion Searls s new translation of this early masterwork by one of the key figures of twentieth century literature brings out all the sparkle of the original Elysian Encounter G. Norman Laidlaw, 1963 This cleverly conceived book relates Denis Diderot and Andre Gide to each other as well as to their separate centuries Using a binocular approach similar to the double spotlight technique of the theater Professor Laidlaw juxtaposes the lives works and philosophies of the two French writers Constant questioning agnosticism to the deathbed and voluminous literary output characterize both Their catholic interests in science in poetry and drama in Russian ways as well as French behavior are similar Laidlaw discusses their common concern with the dilemma of morality and sincerity their fascination with literal or figurative blindness their attitudes toward death their strong sense of paradox and the delight and inspiration they both drew from foolishness "Look At Me and Be Appalled".
