Luther as a Spiritual Adviser Dennis Ngien, 2007-06-01 Most Luther scholars have focused largely on the polemical side of the Reformer with occasional allusion to his Devotional Writings in volumes 42 and 43 of the American editions The aim of this book is to unfold the pastoral not the polemical side of the reformer drawing on the spiritual insights he offers to people of high and low estate These writings are devotional and catechetical in shape and intent yet not devoid of rich theological substance the fruit of his rigorous reflections They are the exercises of Luther's basic calling as a theologian pastor and are the concrete illustrations of the interface of theology and piety the former being the abiding presupposition and logical cause of the latter Through them readers are informed not only of the Reformation theology of justification but also introduced to a distinct expression of the Christian faith in which Christ and his cross occupy the centre stage What is noticeable is the one single overarching theme God's ways with people that the Reformer as a spiritual adviser sought to relate to the events of his days such as evils severe afflictions the prevalent lay abuse of the Eucharist He counseled how to meditate aright on Christ's passion prepare to face the terror of death advise the sick rightly approach the sacrament of the altar why and how to pray aright what benefits could be gained from the Lord's Prayer and how to live out a life of discipleship under the cross Ngien's work reveals Luther as a true theologian i e theologian of the cross at work in the pastoral context

Music in Martin Luther's Theology Yakub E. Kartawidjaja,2021-04-12 The study aims to analyse the impact of Luther's theology on his thoughts about music It limits itself to an analysis of the topic by focusing on the three most important statements of Luther about music in his unfinished treatise On Music The first statement is that music is a gift of God and not of man Dei donum hominum est second music creates joyful soul facit letos animos and third music drives away the devil fugat diabolum The relation between these three statements to each other and to Luther's theology in general can be understood in connection with his personal experiences and commitments to music which were undergirded by his theology Luther as a man of medieval times took for granted the existence of the devil and many of his writings contained frequent references to the personal attacks of the devil where it influenced his thoughts about music

Athens and Wittenberg James A. Kellerman,R. Alden Smith,Carl P.E. Springer,2022-12-05 Scholarship has tended to assume that Luther was uninterested in the Greek and Latin classics given his promotion of the German vernacular and his polemic against the reliance upon Aristotle in theology But as Athens and Wittenberg demonstrates Luther was shaped by the classical education he had received and integrated it into his writings He could quote Epicurean poetry to non Epicurean ends he could employ Aristotelian logic to prove the limits of philosophy s role in theology This volume explores how Luther and early Protestantism especially Lutheranism continued to draw from the classics in their quest to reform the church In particular it examines how early Protestantism made use of the philosophy and poetry from classical antiquity Contributors to this volume Joseph Herl Jane Schatkin Hettrick E J Hutchinson Jack D Kilcrease E Christian Kopf John G Nordling Piergiacomo Petrioli Eric G Phillips Richard J Serina Jr R Alden Smith Carl P E Springer Manfred Svensson William P Weaver and Daniel Zager
