Paul Robinson

Nutritional Disorders And Community Health:

Nutritional Disorders of Children Samuel J. Fomon, 1976 Community Treatment of Eating Disorders Paul Robinson, 2006-05-01 The book is intended as a practical guide to setting up staffing and running eating disorders services. The guidance and advice given is based on the experience of the eating disorder service at the Royal Free which does not have specialised beds but which is nevertheless considered to offer one of the best services in the UK. Each element of the service will be considered from referral, inpatient and outpatient treatment, service evaluation and multi-disciplinary teamworking. The book also discusses innovative approaches in treatment including an evaluation of Email Bulimia Therapy. Ties in with NICE guidelines which highlight the need for local services for treating eating disorders. Offers practical guidance on setting up a community model of treatment and on working within a multi-disciplinary team. Based on the Royal Free experience, their Eating Disorders Service has twice been a finalist in the Hospital Doctor Team of the Year awards.

Women's Health in an Interdisciplinary Dimension - Determinants of Nutritional Disorders Karolina Krupa-Kotara, Patxi León Guereño, Izabella Uchmanowicz, Michał Czapla, 2024-10-10 The increase in the prevalence of diet-related diseases in the female population since the second half of the 20th century is likely the result of increasing life expectancy combined with increased exposure to environmental factors including lifestyle. To date, the exact mechanism for the development of many nutrition-related diseases remains unknown. Mainly because of the multifactorial etiology. It is often forgotten that human biology and pathophysiology are regulated at the level of gene expression. Genetics loads the gun but the environment pulls the trigger. By Judith Stern illustrates the complex relationship between diseases and environmental factors. The analogy accurately conveys that disease phenotypes are not only the result of interactions between different genes but also between genes and environmental determinants.
