Sensitive Periods in Development M. H. Bornstein, 2014-02-24 First published in 1987

Contemporary psychology is increasingly diversified pluralistic and specialized and most psychologists venture beyond the confines of their substantive specialty only rarely Yet psychologists with different specialties encounter similar problems ask similar questions and share similar concerns Unfortunately there are very few arenas available for the expression or exploration of what is common across psychological subdisciplines The Crosscurrents in Contemporary Psychology series is intended to serve as such a forum The chief aim of this series is to provide integrated perspectives on supradisciplinary themes in psychology Despite its contemporary diversity and high degree of specialization psychology embraces many phenomena that are of interest across subdisciplines largely because of the generality and ubiquity of those phenomena The sensitive period is one Sensitivity to different kinds of experience varies over the life cycle of an organism The Clinical

Management of Nicotine Dependence James A. Cocores, 2012-12-06 The 1980s have seen a remarkable degree of public and professional acceptance of cigarette smoking as the most widespread and devastating form of drug dependence More medical schools now give required courses about drug dependence Prestigious journals publish reports of investigations on the subject of nicotine dependence and more conferences and workshops are held each year on various aspects of nicotine dependence All this is in sharp contrast to the earlier prevailing atmosphere of disinterest ignorance or professional disdain These changes created an obvious place for a textbook oriented primarily toward the needs of clinicians working with patients who have nicotine dependence Thus in preparation of this book most aspects of the management of nicotine dependence are incorporated in order to address concerns of physicians in training and other health care professionals across the world The final product which I believe to be comprehensive and clinically relevant throughout is a text that I hope will be of equal use to psychologists social workers nurses counselors and physicians in all specialties An encyclopedic treatise was deliberately avoided because that approach can be cumbersome in size readability and cost and for that reason readers will find little mention of data involving animal research nicotine related politics nicotine product advertising medical consequences of smoking psychotherapeutic techniques and the extent of the problem Facing the Truth of

Hardy,2025-05-06 Transform your clinical practice by transforming yourself Claims of color blindness and the insistence that all clients are essentially the same have contributed to a dearth of knowledge and understanding regarding the delivery of racially sensitive treatment For many clinicians addressing issues of race in therapy mirrors the same discomfort that permeates most of our efforts to discuss it outside of treatment Yet providing racially sensitive therapy as well as possessing the clinical acumen to address complex issues of race and culture is vital to competent contemporary practice The volume is organized into three fundamental sections with contributions from mental health experts who have done the work to unlearn systemic biases about race and therapy The first section introduces the concept of a racially sensitive therapist and what it means to become one The second section focuses on cultural and racial storytelling to help uncover unknown parts of oneself and emphasizes racial self examination self interrogation and personal transformation And the final section transports the reader from seeing and being to doing with racially informed intervention methods A monumental undertaking this book is an essential step for healers and caregivers to reframe the therapy process for all clients Contributors include Lane Arye Vanessa Bing Toby Bobes Bonnie Cushing Elana Katz Niketa Kumar Sharon RC Lee Gloria Lopez Henriquez Yasmeen Rubidge and Virginia Seewaldt Mapping Function-parallel Programs with the Prep-P Automatic Mapping Preprocessor
