Quartier Mozart:

African Film and Literature Lindiwe Dovey, 2009 Analyzing a range of South African and West African films inspired by African and non African literature Lindiwe Dovey identifies a specific trend in contemporary African filmmaking one in which filmmakers are using the embodied audiovisual medium of film to offer a critique of physical and psychological violence Against a detailed history of the medium's savage introduction and exploitation by colonial powers in two very different African contexts Dovey examines the complex ways in which African filmmakers are preserving mediating and critiquing their own cultures while seeking a united vision of the future More than merely representing socio cultural realities in Africa these films engage with issues of colonialism and postcolonialism updating both the history and the literature they adapt to address contemporary audiences in Africa and elsewhere Through this deliberate and radical re historicization of texts and realities Dovey argues that African filmmakers have developed a method of filmmaking that is altogether distinct from European and American forms of adaptation

Postcolonial African cinema

David Murphy, Patrick Williams, 2019-01-04 This is the first introduction of its kind to an important cross section of postcolonial African filmmakers from the 1950s to the present Building on previous critical work in the field this volume will bring together ideas from a range of disciplines film studies African cultural studies and in particular postcolonial studies in order to combine the in depth analysis of individual films and bodies of work by individual directors with a sustained interrogation of these films in relation to important theoretical concepts Structurally the book is straightforward though the aim is to incorporate diversity and complexity of approach within the overall simplicity of format Chapters provide both an overview of the director's output to date and the necessary background personal or national cultural or political to enable readers to achieve a better understanding of the director's choice of subject matter aesthetic or formal strategies or ideological stance They also offer a particular reading of one or more films in which the authors aim to situate African cinema in relation to important critical and theoretical debates This book thus constitutes a new departure in African film studies recognising the maturity of the field and the need for complex yet accessible approaches to it which move beyond the purely descriptive while refusing to get bogged down in theoretical jargon Consequently the volume should be of interest not only to specialists but also to the general reader Men in African Film & Fiction Lahoucine Ouzgane, 2011 Fills a gap in the international literature by offering new insights into the heterogeneous ways in which African men are performing negotiating and experiencing masculinity Through their analysis of the depictions in film and literature of masculinities in colonial independent and post independent Africa the contributors open some key African texts to a more obviously politicized set of meanings Collectively the essays provide space for rethinking current theory on gender and masculinity how only some of the most popular theories in masculinity studies in the West hold true in African contexts how Western masculinities react with indigenous masculinities on the continent how masculinity and femininity in Africa seem to reside more on a continuum of cultural practices than on absolutely opposite planes and how generation often functions as a more potent metaphor than gender Lahoucine Ouzgane is Associate Professor of English Film Studies University of Alberta Canada

Indiscretions, 2015-06-29 In the West once apparently progressive causes such as sexual equality and lesbian and gay emancipation are increasingly redeployed in order to discipline and ostracize immigrant underclass subjects primarily Muslims Gender and sexuality on the one hand and race culture and or ethnicity on the other are more and more forced into separate mutually exclusive realms That development cannot but bear on the establishment of queer and postcolonial studies as separate academic specializations among whom relations usually are as cordial as they are indifferent This volume inquires into the possibilities and limitations of a parceling out of objects alternative to the common scheme crude but often apposite in which Western sexual subjectivity is analyzed and criticized by queer theory while postcolonial studies takes care of non Western racial subjectivity Sex race always already distinguished yet never quite apart Roderick A Ferguson has described liberal pluralism as an ideology of discreteness in that it disavows race gender and sexuality's mutually formative role in political social and economic relations It is in that spirit that this volume advocates the discreet hence judicious and circumspect reconsideration of the in discrete realities of race and sex Contributors Jeffrey Geiger Merrill Cole Jonathan Mitchell and Michael O'Rourke Jaap Kooijman Beth Kramer Maaïke Bleeker Rebecca Fine Romanow Anik Imre Lindsey Green Simms Nishant Shahani Ryan D Fong and Murat Aydemir Postcolonial Automobility Lindsey B.

Green-Simms, 2017-10-24 For more than a century cars have symbolized autonomous unfettered mobility and an increasingly global experience And yet they are often used differently outside the centers of global capitalism This pioneering book considers how through the lens of the automobile we can assess the pleasures dangers and limits of global modernity in West Africa Through new and provocative readings of famous plays novels and films as well as recent popular videos Postcolonial Automobility reveals the surprising ways in which automobility in the region is at once an everyday practice an ethos a fantasy of autonomy and an affective activity intimately tied to modern social life Lindsey B Green Simms begins with the history of motorization in West Africa from the colonial era to the decolonizing decades after World War II and addresses the tragedy of car accidents through a close reading of Wole Soyinka's 1965 postindependence play The Road Shifting to screen media she discusses Ousmane Sembene's Xala and Jean Pierre Bekolo's Quartier Mozart and reviews popular low budget Nollywood films Finally Green Simms considers how feminist texts rewrite and work in dialogue with the male centered films and novels where the car stands in for patriarchal power and capitalist achievement Providing a unique perspective on technology in Africa one refusing to be confined to narratives of either underdevelopment or inevitable progress and covering a broad range of interdisciplinary material Postcolonial Automobility will appeal not only to scholars and students of African literature and cinema but also to those in postcolonial and globalization studies

The Palgrave Handbook of Literature and the City Jeremy Tambling, 2017-02-17 This book is about the impact of literature upon cities world wide and cities upon literature It examines why the city matters so much to contemporary critical theory and why it has inspired so many forms of writing which have attempted to deal with its challenges to think about it and to represent it Gathering together 40 contributors who look at different modes of writing and film making in throughout the world this handbook asks how the modern city has engendered so much theoretical consideration and looks at cities and their literature from China to Peru from New York to Paris from London to Kinshasa It looks at some of the ways in which modern cities whether capitals shanty towns industrial or rust belt have forced themselves on people s ways of thinking and writing

Critical Approaches to African Cinema Discourse Nwachukwu Frank Ukadike, 2014-02-27 Critical Approaches to African Cinema Discourse utilizes an interdisciplinary approach to lay bare the diversity and essence of African cinema discourse It is an anthology of historical reflections critical essays and interviews by film critics historians theorists and filmmakers that signifies a dialogue and engagement apropos the ideology and cultural politics of film production in Africa The contributors are extremely concerned not only with the history of African cinema but with its future and its potential This book then is not limited to the expansion of the discourse on African cinema but tries to approach the definition of the critical canon within the exigencies and manifestations of art and African sociopolitical practices The authors view these practices as an investment in a cultural imperative stemming from the quest to delineate how critical methodologies are derived from and shape contemporary historical and cultural practices Hence the contributions are less about the usual constrictive method of analysis and more about illustrating manifestations of an interrogative critical methodology that is certainly an offspring of an indigenous African critical cum cinematic culture and paradigms Trash Kenneth W. Harrow, 2013-04-09 An engaging study of trash as a metaphor in contemporary African cinema African Studies Review Highlighting what is melodramatic flashy low and gritty in the characters images and plots of African cinema Kenneth W Harrow uses trash as the unlikely metaphor to show how these films have depicted the globalized world Rather than focusing on topics such as national liberation and postcolonialism he employs the disruptive notion of trash to propose a destabilizing aesthetics of African cinema Harrow argues that the spread of commodity capitalism has bred a culture of materiality and waste that now pervades African film He posits that a view from below permits a way to understand the tropes of trash present in African cinematic imagery African Cinema: Manifesto and Practice for Cultural Decolonization Michael T. Martin, Gaston Jean-Marie Kaboré, 2023-08-08 Challenging established views and assumptions about traditions and practices of filmmaking in the African diaspora this three volume set offers readers a researched critique on black film Volume One of this landmark series on African cinema draws together foundational scholarship on its history and evolution Beginning with the ideological project of colonial film to legitimize the economic exploitation and cultural hegemony of the African continent during imperial rule to its counter historical formation and theorization It comprises essays by film scholars and filmmakers alike among them Roy Armes Med Hondo Frid Boughedir Haile Gerima Oliver Barlet Teshome Gabriel and David Murphy including three distinct dossiers a timeline of key dates in the history of African cinema a comprehensive chronicle and account of the contributions by African women in cinema and a homage and overview of Ousmane Semb ne the Father of African cinema Postcolonial Artists and Global Aesthetics Akinwumi Adesokan, 2011-10-21 What happens when social and political processes such as globalization shape cultural production Drawing on a range of writers and filmmakers from Africa and elsewhere Akin Adesokan explores the forces at work in the production and circulation of culture in a globalized world He tackles problems such as artistic representation in the era of decolonization the uneven development of aesthetics across the world and the impact of location and commodity culture on genres with a distinctive approach that exposes the global processes transforming cultural forms Africa Shoots Back Melissa Thackway, 2003 Filmmakers in sub Saharan francophone Africa have been using cinema since independence in the 1960s to challenge Western stereotypes This text shows how directors have produced alternatives focusing on issues of memory and history
