Boettiger,1920 Armenian Legends and Festivals (Classic Reprint) Louis A. Boettiger,2015-06-30 Excerpt from Armenian Legends and Festivals The author of the study which follows responded to the lure of his task for both theoretical and practical reasons He seemed because of his intimate personal relationship to Armenian life to be peculiarly qualified to study and interpret a cross section of that country s life It is particularly urgent that we as Americans have authentic studies of Armenia and Armenian social life Heretofore there has been a striking lack of such materials readily accessible in English Because of the not inconsiderable immigration which reaches us from Armenia and because also there has been a call for the United States to act as mandatory for this country under the peace treaty we should penetrate more deeply into the Armenian heart than we have been able to do so far if we are to carry through successfully our job either as assimilator or as friendly guardian Moreover there is incumbent upon the United States in particular the duty of understanding a country like Armenia since we have been foremost in proclaiming the doctrine of the rights of small nationalities Those are the practical purposes from the standpoint of social politics which have given rise to and confer full warrant upon this study Of no less importance however is the contribution which Mr Boettiger s study makes to theoretical sociology He has sketched out for us the picture of a refractory culture which refuses to amalgamate with or yield to or be permeated by rival cultures The social history of this sturdy people offers us a very clear cut example of what really makes a society or a nation Not mountains not dynasties not blood but common interests common traditions common beliefs in short mental community The theoretical joins with the practical service of this study if it can strengthen our understanding that only as our own blood and that of our Armenian friends reach the place where they boil at the same temperature or are cooled by the same application of reason can we minister to each other or carry out the new partnership which may lie immediately ahead of us in the reestablishment of peace and reorganization of world comity About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Armenian Legends and Festivals Louis a Boettiger,2016-05-12 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Armenian [mythology] Mardiros Harootioon Ananikian,Alice Werner,1925 Armenian Mythology Mardiros H. Ananikian,2020-01-07 Armenian mythology was strongly influenced by Zoroastrianism with deities such as Aramazd Mihr or Anahit as well as Assyrian traditions such as Barsamin but there are fragmentary traces of native traditions such as Hayk or Vahagn and Astghik According to De Morgan there are signs which indicate that the Armenians were initially nature worshipers and that this faith in time was transformed to the worship of national gods of which many were the equivalents of the gods in the Roman Greek and Persian cultures Georg Brandes described the Armenian gods in his book When Armenia accepted Christianity it was not only the temples which were destroyed but also the songs and poems about the old gods and heroes that the people sang We have only rare segments of these songs and poems segments which bear witness of a great spiritual wealth and the power of creation of this people and these alone are sufficient reason enough for recreating the temples of the old Armenian gods These gods were neither the Asian heavenly demons nor the precious and the delicate Greek gods but something that reflected the characteristics of the Armenian people which they have been polishing through the ages namely ambitious wise and good hearted Armenian Mythology. [With Plates.] Mardiros H. Ananikian,1925
