Self and Substance in Leibniz Marc Elliott Bobro,2006-01-16 There is a close connection in Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz s mind between the notions of self and substance R W Meyer in his classic 1948 text Leibnitz and the Seventeenth Century Revolution writes that the monad is nothing but a 1 repr sentation in both senses of the French word of Leibniz s personality in metaphysical symbols and there was under contemporary circumstances no need 2 to introduce this concept apart from propounding it It is not clear what Meyer means here except that from the consideration of his own self in some way Leibniz comes to his concept of simple substance or monad Herbert Carr in an even earlier work notes that Leibniz held that the only real unities in nature are formal not material and f or a long time Leibniz was content to call the formal unities or substantial forms he was speaking about souls This had the advantage that it referred at once to the fact of experience which supplies the very 3 type of a substantial form the self or ego Finally Nicholas Rescher in his usual forthright manner states that i n all of Leibniz s expositions of his philosophy 4 the human person is the paradigm of a substance
