Continental Philosophy and the Palestinian Question Zahi Zalloua, 2017-02-23 From Sartre to Levinas continental philosophers have looked to the example of the Jew as the paradigmatic object of and model for ethical inquiry Levinas for example powerfully dedicates his 1974 book Otherwise than Being to the victims of the Holocaust and turns attention to the state of philosophy after Auschwitz Such an ethics radically challenges prior notions of autonomy and comprehension two key ideas for traditional ethical theory and more generally the Greek tradition It seeks to respect the opacity of the other and avoid the dangers of hermeneutic violence But how does such an ethics of the other translate into real everyday life What is at stake in thinking the other as Jew Is the alterity of the Jew simply a counter to Greek universalism Is a rhetoric of exceptionalism with its unavoidable ontological residue at odds with shifting political realities Within this paradigm what then becomes of the Arab or Muslim the other of the Jew the other of the other so to speak This line of ethical thought in its desire to bear witness to past suffering and come to terms with subjectivity after Auschwitz arguably brackets from analysis present operations of power Would then a more sensitive historical approach expose the Palestinian as the other of the Israeli Here Zahi Zalloua offers a challenging intervention into how we configure the contemporary

Giving Beyond the Gift Elliot R. Wolfson, 2014-02-03 This book explores the co dependency of monotheism and idolatry by examining the thought of several prominent twentieth century Jewish philosophers Cohen Buber Rosenzweig and Levinas While all of these thinkers were keenly aware of the pitfalls of scriptural theism to differing degrees they each succumbed to the temptation to personify transcendence even as they tried either to circumvent or to restrain it by apophatically purging kataphatic descriptions of the deity Derrida and Wyschogrod by contrast carried the project of denegation one step further embarking on a path that culminated in the aporetic suspension of belief and the consequent removal of all images from God a move that seriously compromises the viability of devotional piety The inquiry into apophasis transcendence and immanence in these Jewish thinkers is symptomatic of a larger question Recent attempts to harness the apophatic tradition to construct a viable postmodern negative theology a religion without religion are not radical enough Not only are these philosophies of transcendence guilty of a turn to theology that defies the phenomenological presupposition of an immanent phenomenality but they fall short on their own terms inasmuch as they persist in employing metaphorical language that personalizes transcendence and thereby runs the risk of undermining the irreducible alterity and invisibility attributed to the transcendent other The logic of apophasis if permitted to run its course fully would exceed the need to posit some form of transcendence that is not ultimately a facet of immanence Apophatic theologies accordingly must be supplanted by a more far reaching apophasis that surpasses the theolatrous impulse lying coiled at the crux of theism an apophasis of apophasis based on accepting an absolute nothingness to be distinguished from the nothingness of an absolute that does not signify the unknowable One but rather the manifold that is the pleromatic abyss at being s core Hence the much celebrated metaphor of the gift must give way to the more neutral and less theologically charged notion of an unconditional givenness in which the distinction between giver and given collapses To think givenness in its most elemental phenomenological sense is to allow the apparent to appear as given without presuming a causal agency that would turn that given into a gift      Love's Transcendence and the Problem of Theodicy Claudia Welz, 2008 Claudia Welz explores responses to the problem of evil that do not end up in a theodicy Kierkegaard's and Rosenzweig's reasons for having no reason to defend God and their ethics of love are discussed in the context of German idealism and French phenomenology BOOK JACKET      Learning to Live Finally Jacques Derrida, Jean Birnbaum, 2010-12-06 With death looming Jacques Derrida the world's most famous philosopher known as the father of deconstruction sat down with journalist Jean Birnbaum of the French daily Le Monde They revisited his life's work and his impending death in a long surprisingly accessible and moving final interview Sometimes called obscure and branded abstruse by his critics the Derrida found in this book is open and engaging reflecting on a long career challenging important tenets of European philosophy from Plato to Marx The contemporary meaning of Derrida's work is also examined including a discussion of his many political activities But as Derrida says To philosophize is to learn to die as such this philosophical discussion turns to the realities of his imminent death including life with a fatal cancer In the end this interview remains a touching final look at a long and distinguished career From the Trade Paperback edition      The New American Judaism Jack Wertheimer, 2020-03-31 Winner of the National Jewish Book Award in American Jewish Studies an engaging firsthand portrait of American Judaism today American Judaism has been buffeted by massive social upheavals in recent decades Like other religions in the United States it has witnessed a decline in the number of participants over the past forty years and many who remain active struggle to reconcile their hallowed traditions with new perspectives from feminism and the LGBTQ movement to do it yourself religion and personally defined spirituality Taking a fresh look at American Judaism today Jack Wertheimer a leading authority on the subject sets out to discover how Jews of various orientations practice their religion in this radically altered landscape Which observances still resonate and which ones have been given new meaning What options are available for seekers or those dissatisfied with conventional forms of Judaism And how are synagogues responding Offering new and often surprising answers to these questions Wertheimer reveals an American Jewish landscape that combines rash disruption and creative reinvention religious illiteracy and dynamic experimentation      Arendt, Levinas and a Politics of Relationality Anya Topolski, 2015-05-21 Born in Eastern Europe educated in the West under the guidance of Martin Heidegger and the phenomenological tradition and forced to flee during the Holocaust because of their Jewish identity it should come as no surprise that Emmanuel Levinas and Hannah Arendt's ideas intersect in an important way This book demonstrates for the first time the significance of a dialogue between Levinas' ethics of alterity and Arendt's politics of plurality Anya Topolski brings their respective projects into dialogue by means of the notion of relationality a concept inspired by the Judaic tradition that is prominent in both thinker's work The book explores questions relating to the relationship between ethics and politics the Judaic contribution to rethinking the meaning of the political after the Shoah and the role of relationality and responsibility for politics The result is an alternative conception of the political based on the ideas of plurality and alterity that aims to be relational inclusive and empowering
