The Journal of the Assembly, During the ... Session of the Legislature of the State of California California. Legislature. Assembly, 1901 On the National Question VI Lenin, 2025-01-28 Tsarist Russia was a prison house of nations A majority of the population belonged to national groups oppressed by the tsarist regime which suppressed their languages their religions and their cultures The national question was therefore crucial from the point of view of the workers movement It could only be solved with a revolutionary programme This was a complex question which required firmness in principle and extraordinary flexibility in tactics in combining two different aspects the unity of the working class in one party cutting across national barriers in the common struggle against autocracy and the defence of right of nations of to self determination including their right to form an independent country if they so wished Lenin s ideas and method shine as a remarkable example of this approach The struggle with the Jewish Workers Union the Bund and the polemic with the Polish Social Democrats clarified the revolutionary perspective on the national question Once in power Lenin and the Bolsheviks carried out their programme in practice in the extremely difficult conditions of the civil war and foreign military intervention It was precisely the national question which formed the battleground for Lenin s last struggle against the rising bureaucracy and its heavy handed Great Russian chauvinist approach The national question once again is coming to the fore in this epoch of crisis and instability Lenin s patience and his method of putting forward a class perspective on this question is a rich tradition for communists to learn from today Resolutions and Recommendations Adopted by the Assembly During Its ... Session League of Nations. This original study examines the extent to which international labour issues have become issue of concern within the European Union the ILO the OECD Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development and the WTO World Trade Organization Parliamentary Debates ,1882 The EU's Approach to Human Rights Conditionality in Practice Elena Fierro,2021-10-18 Human rights in the external relations of the EU may manifest itself in different manners one of them is the conditionality policy that the EU applies to third countries This study intends to explore the modalities of this conditionality policy as well as its nature and reach It also analyzes how the policy could be improved and be made more coherent and effective The point of departure is the division made between two modes of conditionality ex ante and ex post In the first case the EU issues conditions which must be fulfilled before the negotiation or conclusion of a given agreement or an action with a view to strengthening the relations The second case conditionality ex post is when conditions are already part of an agreement or an established relation The so called human rights clause or democratic clause incarnates the second modality This study explores both types of conditionality but puts a special emphasis on the second given its legal nature its reciprocity and its systematic inclusion in all framework agreements It is argued here that this clause could represent the basis of a fully fledged human rights policy of EU At present however the implementation of the clause has been fragmentary The interpretation that has prevailed the human rights clause being a mechanism of exclusively punitive nature has constituted an obstacle for its implementation In addition the clause has been activated only as a response to breaches of democratic principles and not human rights in the ACP countries and not other regions The human rights clause has been the victim of the sectorial approaches where policy choices were determined by the instrument at issue It is about time for the EU to revisit the interpretation of the clause in order to make of it a dynamic instrument integrated in a global and coherent external human rights policy Journal of the American Asiatic Association ,1908
