Practical Journalism Edwin Llewellyn Shuman, 1903. Works consulted p. 255. Zapruder Øyvind Vågnes, 2012-08-24. Winner Peter C. Rollins Book Award 2012. As the fiftieth anniversary of the Kennedy assassination approaches, the traumatic aspects of the tragedy continue to haunt our perceptions of the 1960s. One reason for this lies in the home movie of the incident, filmed by Abraham Zapruder, a bystander who became one of the twentieth century's most important accidental documentarians. The first book devoted exclusively to the topic, Zapruder traces the journey of the film and its effect on the world's collective imagination. Providing insightful perspective as an observer of American culture, Norwegian media studies scholar Øyvind Vågnes begins by analyzing three narratives that are projections of Zapruder's images: performance group Ant Farm's video The Eternal Frame, Don DeLillo's novel Underworld, and an episode from Seinfeld. Subsequent topics he investigates include Dealey Plaza's Sixth Floor Museum, Zoran Naskovski's installation Death in Dallas, assassin video games, and other artifacts of the ways in which the footage has made a lasting impact on popular culture and the historical imagination. Vågnes also explores the role of other accidental documentarians, such as those who captured scenes of 9/11. Zapruder's footage has never yielded a conclusive account of what happened in Dealey Plaza. Zapruder thoroughly examines both this historical enigma and its indelible afterimages in our collective imagination.

Authorship in Comics Journalism Laura Schlichting, 2021-08-09. What is Comics Journalism and Why is the author not dead at all? Because literature and journalism deal differently with authorship, and authorship this work renegotiates these concepts. It analyzes the author's importance in comics journalism, especially concerning the verification and authentication of the production process. This study gives a broad and extensive overview of the various forms of contemporary comics journalism and argues that authorship in comics journalism can only be adequately understood by considering the author both on the textual and extratextual level. By combining comics analyses with cultural, sociological, and literary studies approaches, this study introduces the comics journalistic pact, which is an invisible agreement between author and reader addressing issues of narration, voice, testimony, face, and journalistic engagement. It categorizes comics journalism as a borderline genre between literature, culture, art, and journalism due to its interdisciplinary nature.

Literary Journalism in the Twentieth Century Norman Sims, 2008-11-04 This wide ranging collection of critical essays on literary journalism addresses the shifting border between fiction and non fiction literature and journalism Literary Journalism in the Twentieth Century addresses general and historical issues explores questions of authorial intent and the status of the territory between literature and journalism and offers a case study of Mary McCarthy's 1953 piece Artists in Uniform a classic of literary journalism Sims offers a thought provoking study of the nature of perception and the truth as well as issues facing journalism today What is Journalism? Chris Nash, 2016-09-21 This book argues that journalism should treat itself as an academic discipline on a par with history geography and sociology and as an art form in its own right Time space social relations and imagination are intrinsic to journalism Chris Nash takes the major flaws attributed to journalism by its critics a crude empiricism driven by an un reflexive news sense a narrow focus on a de contextualised transient present and a too intimate familiarity with powerful sources and treats them as methodological challenges Drawing on the conceptual frameworks of Pierre Bourdieu David Harvey Henri Lefebvre Michel Rolph Trouillot and Gaye Tuchman he explores the ways in which rigorous journalism practice can be theorised to meet these challenges The argument proceeds through detailed case studies of work by two leading iconoclasts the artist Hans Haacke and the 20th century journalist I F

Stone This deeply provocative and original study concludes that the academic understanding of journalism is fifty years behind its practice and that it is long past time for scholars and practitioners to think about journalism as a disciplinary research practice Drawing on an award winning professional career and over three decades teaching journalism practice and theory Chris Nash makes these ideas accessible to a broad readership among scholars graduate students and thoughtful journalists looking for ways to expand the intellectual range of their work Journalism To-day Arthur F.
