Imagining Jesus Christ in Middle English Literature, 1275-1475

Theresa Tinkle, 2024-09-16 This book interprets Jesus Christ as a complicated disunified literary character in Middle English literature where he appears variously as king traitor victorious conqueror sacrificial lamb heroic knight lover and spouse often as several contradictory figures in a single work These tropes derive from Scripture doctrines about Christ s two natures and theories of redemption This book examines the full range of representations in Southern Passion Northern Passion Pepysian Gospel Harmony Stanzaic Life of Christ Cursor Mundi Nicholas Love s Mirror of the Blessed Life of Jesus Christ Sir John Mandeville s Book the York Play and Julian of Norwich s Revelation of Love Although Christ s two natures are well represented in existing scholarship many traditions have been overlooked including commonplace treatments of Christ as both a traitor and king conqueror and sacrificial lamb hero and lover As writers call upon audiences to feel compassion for Jesus s suffering they almost universally express antipathy toward his Jewish torturers complicating our ideas about affective piety In these works the Virgin Mary is less exemplary for her compassion than for her understanding of doctrine In short this book offers new perspectives on vernacular Christology between about 1275 and 1475 Theresa Tinkle is a Professor within the Department of English Language and Literature at the University of Michigan USA as well as Director of the Gayle Morris Sweetland Center for Writing Previous publications include Medieval Venuses and Cupids Sexuality and Hermeneutics in English Poetry 1996 and Gender and Power in Medieval Exegesis Palgrave 2010 Theresa s academic training and publications include the study of medieval English and Latin literature the medieval reception of the Bible gender and sexuality studies paleography and manuscript studies composition and pedagogy and disability studies

Classen, 2007-03-19 The chastity belt is one of those of its creators and spectators objects people have commonly identified with the dark Middle Ages This book analyzes the origin of this myth and demonstrates how a convenient misconception or contorted imagination of an allegedly historical practice has led to profoundly flawed interpretations of control mechanisms used by jealous husbands The Literary Subversions of Medieval Women Jane Chance, 2007-08-06 This study of medieval women as postcolonial writers defines the literary strategies of subversion by which they authorized their alterity within the dominant tradition To dismantle a colonizing culture they made public the private feminine space allocated by gender difference they constructed unhomely spaces They inverted gender roles of characters to valorize the female they created alternate idealized feminist societies and cultures or utopias through fantasy and they legitimized female triviality the homely female space to provide autonomy While these methodologies often overlapped in practice they illustrate how cultures impinge on languages to create what Deleuze and Guattari have identified as a minor literature specifically for women as dis placed Women writers discussed include Hrotsvit of Gandersheim Hildegard of Bingen Marie de France Marquerite Porete Catherine of Siena Margery Kempe Julian of Norwich and Christine de Pizan Julian of Norwich's Legacy S. Blurton, 2016-09-23 This book reads the surprisingly widespread representations of cannibals and cannibalism in medieval English literature as political metaphors that were central to England's on going process of articulating cultural and national identity Odd Bodies and Visible Ends in Medieval Literature S. Shimomura, 2016-04-30 This study traces how medieval audiences judge bodies from Doomsday visions to beauty contests Employing cultural and formalist approaches this study breaks new ground on the historical obsession about ends and changes reflected in different genres spanning several hundred years Race, Class, and Gender in "Medieval" Cinema L. Ramey, T. Pugh, 2007-02-19 The medieval film genre is not in general concerned with constructing a historically accurate past but much analysis nonetheless centers on highlighting anachronisms This book aims to help scholars and aficionados of medieval film think about how the re creation of an often mythical past performs important cultural work for modern directors and viewers The essays in this collection demonstrate that directors intentionally insert modern preoccupations into a setting that would normally be considered incompatible with these concepts The Middle Ages provide an imaginary space far enough removed from the present day to explore modern preoccupations with human identity
