Andrews, 2007-02-08 The press called Martin s actions a crime spree Already convicted of armed robbery Martin was facing the death penalty In less than two weeks the jury would decide his fate Terrified that his son would be sentenced to die Phillip did the only thing he felt he could do in an act of faith and desperation in his garage with the car exhaust running Phillip made the consummate sacrifice to spare his son the ultimate punishment Ironically his suicide presented Martin s with another chance at life the jury moved by Martin s loss spared his life Phillip s story like those of the other parents siblings children and cousins chronicled in this book vividly illustrates the precarious position family members of capital offenders occupy in the criminal justice system At once outsiders and victims they live in the shadow of death crushed by trauma grief and helplessness In this penetrating account of guilt and innocence shame and triumph devastating loss and ultimate redemption the voices of these family members add a new dimension to debates about capital punishment and how communities can prevent and address crime Restorative justice theory which views violent crime as an extreme violation of relationships searches for ways to hold offenders accountable and meets the needs of victims and communities torn apart by
