Entrepreneurial Wage Dynamics in the Knowledge Economy Adam K. Korobow, 2012-12-06 The role that small firms and entrepreneurship play in economic development has been particularly contentious Joseph Schumpeter 1911 in his early work argued that through a process of creative destruction small and new firms would serve as agents of change and a catalyst for innovation and growth But he later rescinded this view instead concluding that large corporations were the engines of growth Just as it seemed that a consensus had emerged among scholars and policy makers that small business was at best superfluous and at worst a drag on growth and economic development David Birch provided evidence that in fact small firms were the engines of job creation The early skepticism of challenge to Birch's findings revolved around methodology and measurement However a wave of subsequent studies by different authors spanning different time periods sectors and even countries generally confirmed Birch's original findings for most developed countries and in most time periods small business has provided most of the job creation

Taxes and Unemployment Laszlo Goerke,2012-12-06 This chapter has set out in detail the models which are employed below in order to analyse the labour market effects of changes in tax rates and in alterations in the tax structure The fundamental mechanisms underlying the different approaches have been pointed out Moreover vital assumptions have been emphasised By delineating the models which are used for the subsequent analyses implicitly statements have also been made about topics or aspects which this study does not cover For example all workers and firms are identical ex ante However ex post differences are allowed for inter alia if unemployment occurs or if some firms have to close down These restrictions indicate areas of future research insofar as that the findings for homogeneous workers or firms yield an unambiguous proposal for changes in tax rates or the tax structure in order to promote employment This is because it would be desirable for tax policy to know whether the predicted effects also hold in a world with ex ante heterogeneity Furthermore the product market has not played a role Therefore repercussions from labour markets outcomes on product demand and vice versa are absent 55 Moreover neither the process of capital accumulation be it physical or human capital nor substitution possibilities between labour and capital in the firms production function are taken into account Finally international competition is not modelled
