Companion Animals in Human Health Cindy C. Wilson, 1998 Exactly how do animals affect the quality of life of their human companions The 7th International Conference on Animals Health and Quality of Life set out to explore this question A major result of this quest was Companion Animals in Human Health a careful selection of jurored and invited papers from that conference The articles in this volume address Human Animal Interaction HAI according to the elements that define quality of life physical mental emotional and social health functional health and general well being Beginning with an overview of human animal interaction from historical and value perspectives the authors develop a conceptual framework for HAI research and quality of life measurement They then go on to explore the psychosocial and physiological impact of HAI The concluding sections address the role of companion animals in human development and the training and welfare of animals in therapeutic programs As a state of the science document Companion Animals in Human Health is a must read for all health and social science professionals caring for clients who already have companion animals or for clients who might benefit from such interaction Thus it will be of interest to those in the fields of clinical psychology cognition developmental psychology family studies gerontology nursing patient care psychology public health and sociology

The Social Psychology of Aging Scott F. Madey, 2018-12-07 This special issue highlights how social psychology can further the understanding of important social health interpersonal and intergenerational issues facing people as they age This issue has three goals to generate more interest in aging as an area of study for social psychologists by showcasing researchers who are currently integrating basic social psychological research with issues in aging and lifespan development to challenge readers to think about how their research programs can interconnect with issues in aging and to demonstrate how social psychological processes have direct application to many of the issues facing people as they age

The Praeger Handbook of Mental Health and the Aging Community Doreen Maller, Kathy Langsam, 2017-11-27 A comprehensive book written by experienced practitioners this single volume work describes clinical competencies specific challenges and applications in providing services to the elderly and their caregivers More people are living past age 65 than ever before in the United States largely due to medical care advances and increased attention to preventive care The number of people aged 65 and older has increased from 35 million in 2000 to 40 million in 2010 and the elderly population is expected to reach 72 million by 2030 Additionally the American Psychological Association estimates at least 20 percent of all people aged 65 and older have a diagnosable mental disorder

There is a clear need to provide additional training support to those in the field of elder care as well as those who are friends or family members of older adults. Written by a team of experts each specializing in an aspect of elder care, The Praeger Handbook of Mental Health and the Aging Community is a single volume text that addresses the training needs of mental health care providers serving the aging population. It offers holistic and integrated models of care after presenting an in-depth explanation of the brain-body-social and emotional changes across aging that can trigger psychological disorders. The chapters pay attention to issues of diversity and culture in America's aging population. It presents an integrated care model to serve all of the needs of mentally ill elders, includes numerous case studies to demonstrate how approaches can be utilized, and discusses topics such as disability, poverty, and the legal and ethical ramifications of elder care.

The Self and Society in Aging Processes Carol D. Ryff, PhD, Victor W. Marshall, PhD, 1999-06-23 This volume focuses on the experience of growing old as it is linked to societal factors. Ryff and Marshall construct this macro view of aging in society by bridging disciplines and bringing together contributors from all the social sciences. The book is organized into three sections: theoretical perspectives, socioeconomic structures and contexts of self and society. Leading psychologists, anthropologists, gerontologists, and sociologists present theoretical and empirical advances that forge links between the individual and the social aspects of aging. It is a must reading for researchers in all gerontologic specialties and a valuable text for graduate courses in human development, psychology of aging, and other social aspects of aging.

Social Structure and Aging K. Warner Schaie, Carmi Schooler, 2013-05-13 This volume presents a systematic examination of the impact of social structures on individual behaviors and on their development in adulthood and old age. These papers and responses attempt to improve the reciprocal relationship between changes in social macro and micro structures and the process of psychological development in relation to issues of human aging. Using and combining concepts and data from various fields, this research promotes a better understanding of the effects of demographic patterns and social structures on the psychological development of adults.

Behavioural Gerontology D. B. Bromley,1995-08-18 The aim of this book is to provide a framework for and a critique of those areas of scientific enquiry which constitute the psychology of human ageing The central issues addressed include cognition motivation and emotion Comprehensive Handbook of Psychopathology Henry E. Adams,Patricia B.

Sutker,2013-04-17 The first edition of Comprehensive Handbook of Psychopathology was published in 1984 al most a decade ago In the interim there has been an explosion of information in psychopathology Proliferation of knowledge has included a widening base of research data and changing or new concepts and theories regarding classification measurement methods and etiology of abnormal behaviors and mental disorders It has been an active and productive period for biological and behavioral scientists and clinicians particularly in terms of changing notions of the complex interaction of environmental and biological factors in many disorders For example with the classic disorders such as anxiety and dissociative disorders our understanding while far from perfect has been greatly enhanced in recent years Whereas there was almost a vacuum of empirical knowledge ten years ago about the personality disorders concentrated efforts have been undertaken to investigate classification comorbidities and expression of the personality disorders and variants in normal personality traits In addition scientific advances in the fields of behavioral medicine health psychology and neuropsychology have greatly contributed to our knowledge of psychopathology and the interplay of psychobiological factors It is now commonly acknowledged that psychopathology is not limited to the traditional mental illness categories it also plays a significant role in many physical illnesses such as cancer and AIDS With these developments it became clear that the first edition of this handbook was outdated and that a revision was needed

Geriatric Assessment Karen Patrias, 1987 Psychosocial Aspects of Disability Irmo Marini, Noreen M. Graf, Michael Millington, 2011-07-27

What a marvelous and amazing textbook Drs Marini Glover Graf and Millington have done a remarkable job in the design of this highly unique book that comprehensively and very thoughtfully addresses the psychosocial aspects of the disability experience These highly respected scholars have produced a major work that will be a central text in rehabilitation education for years to come From the Foreword by Michael J Leahy Ph D LPC CRC Office of Rehabilitation and Disability Studies Michigan State University This is an excellent book but the best parts are the stories of the disabled which give readers insights into their struggles and triumphs Score 94 4 Stars Doody's Medical Reviews What are the differences between individuals with disabilities who flourish as opposed to those who never really adjust after a trauma How are those born with a disability different from individuals who acquire one later in life This is the first textbook about the psychosocial aspects of disability to provide students and practitioners of rehabilitation counseling with vivid insight into the experience of living with a disability It features the first person narratives of 16 people living with a variety of disabling conditions which are integrated with sociological and societal perspectives toward disability and strategies for counseling persons with disabilities Using a minority model perspective to address disability the book focuses on historical perspectives cultural variants regarding disability myths and misconceptions the attitudes of special interest and occupational groups the psychology of disability with a focus on positive psychology and adjustments to disability by the individual and family A wealth of counseling guidelines and useful strategies are geared specifically to individual disabilities Key Features Contains narratives of people living with blindness hearing impairments spinal cord injuries muscular dystrophy polio mental illness and other disabilities Provides counseling guidelines and strategies specifically geared toward specific disabilities including dos and don ts Includes psychological and sociological research relating to individual disabilities Discusses ongoing treatment issues and ethical dilemmas for rehabilitation counselors Presents thought provoking discussion questions in each chapter Authored by prominent professor and researcher who became disabled as a young adult Geriatric Residential Care Robert D. Hill,Brian L. Thorn,John Bowling,Anthony Morrison,2013-06-17 This book s main goal is to examine the concept of residential care from a psychological perspective The chapter authors espouse a psychological approach to long term residential care and an effort is made throughout the text to present a model of care that encompasses the whole individual Since psychologists are being increasingly asked to provide consultation to long term residential care facilities the need for psychologically based care models has become apparent This text offers assistance in developing and maintaining residential care environments that maximize quality of life and personal well being in the presence of declining physical and emotional resources that are associated with the vicissitudes of living into advanced aging Geriatric Residential Care is divided into four parts Part I addresses psychological and social issues facing the frail elderly who are candidates for or are living in residential care settings Part II addresses issues in the assessment of individuals in residential care Part III highlights the design and execution of intervention strategies in residential care Part IV addresses how organizational aspects of residential care contexts can optimize the quality and meaningfulness of care
