Abrams, 2012-11-29 RICHARD M ABRAMS a retired U C Berkeley professor of modern U S history recreates the many games some of them now all but extinct played in the city streets daily by boys and girls during the turbulent era of the Great Depression the Second World War and the increasingly prosperous post war environment Abrams was born in Brooklyn in 1932 when cramped urban living quarters were commonplace and limited income constricted access to organized sports venues and equipment His was an outdoor generation forced to depend on inventive use of scarce resources From many conversations over the years with his children colleagues friends and students he came to realize how few people today have any idea of the kinds of recreation that filled daily life for young city people in the years of his own youth Street Games is a combination of Abrams s reminiscences of the games he played and his placement of those activities in the social history of the period often highlighting its contrast with the world we know today The work is compelling informative and fast paced in its description of a mostly lost piece of history It is also fascinating for its speculations about such things as the hidden meaning of It in games of tag the small regard for safety helmets face masks seat belts and the complex character of racism and ethnic tensions in those times One reader of the manuscript remarked I have not read in many years anything that gave me so much pure sustained pleasure RICHARD M ABRAMS was educated in the public schools of Brooklyn He earned his BA MA and Ph D degrees at Columbia University He began his teaching career at Columbia in 1957 He moved to the University of California in Berkeley in 1961 where he taught until retiring in 2007 He is married to Marcia Ash Abrams and they have three children and four grandchildren He has been a visiting professor of history in London Moscow Beijing and Innsbruck and has lectured widely in Europe and Asia His other books include Conservatism in a Progressive Era The Burdens of Progress and most recently America Transformed

how to deal with addiction how to properly be patriotic how to skip high school how to say impolite things in German how to choose heroes and how to enjoy what you have with the time you have to enjoy it In his small circle of friends he is both a legend and an asshole But now Christopher T Heist can invade the lives of complete strangers as he shares his twisted perspective of everything he s been exposed to And yes nothing is sacred As a self proclaimed actor activist poet porn star comedian screenwriter atheist author body builder recovered addict part time alcoholic part time racist leader winner loser counselor ex soldier runner bicyclist laborer prisoner freethinker singer rapper boxer criminal pimp victim street fighter dirty fighter dealer director graduate guardian sucker puncher lover photographer model artist father inventor slave to the system and all around survivalist you may find yourself nodding in agreement to some of the crazy shit he hammers out in this book

Games and Play in the Creative, Smart and Ecological City Dale Leorke, Marcus Owens, 2020-12-30 This book explores what games and play can tell us about contemporary processes of urbanization and examines how the dynamics of gaming can help us understand the interurban competition that underpins the entrepreneurialism of the smart and creative city Games and Play in the Creative Smart and Ecological City is a collection of chapters written by an interdisciplinary group of scholars from game studies media studies play studies architecture landscape architecture and urban planning It situates the historical evolution of play and games in the urban landscape and outlines the scope of the various ways games and play contribute to the city s economy cultural life and environmental concerns In connecting games and play more concretely to urban discourses and design strategies this book urges scholars to consider their growing contribution to three overarching sets of discourses that dominate urban planning and policy today the creative and cultural economies of cities the smart and playable city and ecological cities This interdisciplinary work will be of great interest to students and scholars of game studies play studies landscape architecture and allied design fields urban geography and art history Chapter 3 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9781003007760>

The Player's Power to Change the Game Anne-Marie Schleiner, 2025-10-01 In recent decades what could be considered a gamification of the world has occurred as the ties between games and activism games and war and games and the city grow ever stronger In this book Anne Marie Schleiner explores a concept she calls ludic mutation a transformative process in which the player who is expected to engage in the preprogrammed interactions of the game and accept its imposed subjective constraints seizes back some of the power otherwise lost to the game itself Crucially this power grab is also relevant beyond the game because players then see the external world as material to be reconfigured an approach with important ramifications for everything from social activism to contemporary warfare
