Post-Socialist Economy Jeremy Morris, Abel Polese, 2013-12-13 From smugglers to entrepreneurs blue collar workers and taxi drivers this book deals with the multitude of characters engaged in informal economic practices in the former socialist regions Going beyond a conception of informality as opposed to the formal sector its authors demonstrate the fluid nature of informal transactions straddling the crossroads between illegal illicit socially acceptable and symbolically meaningful practices Their argument is informed by a wide range of case studies from Central Europe to the Baltics and Central Asia each of which is constructed around a single informant Each chapter narrates the story of a composite person or household that was carefully selected or constructed by an author with long standing ethnographic research experience in the given field site Wide in geographical empirical and theoretical scope the book uses ethnographic narrative accounts of everyday life to make links between ordinary meanings of informality Challenging reductively economic perspectives on cross border trading undeclared work and other informal activities the authors illustrate the wide variety of interpretive meanings that people ascribe to such practices Alongside getting by and getting ahead in recently marketised societies these meanings relate to sociality kinship ties and solidarity along with more surprising political and moral reasonings Mobility and violence and structural discrimination have targeted Armenians in the country and also focuses on the re articulations and the appropriation of a sense of belonging by these and other minority communities

Balkan Blues Yuson Jung,2019-02-01 An exploration of how a state transitions from the collectivized production and distribution of socialism to the consumer focused culture of capitalism In Balkan Blues Yuson Jung considers the state as an economic agent in upholding rights and responsibilities in the shift to a global market Taking Bulgaria as her focus Jung shows how impoverished Bulgarians developed a consumer oriented society and how the concept of need adapted in surprising ways to accommodate this new culture Different legal frameworks arose to ensure the rights of vulnerable or deceived consumers Consumer advocacy NGOs and government officers scrambled to navigate unfamiliar EU imposed models for consumer affairs departments All of these changes involved issues of responsibility accountability and civic engagement which brought Bulgarians new ways of viewing both their identities and their sense of agency Yet these opportunities also raised questions of inequality injustice and social stratification Jung s study provides a compelling argument for reconsidering of the role of the state in the construction of twenty first century consumer cultures A good contribution to post socialist and Balkan studies showing well that the concept of post socialism can still be useful not only in the context of Central and Eastern Europe but also in the Balkans The book is based on long term deep ethnography and is well written I recommend it to anyone who wants to try to understand social political and economic differences in Europe and everyday practices related to the imaginaries of the state

Neo-Socialist Property Rights Cheuk-Yuet Ho,2015-07-15 Neo Socialist Property Rights The Predicament of Housing Ownership in China examines how urban dwellers practices of acquiring and defending property rights reshape state property family relationality in China Ubiquitous housing ownership has emerged together with a pervasive yet particularized rights discourse and practice in the past two decades Ho Cheuk Yuet considers them to be a condensation and vindication of the principles of family values and emergent neo socialist governance However there are manifested and latent contradictions between rights as interests and rights as a moral principle This book concludes that private property rights are at once enabling and disabling when understood in the light of both the rigorous pursuit of well being in a market economy and the contestation by those who resist forced eviction or the infringement of owners rights In this book Ho provides rarely available ethnographic record of the encounters between evictees and evictors engaged in housing demolition and approaches the topic of urban housing ownership from the investing perspective in contrast to most anthropologists consumption focus analysis Neo Socialist Property Rights links property rights practice to the broader human rights discourse as both a working hypothesis and a historical question

Sex, Love, and Migration Alexia Bloch, 2017-12-15 Sex Love and Migration goes beyond a common narrative of women's exploitation as a feature of migration in the early twenty-first century a story that features young women from poor countries who cross borders to work in low paid and often intimate labor Alexia Bloch argues that the mobility of women is marked not only by risks but also by personal and social transformation as migration fundamentally reshapes women's emotional worlds and aspirations Bloch documents how as women have crossed borders between the former Soviet Union and Turkey since the early 1990s they have forged new forms of intimacy in their households in Moldova Ukraine Belarus and Russia but also in Istanbul where they often work for years on end Sex Love and Migration takes as its subject the lives of post Soviet migrant women employed in three distinct spheres sex work the garment trade and domestic work Bloch challenges us to decouple images of women on the move from simple assumptions about danger victimization and trafficking She redirects our attention to the aspirations and lives of women who despite myriad impediments move between global capitalist centers and their home communities

The Struggle for the Market Ståle Wig, 2025-11-04 A firsthand look at how business owners in Havana navigate the changing Cuban market and state The Struggle for the Market tells the story of Cuba's economic reforms in the 2010s focusing on the experiences a group of small business owners known as cuentapropistas These business owners were the most directly affected by the transition from the state centered planned economy of earlier decades to an economy in which the state had legalized dozens of job categories for small scale enterprise including work in private transport restaurants and street vending and which offered citizens wider opportunities to register a private business Here anthropologist Ståle Wig narrates a story of the market reforms and the challenges and triumphs that small scale entrepreneurs have experienced By asking what it means for a state to shape a market and for people to become part of such a project Wig reveals how small business owners created economic and ethical order for themselves within a system that both empowered and constrained them The author who spent twenty months living and working in Havana's bustling marketplaces offers a firsthand account of the lives hopes and frustrations of people caught up in this moment of historic development The result is an intimate firsthand look at how Cubans struggled to make money and meaning as new hierarchies emerged in their society Ultimately The Struggle for the Market discounts common assumptions of linear change in favor of an examination of Cuba's economic transition that reveals the intricate dynamics of market and state in a socialist context

New Lithuania in Old Hands Ida Harboe Knudsen, 2012 Based on detailed ethnographic material New Lithuania in Old Hands analyzes the impact that European Union accession has had upon the country s aging smallscale farmers and describes how the reality of Lithuania s EU membership has been a far cry from the scenarios of wealth and overabundance once promised The text reveals that in many instances membership has resulted in a return to subsistence production increased insecurity and a reinforcement of kinship obligations Thus instead of treating the European Union as an elite project and voicing the support of various other segments of the population this volume shows how broad parts of the rural population have been affected by and engaged in processes of change following Lithuania s accession changes that threaten to have a large impact upon the future of the country s family structures and its farming demographic
