The Theory of Social Democracy Thomas Meyer, 2013-09-30 The ascendancy of neo liberalism in different parts of the world has put social democracy on the defensive Its adherents lack a clear rationale for their policies Yet a justification for social democracy is implicit in the United Nations Covenants on Human Rights ratified by most of the world's countries The covenants commit all nations to guarantee that their citizens shall enjoy the traditional formal rights but they likewise pledge governments to make those rights meaningful in the real world by providing social security and cultural recognition to every person This new book provides a systematic defence of social democracy for our contemporary global age The authors argue that the claims to legitimation implicit in democratic theory can be honored only by social democracy libertarian democracies are defective in failing to protect their citizens adequately against social economic and environmental risks that only collective action can obviate Ultimately social democracy provides both a fairer and more stable social order But can social democracy survive in a world characterized by pervasive processes of globalization This book asserts that globalization need not undermine social democracy if it is harnessed by international associations and leavened by principles of cultural respect toleration and enlightenment The structures of social democracy must in short be adapted to the exigencies of globalization as has already occurred in countries with the most successful social democratic practices

Ranking Business Schools Linda Wedlin, 2006-01-01 In her admirable book Wedlin entangles what business school rankings really are and why they have become so important The book contains plenty to interest the growing army of business school employees whose duties at least in part are concerned with boosting their institution's position in the rankings Education and Training In times when the management education field is increasingly impacted by a proliferation of ranking exercises this book is a timely and welcome contribution Linda Wedlin unpacks for us the real meaning of the contemporary explosion of rankings Rather than simple classification schemes and mechanisms rankings are she suggests arenas where the field of business education is being created and re-created They are the loci of boundary work whereby a field is progressively evolving and constituting itself This is a convincing study relying on rich empirical data and carefully anchored in relevant theoretical debates A must read for all those academics students policy makers and education professionals who want to understand the complex contemporary logics of higher education in management but also probably well beyond Marie Laure Djelic ESSEC Business School Paris France League tables appear everywhere and have become important aspects of business school environments Based on in depth and creatively combined empirical studies Linda Wedlin provides us with explanations and insights on the emergence and impact of such rankings This book should be of great value for all those who seek to play the ranking game It gives a fresh perspective on how classification mechanisms drive the emergence boundary setting and change of organizational fields Kerstin Sahlin Andersson Uppsala University Sweden A fascinating study of the complex issues surrounding MBA rankings Business schools really hate them but at times have to pretend to love them Magazines and newspapers are really interested in their sales potential but have to make pretensions about their veracity Linda Wedlin focuses on an area rich in hypocrisy and hype but also one where there are real consequences ranking furthered re-inforces the homogenising tendencies of MBAs Anthony Hopwood Sa d Business

Capital in Higher Education Krystian Szadkowski,2023-08-26 This book offers a systematic sectoral and in depth Marxist perspective on the critique of political economy of higher education It proposes an original method of analysis of higher education as a field of capitalist production grounded at the intersection of mainstream higher education research and contemporary debates in Marxist theories At the same time it imbues a political perspective based on the embedding of higher education within the wider social network of antagonistic relations that traverse the capitalist economy at large The Marketization of Nonprofits Sophie Hersberger-Langloh, 2020-12-18 This thesis deals with the concept and consequences of marketization in the nonprofit sector Marketization describes the process of nonprofit organizations becoming more business like and is caused among other things by increased competition for scarce resources the rise of professionalism and calls for more transparency and efficiency by funders and the public Research about marketization is inconclusive some researchers believe marketization can increase not only efficiency but also effectiveness of organizations while others fear that nonprofits lose their focus on a social mission The four articles presented in this thesis focus on the theoretical and practical implications of nonprofits relying more on earned income a dominant feature of marketization and nonprofits actively and passively adopting management practices and tools from the for profit sector another key characteristic of increased marketization The results show that marketization can increase the economic and social performance of an organization and when handled well and implemented through a clear strategic focus foster mission achievement Particularly the focus on beneficiaries and internal processes can help organizations to better fulfill their mission A loss of focus on the mission must be feared if regulatory forces act on the organization without a simultaneous professionalization of management or if an organization focuses too much on its competitors Society of Singularities Andreas Reckwitz, 2020-04-21 Our contemporary societies place more and more emphasis on the singular and the unique The industrial societies of the early 20th century produced standardized products cities subjects and organizations which tended to look the same but in our late modern societies we value the exceptional unique objects experiences places individuals events and communities which are beyond the ordinary and which claim a certain authenticity Industrial society's logic of the general has been replaced by late modernity's logic of the particular In this major new book Andreas Reckwitz examines the causes structures and consequences of the society of singularities in which we now live The transformation from industrial to cultural capitalism the rise of digital technologies and their culture machine and the emergence of an educated urban new middle class form a powerful engine for the singularization of the social In late modernity what is singular is valorized and stirs the emotions while what is general has to remain in the background and this has profound social consequences The society of singularities systematically produces devaluation and inequality winner takes all markets job polarization the neglect of rural regions and the alienation of the traditional middle class The emergence of populism and the rise of aggressive forms of nationalism which emphasize the cultural authenticity of one's own people thus turn out to be the other side of singularization This prize winning book offers a new perspective on how modern societies have changed in recent decades and it will be of great value to anyone interested in the forces that are shaping our world today Handbook of the Sharing Economy Russell W. Belk, Giana M. Eckhardt, Fleura Bardhi, With the radical growth in the ubiquity of digital platforms the sharing economy is here to stay This Handbook explores the nature and direction of the sharing economy interrogating its key dynamics and evolution over the

Educational Reform Antonia Darder,Cleveland Hayes II,Howard Ryan,2023-03-23 On Class Race and Educational Reform provokes new dialogue between Marxists critical race theory scholars and other race inspired educational theorists with the aim of countering racism and class inequalities The book opens with a lead chapter by Howard Ryan a doctoral student with a background in teaching and labor organizing that substantively engages questions of class race and educational reform In response to the opening chapter educational theorists from Germany South Africa the UK and the USA provide insightful and penetrating responses highlighting the differences and similarities in perspectives The responses show how educators can overcome theoretical differences to create international collaborations and educational campaigns of solidarity that counter the treacherous impact of racism and class inequalities in the classroom and beyond The book includes a Foreword by Stephen Brookfield University of St Thomas USA and an Afterword by Cheryl Matias University of Kentucky USA

Ecocriticism and the Sense of Place Lenka Filipova,2021-08-29 The book is an investigation into the ways in which ideas of place are negotiated contested and refigured in environmental writing at the turn of the twenty first century It focuses on the notion of place as a way of interrogating the socio political and environmental pressures that have been seen as negatively affecting our environments since the advent of modernity as well as the solutions that have been given as an antidote to those pressures Examining a selection of literary representations of place from across the globe the book illuminates the multilayered and polyvocal ways in which literary works render local and global ecological relations of places In this way it problematises more traditional environmentalism and its somewhat essentialised idea of place by intersecting the largely Western discourse of environmental studies with postcolonial and Indigenous studies thus considering the ways in which forms of emplacement can occur within displacement and dispossession especially within societies that are dealing with the legacies of colonialism neocolonial exploitation or international pressure to conform As such the work foregrounds the singular processes in which different local global communities recognise themselves in their diverse approaches to the environment and gestures towards an environmental politics that is based on an epistemology of contact connection and difference and as one moreover that recognises its own epistemological limits This book will appeal to researchers working in the fields of environmental humanities postcolonial studies Indigenous studies and comparative literature Spirit and Capital in an Age of Inequality Robert P. Jones, Ted A. Smith, 2017-12-22 Spirit and Capital in an Age of Inequality brings together a diverse group of scholars activists and public intellectuals to consider one of the most pressing issues of our time increasing inequalities of income and wealth that grate against justice and erode the bonds that hold society together The contributors think through different religious traditions to understand and address inequality They make practical proposals in relation to concrete situations like mass incarceration and sweatshops They also explore the inner experience of life in a society marked by inequality tracing the contours of stress hopelessness and a restless lack of contentment This book honors the work of Jon P Gunnemann who has been a leading scholar at the intersections of religion and economics Spirit and Capital in an Age of Inequality will be of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students and scholars of religion and economics It will be useful to policy makers and activists seeking a more thorough understanding of the role of religion and theology in public life
