Inness, 2000 Girl Power has become the rallying cry for a new generation of girls as they navigate on their own terms the perilous yet exhilarating journey from girlhood to adulthood Though this transformation is often difficult for middle class white girls growing up in the United States it is unimaginably more difficult for girls often in developing countries who contend with such life threatening issues as poverty abuse and civil war Indeed girl power is a luxury these girls can't afford Consider the young Thai teenage girl who must work in a button factory in order to save some money for her daughter Think about the poverty stricken young girl who is raped in rural Pakistan and whose rapist is never brought to trial Consider the journey of the African girl who is adopted and brought to the United States yet discovers that she is not accepted because of her race These stories and other equally painful sagas will resonate with readers of this collection whose chapters will give these and other disenfranchised girls a place to speak a place to express some of the pain emotional and physical of their journey through girlhood commercialization of marriage in nineteenth century France Brokers transformed courtship and marriage into forms of commercial exchange linking them to the burgeoning urban values of abundance pleasure and social mobility By studying agents and readers media fictions on love alongside court cases legislation and literature surrounding the industry Andrea Mansker reveals the intimate and socioeconomic pressures of finding a spouse At the same time she demonstrates how contemporaries used the business of matrimony to reimagine their public identities relationships and courtship rituals following unprecedented historical change due to the French Revolution and Napoleonic wars The matchmaking business both responded to and helped shape national anxieties over fluctuating nuptial rates and changing laws on marriage and divorce As a result marriage itself was reconceived as a commercial contract inseparable from the atomistic and corrupt marketplace The debates and pressures Mansker describes in Matchmaking and the Marriage Market in Postrevolutionary France are still relevant today As contemporary online daters likely understand the possibility of finding a mate in an expanded pool of candidates beyond one's family locality and nation offered individuals the liberating opportunity to explore new personas just as it produced a novel sense of danger about these impersonal transactions in the anonymous marketplace
