

A romantic couple is shown in profile, embracing on a grassy hill. The man is wearing a light blue denim jacket and dark pants, while the woman is wearing a white shirt and a dark skirt. They are standing close together, with the woman's arms around the man's neck. The background is a soft, hazy landscape of rolling hills under a warm, golden sunset sky. A thin, dark line starts from the top left, forms a heart shape, and then curves down to point at the word 'MARRYING' in the title.

Marrying Kind:

The Marrying Kind? Mary Bernstein, Verta Taylor, 2013-05-16 As the fight for same sex marriage rages across the United States and lesbian and gay couples rush to marriage license counters the goal of marriage is still fiercely questioned within the LGBT movement Rarely has an objective so central to a social movement's political agenda been so controversial within the movement itself While antigay forces work to restrict marriage to one man and one woman lesbian and gay activists are passionately arguing about the desirability viability and social consequences of same sex marriage The Marrying Kind is the first book to draw on empirical research to examine these debates and how they are affecting marriage equality campaigns The essays in this volume analyze the rhetoric strategies and makeup of the LGBT social movement organizations pushing for same sex marriage and address the dire predictions of some LGBT commentators that same sex marriage will spell the end of queer identity and community Case studies from California Connecticut Massachusetts New Jersey Oklahoma Vermont and Canada illuminate the complicated politics of same sex marriage making clear that the current disagreements among LGBT activists over whether marriage is conforming or transformative are far too simplistic Instead the impact of the marriage equality movement is complex and often contradictory neither fully assimilationist nor fully oppositional Contributors Ellen Ann Andersen U of Vermont Mary C Burke U of Vermont Adam Isaiah Green U of Toronto Melanie Heath McMaster U Ontario Kathleen E Hull U of Minnesota Katrina Kimport U of California San Francisco Jeffrey Kosbie Katie Oliviero U of Colorado Boulder Kristine A Olsen Timothy A Ortyl Arlene Stein Rutgers U Amy L Stone Trinity U Nella Van Dyke U of California Merced Love Love Love Terry Godwin, 2007-10-25 Love Love Love is a book written for folk who enjoy reading rhyming poetry which is romantic humorous reminds as of the wonders of Mother Nature and gently reminds us to think of those less fortunate than ourselves Being a romantic many of my poems aim to attract the interest of the fair and gentle sex How to enjoy a happy Marriage A beautiful woman Some enchanted evening My heart is in a whirl are some of the poems that put romance in the air When invited to give public readings I am reminded to bring along a good supply of my humorous poetry Old chestnuts are Look at my forehead Grounds for divorce The candle always get good laughs Most poets write about mother nature sometime Some of my poems covering this wonderful and awesome subject are Our garden of England Spring is in the air and The peril of the sea My previous books Love and Marriage Come fly with me and Anna's poems of love life and humour have been well received by the public so I continue to write in that vein Thank you for your continued support and interest Terry Godwin Terry Godwin was Born in West London and now resides with his wonderful wife Muriel who has put up with him for nearly fifty years he has two married sons After retirement he took up writing seriously he also chairs the Rainham Poetry Group and presents a monthly programme of poetry reading Called The Medway hour of poetry The Torch of Love Terry Godwin, 2013-09-26 Thank you for encouraging me to publish The Torch of Love by the support that you have given me in my last book The Dating Game The emphasis is again on rhyming romantic poetry

The Marrying Kind Judy Christenberry, 2007 From the moment Jonathan Davis rang Diane Black's doorbell mistaking her for his blind date she knew the sexy developer couldn't be more different from her He squired around gorgeous flirty dim-witted Dallas socialites not modest investment bankers like her Still the man made her heart flutter under her pin-striped suit as it hadn't in years John was many things a millionaire a player a catch But he'd never be a husband For him marriage equaled mistake Diane might be the quintessential forever kind of woman but he was confident he could avoid that trap That is until he kissed her And then of course there was the matter of the baby

Help Wanted Allison B. Hanson, 2017-09-12 Who said mixing work and pleasure was a bad idea For Kenley Carmichael getting fired for sleeping with the boss's husband is almost funny at 28 she's still a virgin Not that her now ex-boss would believe it Kenley's got the face and figure to attract plenty of men even if she's never found the right one A job at New Haven Custom Boats is a chance to start fresh and learn a whole new skill set Trouble is she can't stop wishing her incredibly hot new boss would introduce her to some decidedly un-businesslike pleasure Zane Jackson needs a new assistant but when his pregnant sister hires her replacement she chooses a girl who reminds him of the kind who broke his heart in high school Zane might not be that shy boy anymore but sweet sexy Kenley makes him feel every bit as awkward as he did then and even hungrier to kiss her She's the perfect woman for the job but he wants her to be so much more Interoffice dating can only lead to trouble unless it leads to true love

Love and Lust Theodor Reik, 2017-07-05 These selections from Theodor Reik's work concern the love life and sexual activity of men and women Reik establishes the theme of this work in the following way The sex urge hunts for lustful pleasure love is in search of joy and happiness Over a third of this volume had never been published in book form before it originally appeared half a century ago Its appearance in paperback for the first time is a welcome addition to current debates liberated from ideological and political constraints The first part of the book is so far ahead of its time that it is still current It reveals Reik's departure from Freud's theories and from those of most of his contemporaries in psychology and psychoanalysis Part Two is a greatly abbreviated version of Masochism in Modern Man retaining those parts with a direct bearing on the subject of this volume Part Three offers two essays on why people remain single In the author's usual direct style they deal with the marriage shyness of the male and the psychological fears and resistance of both men and women to acceptance of the marriage bond Part Four is Reik at his wisest The first lady whom I asked to read the manuscript said smilingly Many of your impressions about us women are correct No man should read the book A few seconds later she said Or rather every man should read the book As Paul Roazen noted in contrast to some of Freud's other followers Reik was prescient early on in distinguishing self love from narcissism Reik believed that genuine self regard was the ultimate basis for developing the capacity to love At times Reik seems to defend women at times to critique them Yet he writes with sympathy and understanding He challenges other authorities who have written on the subject but he also agrees with many of them Love and Lust is civilized writing at its most provocative Reik is authoritative and his book reflects the glow of a rich personality often surprising origins of New York's postwar film renaissance looking beyond such classics as Naked City, Kiss of Death and Portrait of Jennie. He examines the social, cultural and economic forces that shaped New York filmmaking from city politics to union regulations and shows how decades of low budget independent production taught local filmmakers how to capture the city's grit, liveliness and allure. He reveals the importance of race films, all Black productions intended for segregated African American audiences that not only helped keep the film business afloat but also nurtured a core group of writers, directors, designers and technicians. Detailed production histories of On the Waterfront and Killer's Kiss films that appear here in a completely new light illustrate the distinctive characteristics of New York cinema. Drawing on a vast array of research including studio libraries, censorship records, union archives and interviews with participants, Keep Em in the East rewrites a crucial chapter in the history of American cinema.

Contesting Bodies and Nation in Canadian History Patrizia Gentile, Jane Nicholas, 2013-12-06 From fur coats to nude paintings and from sports to beauty contests, the body has been central to the literal and figurative fashioning of ourselves as individuals and as a nation. In this first collection on the history of the body in Canada, an interdisciplinary group of scholars explores the multiple ways the body has served as a site of contestation in Canadian history in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Showcasing a variety of methodological approaches, Contesting Bodies and Nation in Canadian History includes essays on many themes that engage with the larger historical relationship between the body and nation: medicine and health, fashion and consumer culture, citizenship and work and more. The contributors reflect on the intersections of bodies with the concept of nationhood as well as how understandings of the body are historically contingent. The volume is capped off with a critical introductory chapter by the editors on the history of bodies and the development of the body as a category of analysis.
