Marvelous Recipes From The French Heartland:

Marvelous Recipes from the French Heartland Regis Marcon, Jean-François Abert, 2002 Regis Marcon grew up in Saint Bonnet le Froid in the Auvergne region of France His hotel restaurant like the village puts on no airs peu protocolaire as Marcon describes it It is one of those rare places that in spite of its star status has not forgotten that it started out life as the village caf run by Marcon s mother Marcon started the Auberge des Cimes as a modest local eatery in 1982 Over the years he and his wife Mich le have gradually upgraded their small establishment to a two star Michelin restaurant with a twelve room hotel connected to the restaurant by a tunnel The rooms in the hotel are spacious and modern with stunning views of the forested slopes surrounding the hilltop town The restaurant has a similar feel with colorful lamps waiters wearing mushroom pins and interesting knickknacks He is very proud that he and his wife were able to take over the family business and make it what it is today Marcon s cuisine relies on the elements unique to his region including a dazzling array of mushrooms cheeses and local herbs Marcon combines all those ingredients in a personal style that emphasizes brilliant flavors in new ways In addition to presenting his recipes he offers a firsthand look at and tells the stories of his countrymen farmers foragers fishermen and purveyors Born from traditional French cuisine the recipes take on a new dimension in the simplicity and modernity of Marcon s approach Organized by season the recipes take you from Trout with Auvergne Blue Cheese Sauce for Spring to Winter Luxury Squash Cr pes His reputation has spread all over Europe and his restaurant is a landmark and a destination for an ever increasing number of gastronomes Circles of Meaning, Labyrinths of Fear

Brendan Myers, 2012-03-16 You ve heard of sacred places writings relics and rituals holy days and magical times of year But these are actually representations of relationships that people have with each other and the elements of the world Some of these relationships environmental they involve landscapes animals and the streets of your home town Some are personal such as families friends and elders Some are public involving musicians storytellers medical doctors and even soldiers This book studies twenty two relationships from a variety of traditions and shows their place in the good life Yet these relations are always fragile and threatened by fears from the fear of loneliness to the fear of the loss of personal or political freedom to the fear of death To escape from these fears people often trap themselves into ways of life that are bad for everyone including themselves This book studies how that happens and how to prevent it More than beliefs laws and teachings our relationships are the true basis of spirituality and freedom Nothing Fancy Diana Kennedy, 2016-04-19 International favorite dishes and personal stories from a celebrated food writer and foremost authority on traditional Mexican cooking Diana Kennedy is the world s preeminent authority on authentic Mexican cooking and one of its best known food writers Renowned for her uncompromising insistence on using the correct local ingredients and preparation techniques she has taught generations of cooks how to prepare traditional dishes from the villages of Mexico and in doing so has documented and helped preserve the country s amazingly diverse and rich foodways Kennedy s own meals for guests are often Mexican but she also indulges herself and close friends with the nostalgic foods in Nothing Fancy. This acclaimed cookbook now expanded with new and revised recipes, additional commentary, photos, and reminiscences reveals Kennedy's passion for simpler, soul-satisfying food from the favorite dishes of her British childhood, including a technique for making clotted cream that actually works, to rare recipes from Ukraine, Norway, France, and other outposts. In her inimitable style, Kennedy discusses her addictions, everything from good butter, cream, and lard to cold-smoked salmon, Seville orange marmalade, black truffle shavings, escamoles, and eggs, and proper croissants, as well as her bêtes noires: kosher salt, nonfat dairy products, cassia, cinnamon-botoxed turkeys, and nonstick pans and baking sprays, among them. And look out for the ire she unleashes on cookbookee, genetically modified foods, plastic, and unecological kitchen practices. The culminating work of an illustrious career, Nothing Fancy is an irreplaceable opportunity to spend time in the kitchen with Diana Kennedy, listening to the stories she has collected and making the food she has loved over a long lifetime of cooking. Diana's recipe for her most personal cookbook includes equal parts passion, creativity, and humor, with a soup on of provocation. I love the way she's so blunt in her comments about food and the food world; her bêtes noires in this book it's exactly the way we cooks talk to each other in private, and it rarely gets into our books. Paula Wolfert, author of The Food of Morocco. Nothing Fancy gives us access to the razor-sharp wit and wisdom of one of the great intuitive cooks of our time. Zak Pelaccio, chef and owner of Fish Game, Hudson, New York, and author of Eat With Your Hands. Diana Kennedy is the most serious food writer in Mexico, but what many people won't know until they read this book is that she's an extraordinary cook of all sorts of cuisines. Cooking casually with her at home is to know her keen palate and deep understanding of how food works. It's also great fun. Gabriela C.mara, chef and owner of Contramar, Mexico City, and Cala, San Francisco.

Food Arts, 2006 From the Jewish Heartland Ellen F. Steinberg, Jack H. Prost, 2011-06-01. From the Jewish Heartland: Two Centuries of Midwest Foodways reveals the distinctive flavor of Jewish foods in the Midwest and tracks regional culinary changes through time. Exploring Jewish culinary innovation in America's heartland from the 1800s to today, Ellen F. Steinberg and Jack H. Prost examine recipes from numerous midwestern sources, both kosher and nonkosher, including Jewish homemakers' handwritten manuscripts and notebooks, published journals, and newspaper columns, and interviews with Jewish cooks, bakers, and delicatessen owners. With the influx of hundreds of thousands of Jews during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries came new recipes and foodways that transformed the culture of the region. Settling into the cities, towns, and farm communities of Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, and Minnesota, Jewish immigrants incorporated local fruits, vegetables, and other comestibles into traditional recipes. Such incomparable gustatory delights include Tzitzel bagels and rye breads coated in midwestern cornmeal baklava, studded with locally grown cranberries; dark pumpernickel bread sprinkled with almonds and crunchy Iowa sunflower seeds; tangy ketchup concocted from wild sour grapes; Sephardic borekas, turnovers made with sweet cherries from Michigan; rich Chicago cheesecakes; native huckleberry pie from St. Paul; and savory gefilte fish from Minnesota; northern pike

Steinberg and Prost also consider the effect of improved preservation and transportation on rural and urban Jewish foodways as reported in contemporary newspapers magazines and published accounts They give special attention to the impact on these foodways of large scale immigration relocation and Americanization processes during the nineteenth century and the efforts of social and culinary reformers to modify traditional Jewish food preparation and ingredients Including dozens of sample recipes From the Jewish Heartland Two Centuries of Midwest Foodways takes readers on a memorable and unique tour of midwestern Jewish cooking and culture Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff,Staff Bowker, Ed,2004
