Kubáľková, A. A. Cruickshank, 1989 Illustrating the association between Marxist theories of social relations based on economic structures and the realities of international relations this study reconstructs theories of international relations put forth by Marx and Engels and explores the better known theories of the Second International concerning imperialism and the nation The authors also examine theories advanced by Marxist diplomats and intellectuals in recent years      Marxism and the Origins of International Relations José Ricardo Villanueva Lira, 2021-10-20 This book investigates to what extent and in what ways Marxist writings and precepts on imperialism informed the so called idealist stage of International Relations IR Though the formative years of International Relations coincide with a vibrant period in Marxist political thought Marxism is strikingly absent from the historiography of the discipline Building on the work of revisionist scholars the book reconstructs the writings of five benchmark IR thinkers Villanueva analyzes the cases of John Hobson Henry Brailsford Leonard Woolf Harold Laski and Norman Angell to explore the influence that Marxism played in their thinking and in the idealist years of the discipline more generally He ultimately demonstrates that although Marxist thought has been neglected by mainstream IR disciplinary historians it played a significant role in the discipline's early development As such this book both challenges the exclusion of Marxist thought from the mainstream disciplinary histories of IR and contributes to a deeper understanding of the role it played in early 20th century IR theory      Marxism-Leninism and the Theory of International Relations V.
