Welland,2014-09-15 From endless sand dunes and prickly cacti to shimmering mirages and green oases deserts evoke contradictory images in us They are lands of desolation but also of romance of blistering Mojave heat and biting Gobi cold Covering a quarter of the earth s land mass and providing a home to half a billion people they are both a physical reality and landscapes of the mind The idea of the desert has long captured Western imagination put on display in films and literature but these portrayals often fail to capture the true scope and diversity of the people living there Bridging the scientific and cultural gaps between perception and reality The Desert celebrates our fascination with these arid lands and their inhabitants as well as their importance both throughout history and in the world today Covering an immense geographical range Michael Welland wanders from the Sahara to the Atacama depicting the often bizarre adaptations of plants and animals to these hostile environments He also looks at these seemingly infertile landscapes in the context of their place in history as the birthplaces not only of critical evolutionary adaptations civilizations and social progress but also of ideologies Telling the stories of the diverse peoples who call the desert home he describes how people have survived there their contributions to agricultural development and their emphasis on water and its scarcity He also delves into the allure of deserts and how they have been used in literature and film and their influence on fashion art and architecture As Welland reveals deserts may be difficult to define but they play an active role in the evolution of our global climate and society at large and their future is of the utmost importance Entertaining informative and surprising The Desert is an intriguing new look at these seemingly harsh and inhospitable landscapes Ascetics, Society, and the Desert James E.

living and discover how to seek God in a desert place      The Man of the Desert & A Voice in the Wilderness: A Sequel Grace Livingston Hill, 2019-07-09 The Man of the Desert When weary and tired Hazel Radcliffe falls off her horse in the unforgiving weather of Arizona she is nursed back to her health by John Brownleigh a missionary Soon enough both of them develop feelings for each other but never succeed in confessing it Will they get separated for ever or has fate other plans for these two A Voice in the Wilderness A sequel to the first book this one tells the story of Margaret Earle a young school teacher who accidentally gets down on a wrong platform and finds herself lost in the wilderness of Arizona Alone and helpless she pins her hope on a man to help her but it soon backfires and Margaret finds herself running away in sheer desperation But what will happen when her path will cross with Lance Gardley the handsome cowboy      Sonorous Desert Kim Haines-Eitzen, 2024-04-16 Deserts have a long religious history Think of the biblical stories of the ancient Israelites migrating through deserts after they had been freed from slavery in Egypt and the stories from the New Testament of Jesus being tempted in the desert Early Christian monks and hermits were deeply influenced by such stories drawing from them the lesson that the desert is an important place It s the place to which one flees the cacophony and distractions of the marketplace and town square in order to hear and contemplate the voice of God in solitude Of course the practice of withdrawal was a Graeco Roman ideal as well as a biblical one and some early monks were surely influenced by pre Christian philosophical ideas about the power of solitude too Alone or in monastic communities which paradoxically blended the communal and the solitary monks found something surprising in the harsh desert environment while they went there in search of silence they found that the desert too is rich with sound which one can appreciate if one pays attention One has to learn to listen to the subtle natural sounds of the desert in order to become quiet and still enough to listen with the ear of the heart in the words of the sixth century AD monk Benedict of Nursia Kim Haines Eitzen has written a book about the sayings anecdotes and stories of these desert monks based on her reading of a wide range of texts written in Greek Coptic and Latin between the third and seventh centuries including letters treatises and philosophical and practical instructions for monastic life This material speaks to the interdependence between humans and other animals and between humans and the environment The author highlights the ways in which monks wrestled with the sounds of the desert and how they used these to cultivate a quality of inner listening She invites her readers to reflect with her on what we might learn about our own world from their experience and stories how in the midst of our cacophonous surroundings we might cultivate a sense of inner quietude And how we might grapple with the tensions that those early monks also felt between the pulls of solitude and community Accompanying this book are a set of audio recordings the author made in desert environments      Two Questers in the Twentieth-century North Africa Imen Ayari Cozzo, 2016-09-23 This book offers a unique exploration of the work of Paul Bowles and Ibrahim Alkoni and reveals timely insights into the relationship between the West and the Orient showing that they both challenge and extend existing scholarship on this subject It builds on a sound theoretical platform which serves as a solid foundation for the analysis of the overarching theme Theories of place representation Orientalism and post colonialism are discussed in depth and are linked to the deconstruction and analysis of the selected literary texts helping the reader understand the various quests and motivations of the protagonists of the works of Bowles and Alkoni The first part of the book looks into the work of Bowles and is based on the fact that many of the author s texts revolve around the theme of encounters between Western and Eastern cultures It adopts a specific focus on the North African space which is depicted from a number of different points of view including native French English and American perspectives The second section discusses the work of the Libyan author Ibrahim Alkoni as a quester for a Mythical Identity It introduces the reader to the significance of the desert in both classical and modern Arabic literature and its place in the Arabic cultural imaginary This work is highly original both in its approach and subject matter and as such it constitutes a valuable contribution to the study of comparative literature Arabic literature and postcolonial magical realist literature It offers many original insights into this little studied field demonstrating a successful venture into less trodden terrain
