
Anatomy of the heart questions with complete solutions.

Location of the heart - ANSWER The heart sits in the the chest within the mediastinum, between the two lungs. Two thirds of the heart is located to the left of the midline of the sternum, and one third is located to the right. The upper flat portion of the heart called the base is located at the level of the second rib. The lower, more pointed end of the heart is the apex; it is located at the level of the fifth intercostal space. The precordium refers to the area of the anterior chest wall overlaying the heart and the great vessels.

Layers and covering of the heart - ANSWER The heart is made up of 3 layers. Endocardium, myocardium and epicardium.

Endocardium - ANSWER The endocardium is the hearts inner most layer. The endocardium also lines the valves and is continuous with the blood vessels that enter and leave the heart. The smooth and shiny surface allows blood to flow over it easily.

Myocardium - ANSWER The myocardium is the middle layer of the heart. It is the thickest of the three layers. The myocardium is composed of cardiac muscle that contracts and pumps blood through the blood vessels.

Epicardium - ANSWER The epicardium is the thin outermost layer of the heart. The epicardium also helps form the pericardium.

Pericardium - ANSWER The heart is supported by a sling like structure called the pericardium. The pericardium attaches the heart to other structure, such as the diaphragm and the large blood vessels.

Pulmonary circulation - ANSWER The path that the blood follows from the right side of the heart to and through the lungs and back to the left side of the heart is called pulmonary circulation. The right heart receives deoxygenated blood from the superior and inferior venae cavae, large veins that collect blood from all parts of the body.

The hearts chambers and great vessels - ANSWER The heart has four chambers: two atria and two ventricles. The atria are the upper chambers and receive the blood into the heart. The ventricles are the lower chambers and pump blood of of the heart. The right and left hearts are separated from one another by two

Where does the left side of the heart pump too? - ANSWER Rest of the body

Where does the right side of the heart pump too? - ANSWER Lungs

Communication about the Heart Failure Trajectory in Patients, their Families and Health Care Professionals Lisa Hjelmfors,2018-03-14 Introduction There is an increasing awareness in the field of cardiology regarding the need for improved delivery of palliative care in patients with heart failure HF Professional guidelines have drawn attention to the importance of discussing the heart failure trajectory with patients and their families These discussions can include for example talking about the prognosis expectations for the future and care at the end of life It seems difficult for health care professionals to choose the right time for initiating these discussions They often avoid these conversations because they are afraid of taking away hope and make the patients and their families anxious Aim The overall aim of this thesis was to improve communication about the heart failure trajectory in patients their families and health care professionals Design and methods This thesis includes five studies using different designs and data collection methods Study I has a cross sectional design using a questionnaire to collect data to describe heart failure nurses perceptions of and practice in discussing prognosis and end of life care with heart failure patients Study II has a descriptive and comparative design where a survey was performed to describe Swedish and Dutch heart failure nurses reasons for discussing or not discussing prognosis and end of life care with patients Study III has an inductive and exploratory design where HF patients participated in focus groups or individual interviews Data was collected based on their perceptions of communication about the heart failure prognosis Study IV was a small scale ethnographic study describing and evaluating the delivery of a simulation when teaching third year nursing students about end of life care at a Swedish university Study V used co design in which patients with HF from primary care their family members and health care professionals physicians and nurses from palliative and HF care were invited to be constructive participants in the design process of a communication intervention Health care professionals participated in a first feasibility testing of the intervention Results Most Swedish HF nurses had discussed prognosis 96% and end of life care 84% with a HF patient at some point in clinical practice The nurses often reported that a physician was to have the main responsibility for such discussions 69% but that the nurse was also believed to have a role to play I Prognosis and end of life care were together with sexual activity the three least frequently discussed topics in HF clinics in both Sweden and the Netherlands II In conversations with 1 809 Swedish and Dutch HF patients prognosis was discussed with 38% of the patients and end of life care was discussed with 10% In study III patients expressed different experiences of and preferences for communication about their HF prognosis Many patients described that the health care professionals had not provided them with any prognosis information at all The patients had different understandings of HF as a chronic illness which had an impact on their preferences for communication about their prognosis III The simulation training described in the ethnographic study IV was part of an end of life care simulation during the last term of the 3 year bachelor degree level nursing education program where students learn and practice basic palliative care The students felt that the simulation training was a good opportunity to practice handling end of life situations as it gave them a chance to experience this situation and their own feelings and thoughts on death and dying In study V an intervention to improve communication about prognosis and end of life care in HF care was developed and some areas were feasibility tested Heart failure patients their families and health care professionals working in HF care or palliative care participated in the development process Health care professionals nurses and physicians participated in the following feasibility testing of the intervention Conclusions This thesis shows that prognosis and end of life care are seldom discussed with HF patients in Swedish and Dutch heart failure care and that many heart failure nurses have ambiguous attitudes towards discussing these topics with patients and their families I II The patients described that they receive different messages concerning their heart failure and that they also have different preferences for discussing the heart failure trajectory with health care professionals The professionals need to understand the impact of heart failure on each patient and adapt the communication to each individual III End of life care simulation with skilled supervisors shows great promise for health care professionals to learn good communication skills in end of life care conversations IV A Question Prompt List and a communication course might be useful for improving communication about the heart failure trajectory in patients their families and health care professionals

Parenting with Heart Stephen James, Chip Dodd, 2018-10-16 Parents want to be the best person they can for their children but much of the time they may feel like giraffes on ice clumsy unprepared and in imminent danger of going down The good news is our children don't need perfect parents They need authentic fully hearted relationally engaged parents who can mess up and move on more than parents who always get it right In this freeing book respected therapists and bestselling authors Stephen James and Chip Dodd invite parents to let go of perfectionism and micromanaging as they learn to parent from a place of emotional honesty and intimacy Through their clinical experience and relatable true stories they show parents that raising children to become capable loving and wise hearted adults is far more about accepting our flaws than projecting an impossible standard to our children that we already know we can't live up to Parents will learn how to resolve issues from their own childhoods tune into their feelings and the emotions of their children and be present with their families through both the best and worst of circumstances From the Heart Jeffrey L. Kosky, 2025-02-25 What does it mean to have a heart How does it feel when a heart fails and what does it take to recover In a world beset by never ending crises personal and collective local and global is heartlessness the only option From the Heart weaves together a personal narrative of a life threatening ailment with considerations of philosophy art and science to contemplate ultimate questions matters of life and death Jeffrey L Kosky recounts his brush with death the surgical repair of a congenital defect in his aortic valve his gradual recovery of everyday life and his struggle to find the heart to go on throughout it all To make sense of the experience he immerses himself in humanistic inquiry and medical science the histories of medicine cardiac surgery and knowledge of the human heart as well as the works of artists writers philosophers and theologians Writing about the experience of being human from the precarious position of his own woundedness Kosky shares hard earned perspectives on what matters most Combining moving memoir encounters with major authors and artists and heartfelt reflections on the big questions of existence this elegantly written book is at once erudite and powerful It shows us why the heart in physical emotional and metaphorical senses helps us come to terms with sickness and health dying and living Gifts from the Heart Randy Fujishin, 2002-12-10 Helps learn practice and improve ten fundamental communication skills needed for any long term relationship Grounded in specific manageable and directed activities designed to immediately enhance relationships Questions Concerning Aristotle's On Animals (The Fathers of the Church, Mediaeval Continuation, Volume 9) Albertus, 2008 After the Latin translation of Aristotelian works outside the logica vetus began in earnest in twelfth century Spain it remained to Scholastic philosophers to assimilate the new materials Although many individuals commented on the logica nova and on some of Aristotle's books on natural philosophy Albert the Great is one of only a very few Scholastics to comment on the entire collection of Aristotle's biological works This text the Questions concerning Aristotle's On Animals Quaestiones super de animalibus recovered only at the beginning of the twentieth century and never before translated in its entirety represents Conrad of Austria's report on a series of disputed questions that Albert the Great addressed in Cologne ca 1258 The Questions in nineteen books mixes two distinct genres the scholastic quaestio with arguments pro et contra a determination and answers to the objections and the straightforward question and response found for example in The Prose Salernitan Questions Here even more clearly perhaps than in his slightly later and much larger paraphrastic commentary On Animals De animalibus Albert adduces his own views often criticizing other medieval physicians and natural philosophers on comparative anatomy human physiology sexuality procreation and embryology This translation based on the critical edition that appeared in the Cologne edition of Albert's work helps to explain the title patron saint of scientists bestowed upon Albert by Pope Pius XII This work should find its audience among medievalists and historians of science and culture More so than the massive On Animals it should prove useful in the classroom as an encyclopedia or handbook of medieval life
