Representations of Death in Nineteenth-Century US Writing and Culture Lucy Frank,2018-01-18 From the famous deathbed scene of Harriet Beecher Stowe's Little Eva to Mark Twain's parodically morbid poetess Emmeline Grangerford a preoccupation with human finitude informs the texture of nineteenth century US writing This collection traces the vicissitudes of this cultural preoccupation with the subject of death and examines how mortality served paradoxically as a site on which identity and subjectivity were productively rethought Contributors from North America and the United Kingdom representing the fields of literature theatre history and American studies analyze the sexual social and epistemological boundaries implicit in nineteenth century America's obsession with death while also seeking to give a voice to the strategies by which these boundaries were interrogated and displaced Topics include race and gender based investigations into the textual representation of death imaginative constructions and reconstructions of social practice with regard to loss and memorialisation and literary reconceptualisations of death forced by personal and national trauma

Death Representations in Literature Adriana Teodorescu, 2015-01-12 If the academic field of death studies is a prosperous one there still seems to be a level of mistrust concerning the capacity of literature to provide socially relevant information about death and to help improve the anthropological understanding of how culture is shaped by the human condition of mortality Furthermore the relationship between literature and death tends to be trivialized in the sense that death representations are interpreted in an over aestheticized manner As such this approach has a propensity to consider death in literature to be significant only for literary studies and gives rise to certain persistent clichés such as the power of literature to annihilate death This volume overcomes such stereotypes and reveals the great potential of literary studies to provide fresh and accurate ways of interrogating death as a steady and unavoidable human reality and as an ever continuing socio cultural construction The volume brings together researchers from various countries the USA the UK France Poland New Zealand Canada India Germany Greece and Romania with different academic backgrounds in fields as diverse as literature art history social studies criminology musicology and cultural studies and provides answers to questions such as What are the features of death representations in certain literary genres Is it possible to speak of an homogeneous vision of death in the case of some literary movements How do writers perceive imagine and describe their death through their personal diaries or how do they metabolize the death of the significant others through their writings To what extent does the literary representation of death refer to the extra fictional socio historically constructed Death Is it moral to represent death in children's literature What are the differences and similarities between representing death in literature and death representations in other connected fields Are metaphors and literary representations of death forms of death denial or on the contrary a more insightful way of capturing the meaning of death

Death, Emotion and Childhood in Premodern Europe Katie Barclay, Kimberley Reynolds, Ciara Rawnsley, 2017-02-06 This book draws on original material and approaches from the developing fields of the history of emotions and childhood studies and brings together scholars from history literature and cultural studies to reappraise how the early modern world reacted to the deaths of children Child death was the great equaliser of the early modern period affecting people of all ages and conditions It is well recognised that the deaths of children struck at the heart of early modern families yet less known is the variety of ways that not only parents but siblings communities and even nations responded to childhood death The contributors to this volume ask what emotional responses to child death tell us about childhood and the place of children in society Placing children and their voices at the heart of this investigation they track how emotional norms values and practices shifted across the fifteenth to nineteenth centuries through different religious legal and national traditions This collection demonstrates that child death was not just a family matter but integral to how communities and societies defined themselves Chapter 5 of this book is available open access under a CC BY 4.0 license at link.springer.com

After the Death of Childhood David Buckingham, 2013-06-06 What will be the fate of childhood in the twenty first century Will children increasingly be living media childhoods dominated by the electronic screen Will their growing access to adult media help to abolish the distinctions between childhood and adulthood Or will the advent of new media technologies widen the gaps between the generations still further In this book David Buckingham provides a lucid and accessible overview of recent changes both in childhood and in the media environment He refutes simplistic moral panics about the negative influence of the media and the exaggerated optimism about the electronic generation In the process he points to the challenges that are posed by the proliferation of new technologies the privatization of the media and of public space and the polarization between media rich and media poor He argues that children can no longer be excluded or protected from the adult world of violence commercialism and politics and that new strategies and policies are needed in order to protect their rights as citizens and as consumers Based on extensive research After the Death of Childhood takes a fresh look at well established concerns about the effects of the media on children It offers a challenging and refreshing approach to the perennial concerns of researchers parents educators media producers and policy makers

The Child in Contemporary Latin American Cinema Deborah Martin, 2019-01-04 What is the child for Latin American cinema This book aims to answer that question tracing the common tendencies of the representation of the child in the cinema of Latin American countries and demonstrating the place of the child in the movements genres and styles that have defined that cinema Deborah Martin combines theoretical readings of the child in cinema and culture with discussions of the place of the child in specific national regional and political contexts to develop in depth analyses and establish regional comparisons and trends She pays particular attention to the narrative and stylistic techniques at play in the creation of the child's perspective and to ways in which the presence of the child precipitates experiments with film aesthetics Bringing together fresh readings of well known films with attention to a range of little studied works The Child in Contemporary Latin American Cinema examines films from the recent and contemporary period focussing on topics such as the death of the child in street child films the role of the child in post dictatorship filmmaking and the use of child characters to challenge gender and sexual ideologies The book also aims to place those analyses in a historical context tracing links with important precursors and paying attention to the legacy of the child's figuring in the mid century movements of melodrama and the New Latin American Cinema Death, Gender and Sexuality in Contemporary Adolescent Literature Kathryn

James, 2009-02-10 Considering the trope of woman death the eroticizing of death and the ways in which the gendered subject is represented in dialogue with the processes of death dying and grief James shows how representations of death in young adult literature are invariably associated with issues of sexuality gender and power Global Perspectives on Death in Children's Literature Lesley Clement, Leyli Jamali, 2015-07-30 This volume visits death in children's literature from around the world making a substantial contribution to the dialogue between the expanding fields of Childhood Studies Children's Literature and Death Studies Considering both textual and pictorial representations of death contributors focus on the topic of death in children's literature as a physical reality a philosophical concept a psychologically challenging adjustment and or a social construct Essays covering literature from the US Mexico El Salvador Guatemala Canada the UK Sweden Germany Poland Bulgaria Brazil Czechoslovakia the Soviet Union India and Iran display a diverse range of theoretical and cultural perspectives Carefully organized sections interrogate how classic texts have been adapted for the twenty first century how death has been politicized ritualized or metaphorized and visual strategies for representing death and how death has been represented within the context of play Asking how different cultures present the concept of death to children this volume is the first to bring together a global range of perspective on death in children's literature and will be a valuable contribution to an array of disciplines

Re-Imaging Death and Dying , 2020-09-25 The 6th Global Conference Making Sense of Dying and Death held in Salzburg Austria in October and November 2008 is a component of the Inter Disciplinary Net s Probing the Boundaries project The project s purpose is to create working encounter groups between people of differing perspectives disciplines professions vocations and contexts A Children of Wrath: Possession, Prophecy and the Young in Early Modern England Anna French, 2016-05-23 The spiritual status of the early modern child was often confused and uncertain and yet in the wake of the English Reformation became an issue of urgent interest This book explores questions surrounding early modern childhood focusing especially on some of the extreme religious experiences in which children are documented those of demonic possession and godly prophecy Dr French argues that despite the fact that these occurrences were not typical childhood experiences they provide us with a window through which to glimpse the world of early modern children The work introduces its readers to the dualistic nature of early modern perceptions of their young they were seen to be both close to devilish temptations and to God's divine finger as illustrated by published accounts of possession and prophecy These cases reveal to us moments in which children could be granted authority or in which writers and publishers framed children in positions of spiritual agency This can tell us much about how early modern society perceived imagined and depicted their young and helps us to revise the notion that early modern children's lives which were often fleeting may have gone unregarded Both contributing to and informed by some of the most recent historiographical directions taken by early modern history this book engages with three key areas the history of extreme spiritual experience such as demonic possession the lived experience of early modern religion and the history of childhood In this way it offers the first scholarly exploration of the dialogue between these three areas of current and widespread historical interest which have perhaps surprisingly not yet been considered together
