Reproductive Rights And Wrongs The Global Politics Of Population Control:

Reproductive Rights and Wrongs Betsy Hartmann, 1995 With a new introduction this fully revised edition of a feminist classic reveals the dangers of contemporary population control tactics especially as they affect women in developing countries

Reproductive Rights and Wrongs Betsy Hartmann, 1987 Looks at government population policies in the U S China and South America discusses family planning contraception and sterilization and examines the political economic and social consequences

Reproductive Freedom, Torture and International Human Rights Ronli Sifris, 2013-12-13 This book contributes to a feminist understanding of international human rights by examining restrictions on reproductive freedom through the lens of the right to be free from torture and other cruel inhuman or degrading treatment Ronli Sifris challenges the view that torture only takes place within the traditional paradigm of interrogation punishment or intimidation of a detainee arguing that this traditional construction of the concept of torture prioritises the experiences of men over the experiences of women given that the pain and suffering from which women disproportionately suffer frequently occurs outside of this context She does this by conceptualising restrictions on women's reproductive freedom within the framework of the right to be free from torture The book considers the gendered nature of international law and the gender dimensions of the right to be free from torture It examines the extension of the prohibition of torture to encompass situations beyond the traditional detainee context in recent years to encompass situations such as rape and female genital mutilation It goes on to explore in detail whether denying access to abortion and involuntary sterilization constitutes torture or other cruel inhuman or degrading treatment under international law The book looks at whether limitations on reproductive freedom meet the determining criteria of torture which are severe pain or suffering being intentionally inflicted being based on discrimination linked in some way to a State official whether they constitute lawful sanctions and the importance of the concept of powerlessness In doing so the book also highlights how this right may be applicable to other gender based abuses including female genital mutilation and how this right may be universally applied to allow women worldwide the right to reproductive freedom

Reproductive Politics and the Making of Modern India Mytheli Sreenivas, 2021-06-04 Finalist for the inaugural ACLS Open Access Book Prize Calculating the cost of life in a transnational context Beginning in the late nineteenth century India played a pivotal role in global conversations about population and reproduction In Reproductive Politics and the Making of Modern India Mytheli Sreenivas demonstrates how colonial administrators postcolonial development experts nationalists eugenicists feminists and family planners all aimed to reform reproduction to transform both individual bodies and the body politic Across the political spectrum people insisted that regulating reproduction was necessary and that limiting the population was essential to economic development This book investigates the often devastating implications of this logic which demonized some women's reproduction as the cause of national and planetary catastrophe To tell this story Sreenivas explores debates about marriage family and contraception She also demonstrates how concerns about reproduction surfaced within a range of political questions about poverty and crises of subsistence migration and claims of national sovereignty normative heterosexuality and drives for economic development Locating India at the center of transnational historical change this book suggests that Indian developments produced the very grounds over which reproduction was called into question in the modern world The open access edition of Reproductive Politics and the Making of Modern India is freely available thanks to the TOME initiative and the generous support of The Ohio State University Libraries DOI 10.6069/9780295748856

Problem of Great Importance Karl Ittmann, 2013-09-29 This volume examines the significant role population science played in British colonial policy in the twentieth century as the imperial state attempted to control colonial populations using new agricultural and public health policies private family planning initiatives and by imposing limits over migration and settlement A Problem of Great Importance traces British imperial efforts to engage metropolitan activists who could improve its knowledge of colonial demography and design programs to influence colonial population trends While imperial population control failed to achieve its goals British institutions and experts would be central to the development of postcolonial population programs Researchers scholars and historians of British history will gain greater perspective into the effects of demography on imperial governance and colonial and postcolonial British views of their place in the world

Feminist Perspectives on Sustainable Development Wendy Harcourt, 1994 This collection captures the vitality and urgency of feminists responses to the environment and development debate The authors researchers activists and policy makers from North and South offer new ways of challenging the present dominating knowledge systems and development institutions and discuss the difficulties women face on the margins of the development process Contributions on resource management power knowledge production culture development institutions and politics health and economics show how gender relations are not simply a footnote to our understanding of history and societies but must be central to the development discourse In so doing they suggest that diversity itself is necessary to the creation of new paradigms of development that are built upon gender equity secure livelihoods ecological sustainability and political participation

Health Policy in a Globalising World Kelley Lee, Kent Buse, Suzanne Fustukian, 2002-08-08 Increasing recognition of the impact that globalisation may be having on public health has led to widespread concern about the risks arising from emerging and re-emerging diseases environmental degradation and demographic change This book argues that health policy making is being affected by globalisation and that these effects are in turn contributing to the kind of global health issues being faced today The book explores how the actors context processes and content of health policy are changing as a result of globalisation raising concerns about growing differences in who can influence health policy what priorities are set what interventions are deemed appropriate and ultimately who enjoys good and bad health Bringing together a distinguished international group of contributors this book covers a comprehensive range of topics and geographic regions and will be invaluable for all those interested in health social and public policy and globalisation

The Postcolonial Science and Technology Studies Reader Sandra Harding,2011-09-12 A collection of foundational and contemporary essays in postcolonial science studies

Participation, Representation and Global Civil Society Jane W. Muthumbi,2010-03-18 This book focuses on religious fundamentalists mobilization efforts against abortion in three United Nations Conferences Using U S Christian and Egyptian Islamic fundamentalist groups as empirical cases this account highlights these groups efforts against the adoption of abortion in the 1984 Mexico Conference on Population the 1994 Cairo conference on Population and the1995 Beijing Conference on Women The account which examines Northern U S Christian and Southern Egyptian Islamists anti abortion networks participation and representation within these forums provides a unique glimpse into their engagement within international institutions It also explores whether Northern and Southern groups growing involvement in decision making processes has lessened the inequality that historically characterized North South relations in the international arena and compares the strategies and tactics used by these groups as they attempted to influence the debate on reproductive rights within the conferences PrepComs regional forums NGO Forums and the state dominated plenary sessions It also assesses the extent to which these entities were effective in influencing outcomes in these arenas and comments on North South relations in a contemporary context Information on these groups was obtained from interviews with leaders of the U S Christian and Egyptian Islamic fundamentalist groups as well as secondary sources and official U N documents

Population, Gender and Politics Roger Jeffery,Patricia Jeffery,1997-07-13 Roger and Patricia Jeffery are well known for their work on religion and gender in South Asia In their latest book a study of the demographic processes of two castes in rural north India they ask why fertility levels are higher among the Muslim Sheikhs than the Hindu Jats They conclude that explanations can only partially be attributed to gender relationships and religion and it is the economic and political interests of both groups which are the defining factors Their marginal economic position provides little incentive for the Sheikhs to raise small families while the Jats who are locally dominant are encouraged to use birth control and educate their children The authors go on to demonstrate the significance of this analysis for a wider understanding of the problems of population and politics in India generally The book will be invaluable for students of South Asia and for anyone interested in the demography of developing countries

Women, Families, and Feminist Politics J Dianne Garner,Suzanne Cherrin,2014-07-16 Women and their roles within families must be understood within the context of ethnic traditions religion and culture Women Families and Feminist Politics A Global

Exploration combines all of these aspects to evaluate the similarities and differences of women around the world. Readers will learn about diverse theories relating to women and their familial roles, the different categories of feminism, and how cultures and ethnic traditions shape and sometimes restrict a woman's identity. Using feminist and sociocultural theories to critically examine the role of adult women within their families, Women, Families, and Feminist Politics offers ideas and suggestions on what has to be done in order for all of women's experiences and concerns to be valued and looked upon as important. In addition to providing you with an understanding of how customs and cultures contribute to societal standards set for women, Women, Families, and Feminist Politics discusses several factors that contribute to the formation of women's roles and identity, including the economic situation of the family and the country in which the woman lives, a developed or developing country, cultural diversity in monogamous heterosexual marriage relations, and specific marriage traditions such as dowries, family structures such as nonnuclear, extended, polygamous, mixed religion relationships, mixed race relationships, or same sex relationships, reproduction and sexual standards in relation to religion, government policies, and world population, gender equity in the workplace, and programs for women in global development, the health care needs of women, and how they vary depending on culture, political philosophies, and resources. Women, Families, and Feminist Politics looks at the daily challenges and concerns of adult women within the context of family to help you understand the different needs of women in relation to their culture and ethnic background. Focusing on the importance of views concerning the meaning of women's social status, power, and success, Women, Families, and Feminist Politics contains case studies and statistical data that identify critical issues pertaining to you personally and to all women throughout the world. By understanding how women's families help shape their identities, you will be able to learn about the vast experiences of women and the inequalities we have yet to overcome.

Systemic Crises of Global Climate Change Phoebe Godfrey, Denise Torres, 2016-04-14

Sociological literature tends to view the social categories of race, class, and gender as distinct and has avoided discussing how multiple intersections inform and contribute to experiences of injustice and inequity. This limited focus is clearly inadequate. Systemic Crises of Global Climate Change is an edited volume of 49 international interdisciplinary contributions addressing global climate change (GCC) by intentionally engaging with the issues of race, gender, and class through an intersectional lens. The volume challenges and inspires readers to foster new theoretical and practical linkages and think beyond the traditional and oftentimes reductionist environmental science frame by examining issues within their turbulent political, cultural, and personal landscapes. Varied media and writing styles invite students and educators to reflexively engage different yet complementary approaches to GCC analysis and interpretation, mirroring the disparate voices and viewpoints within the field. The second volume, Emergent Possibilities for Sustainability, will take a similar approach but will examine the possibilities for solutions as in the quest for global sustainability. This book is a valuable resource for academics, researchers, and both undergraduate and post graduate students in the areas of Environmental Studies Climate Change Gender Studies and International studies as well as those seeking a more intersectional analysis of GCC Legal Thoughts between the East and the West in the Multilevel Legal Order Chang-fa Lo,Nigel N.T. Li,Tsai-yu Lin,2016-11-11 This book focuses on the interaction and mutual influences between the East and the West in terms of their legal systems and practices In this regard it highlights Professor Herbert H P Ma s achievements and his efforts to bring Eastern and Western legal concepts and systems closer together The book shows that while there have been convergences between different legal regimes in many fields of law diverse legal practices and approaches rooted in differing cultural social political and philosophical backgrounds do remain and that these differences are not necessarily negative elements in the contemporary legal order By examining different levels of the legal order including domestic regional and multilateral it goes on to argue that identifying these diversities and addressing the interactions and mutual influences between different regimes is a worthwhile undertaking not only in terms of mutual enrichment but also with regard to intensifying the degree of desirable coordination between different legal systems All chapters were written by leading experts practitioners and scholars from different jurisdictions with expertise in various fields of law and different levels of the legal order and discuss a number of issues with particular focus on either one way or mutual influences between the Eastern and the Western legal systems practices and philosophies

The Politics of Replacement Sarah Bracke,Luis Manuel Hernández Aguilar,2023-12-01 The Politics of Replacement explores current demographic conspiracy theories and their entanglement with different forms of racism and exclusionary politics such as sexism The book focuses on population replacement conspiracy theories that is those imaginaries and discourses centered on the idea that the national population is under threat of being overtaken or even wiped out by those considered as alien to the nation and that this is the result of concerted efforts by elites Replacement conspiracy theories are on the rise again from Eurabia fantasies to Renaud Camus The Great Replacement white supremacist discourses are thriving and increasingly broadcasting in mainstream venues To account for their rise and spread this edited volume brings together research on various dimensions of population replacement conspiracy theories different theoretical and methodological approaches different social scientific and humanities inter disciplinary backgrounds different geographical case studies across Europe North America Southeast Asia and Oceania different time periods medieval archives colonial archives Nazi archives postcolonial migrations post 9 11 and different forms of racialization and racisms Islamophobia antisemitism racism against migrants and refugees It also explores the entanglement of population replacement discourse with gendered violence The book is organized into four sections 1 exploring the historical background of the current rise of demographic conspiracy theories 2 tracing the neoliberal governmentalities in and through which replacement discourse operates 3 analyzing the particularly intense focus on the threat of Muslims in contemporary replacement conspiracy theories and 4 investigating the connection between replacement conspiracies gender and violence This title is essential reading for scholars journalists and activists interested in the contemporary far right conspiracy theories and racisms

The Routledge Companion to Bioethics John D. Arras, Elizabeth Fenton, Rebecca Kukla, 2014-12-05 The Routledge Companion to Bioethics is a comprehensive reference guide to a wide range of contemporary concerns in bioethics The volume orients the reader in a changing landscape shaped by globalization health disparities and rapidly advancing technologies Bioethics has begun a turn toward a systematic concern with social justice population health and public policy While also covering more traditional topics this volume fully captures this recent shift and foreshadows the resulting developments in bioethics It highlights emerging issues such as climate change transgender and medical tourism and re examines enduring topics such as autonomy end of life care and resource allocation

Pragmatic Women and Body Politics Margaret Lock, Patricia Alice Kaufert, 1998-01-29 This thought provoking volume compares the responses of women in a variety of countries and cultural settings to modern medical technologies The contributors describe how women in East Africa deal with infertility how American women respond to pre natal diagnostic screening how women in China and Japan choose to make use of reproductive technologies The essays also explore wider themes such as the emergence of the breast cancer movement and how women confront environmental hazards which threaten them and their families It is often assumed that women are passive in the face of biomedical technology but this book shows that they make pragmatic choices with responses ranging from acceptance to rejection or indifference The reception of biomedical technology is situated in its local cultural contexts and vital issues of women s health are related to political and ethnic concerns

Reproducing Inequities M. Catherine Maternowska, 2006 In Reproducing Inequities M Catherine Maternowska argues that we too easily overlook the political dynamics that shape choices about family planning Through a detailed study of the attempt to provide modern contraception in the community of Cit Soleil Maternowska demonstrates the complex interplay between local and global politics that so often thwarts well intended policy initiatives
