Republic Of Kazakstan Transition Of The State:

Kazakhstan Sally N. Cummings,2002-10-01 Kazakhstan is the largest state in Central Asia Rich in oil gas and other natural resources and sandwiched between China and Russia it occupies a key geopolitical position the importance of which was further heightened following the attacks of 9 11 and subsequent wars in the wider Middle East But Kazakhstan was born by default gaining independence only reluctantly as the Soviet Union collapsed Its political elite facing complex tasks of state building also lacked a monoethnic base on which to build its legitimacy Based on original material and extensive interviews in the capital and three of the country s regions the book places the elite in the country s broader institutional and historical context analysing their identity behaviour and how they gained and secured power in the early independence years Kazakhstan Power and the Elite is essential reading for all those interested in the history politics and international relations of this fascinating country Kazakhstan's Developmental Journey Anastasia Koulouri,Nikolai Mouraviev,2020-09-17 This book discusses Kazakhstan s transitioning trajectory to a market economy since it declared its independence from the Soviet Union in 1991 It analyses the evolution of key policy areas and sectors through the lens of policy development and implementation and evaluates their suitability in pursuing the country s strategic objectives Topics include policy initiatives for economic development new policy paradigms in public service delivery and infrastructure improvement and water energy food WEF nexus thinking in governing the WEF sectors The book argues that policies developed in the 1990s and 2000s have so far served the nation s needs Nevertheless as Kazakhstan seeks to achieve a competitive edge worldwide many of these policies would require adjustment or a paradigm shift Providing a unique outlook on policy and governance this book will appeal to scholars students and practitioners involved with Kazakhstan and Central Asia and interested in the transformation of ex Soviet nations their policy and sustainable development The Politics of Transition in Central Asia and the Caucasus Amanda E Wooden,Christoph H. Stefes,2009-06-08 Most books on the Caucasus and Central Asia are country by country studies This book on the other hand fills a gap in Central Eurasian studies as one of the few comparative case study books on Central Eurasia covering both the Caucasus and Central Asia it considers key themes right across the two regions highlighting both political change and continuity Comparative case study chapters written by regional experts from a variety of methodological backgrounds provide historical context and evaluate Soviet political legacies and emerging policy outcomes Key topics include the varied types and sources of authoritarianism political opposition and protest politics predetermined outcomes of post Soviet economic choices social and stability impacts of natural resource wealth variations in educational reform international norm influence on gender policy and the power of human rights activists Overall the book provides a thorough up to date overview of what is increasingly becoming a significant area of concern Technological Horizons of Decarbonization Based on Environmental Innovations Elena G. Popkova,2025-08-02 This book highlights the technological horizons of decarbonization in the digital economy based on environmental innovations It reveals the advantages of digital technologies and innovations for decarbonization and identifies the industry features of decarbonization based on digital technologies and innovations The book describes in detail and discusses the international experience of decarbonization of the economy with the use of digital technologies and innovations A set of authors recommendations has been developed to unlock the potential of decarbonization based on digital technologies and innovations Applied solutions for the use of digital technologies and innovations in the interests of decarbonization have also been proposed Cities and Local Governments in Central Asia Madina Junussova,2020-02-28 This book presents the changing roles of urban governments and how local governments struggle to gain administrative fiscal and political power to combat current urban challenges in Kazakhstan Focusing on the cities and regions selected by the national government of Kazakhstan to be the drivers of national economic development the author analyses the impact of decentralization on the role of local governments The book examines the practical experiences of city and regional governments with an emphasis on urban planning public investment in national projects and management of urban transport Due to the complexity and irregular distribution of political reforms at different levels of local government in Kazakhstan three separate studies are presented each looking at a specific aspect of decentralization reform and local government function related to physical urban development and distribution of public investment The author argues that if the national government of Kazakhstan wants to concentrate economic resources in urban agglomerations it is not enough to assume that local governments are ready to play the role of efficient planners and managers of urban development A useful analysis illustrating cities and urban conglomerations as engines of growth in economic development this book will be of interest to academics studying Central Asian Studies in particular political and economic development Development Studies and Urban Studies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Environment in Times of War Aldo Ferrari, Eleonora Tafuro

Ambrosetti,2022-07-27 The impact of Russia's war against Ukraine has been devastating both politically and environmentally On top of the environmental damage directly caused by military operations the invasion has put an abrupt end to the EU Russia green cooperation which had previously raised many hopes At the same time it has also shifted international attention away from climate and environmental concerns which are particularly acute in the post Soviet region This Report analyses some of the main climate change and environmental issues in the post Soviet space providing an initial assessment of the invasion's impact The bulk of the latest scholarly and policy production on these matters focuses on Russia given the country's geopolitical and energy relevance However this analysis finds that environmental disasters such as the desertification of the Aral Sea transcend state borders and require a broader approach both from an analytic and policy standpoint

Landscape Dynamics of Drylands across Greater Central Asia: People, Societies and Ecosystems Garik Gutman, Jiquan Chen, Geoffrey M. Henebry, Martin Kappas,2020-04-14 This volume is a compilation of studies on interactions of changes in land cover land use and climate with people societies and ecosystems in drylands of Greater Central Asia It explores the effects of collapse of socialist governance and management systems on land use in various parts of Central Asia including former Soviet Union republics Mongolia and northern drylands of China Often regional land atmosphere feedbacks may have large global importance Remote sensing is a primary tool in studying vast dryland territories where in situ observations are sporadic State of the art methods of satellite remote sensing combined with GIS and models are used to tackle science questions and provide an outlook of current changes at land surface and potential scenarios for the future In 10 chapters contributing authors cover topics such as water resources effects of institutional changes on urban centers and agriculture landscape dynamics and the primary drivers of environmental changes in dryland environment Satellite observations that have accumulated during the last five decades provide a rich time series of the dynamic land surface enabling systematic analysis of changes in land cover and land use from space The book is a truly international effort by a team of scientists from the U S Europe and Central Asia It is directed at the broad science community including graduate students academics and other professionals at all levels within natural and social sciences In particular it will appeal to geographers environmental and social scientists economists agricultural scientists and remote sensing specialists 1993 Patt Leonard, Rebecca Routh, 1996 Journal articles books book chapters book reviews dissertations and selected government publications on East Central Europe and the former Soviet Union published in the United States and Canada CAREC Energy Outlook 2030 Asian Development Bank, 2022-12-01 This report analyzes future energy market options for Central Asia Regional Economic Cooperation CAREC program members It aims to facilitate strategic decisions and sustainable investments in energy infrastructure by equipping investors and policy makers with crucial insights on regional trends It can help identify potential investment opportunities that will improve energy services and reduce carbon emissions across CAREC countries The report provides forecasts at both individual country and regional levels It includes energy supply and demand scenarios assessments of innovative technologies estimates of investment needs in the energy sector and possible trajectories for carbon emissions Ideology, Political Transitions and the City Aleksandra Djurasovic, 2016-06-10 Recent history has seen Bosnian and Herzegovinian BiH cities undergoing several transitions Their cities have developed under socialism 1945 1992 have suffered through the civil war during the 1990s and during the last twenty years have been undergoing a slow and multifaceted transition to an indeterminate end point Focusing on the post socialist postwar and neoliberal transitions experienced in BiH the book shows that planning systems deviated from control oriented and top down regulation to flexible approaches for more open for informal development The book analyzes several levels of planning related processes the former Yugoslavia BiH the city of Mostar and three urban zones the Industrial Zone Bi e Polje the City Zone Rondo and the Historic District and the Old Town Zone in order to offer insights into the new planning systems in the late phase of post socialist transition FBIS Report , 1991 Energy, Wealth and Governance in the Caucasus and

Central Asia Richard Auty, Indra de Soysa, 2006-08-21 Drawing upon recent progress in development economics and political science the book provides fresh analysis of the Caucasus and Central Asia CCA countries transition to a market economy by tracing the impact of natural resource endowment The book examines the synergies between energy rich and energy poor states and highlights the practical consequences of both well managed and poorly managed deployment of energy Featuring contributions from prominent specialists on resource driven economies the book argues that unless CCA elites change the way in which they deploy natural resource revenues regional development will fall short of its potential with possible disastrous consequences The contributors apply the experience of the developing market economies to demonstrate that the region still holds considerable potential to become an important stable supplier of raw materials and a source of industrial demand to the global economy However the CCA is equally likely to become a threat to the global economy as a consequence of the misuse of energy revenues to promote the interests of predatory political elites The Reform of Teacher Education in the Post-Soviet Space Ian Menter, 2024-08-06 This book draws on scholarly expertise across the former Soviet Union to provide a comparative analysis of the policies and practices that are discussed within the context of global reform of teacher education Divided into three parts chapters of this book discuss the context behind economic and political reform across the former Soviet Union and the resulting change that has occurred within teacher education systems within the 15 republics that now exist in this post Soviet space Offering a complex and nuanced account of vernacular globalisation the book discusses the significant contribution that teacher education can make to the process of nationbuilding In doing so this truly international volume offers fresh insights and original perspectives on this dynamic educational landscape Being the first comprehensive account of reforms in all 15 nations that emerged in the post Soviet world this book will be of interest to students scholars and academics in the fields of teacher education international and comparative education and education policy and politics It should also be of relevance to teacher educators and policymakers around the world more broadly

Oil Is Not a Curse Pauline Jones Luong,Erika Weinthal,2010-08-23 This book makes two central claims first that mineral rich states are cursed not by their wealth but rather by the ownership structure they choose to manage their mineral wealth and second that weak institutions are not inevitable in mineral rich states Each represents a significant departure from the conventional resource curse literature which has treated ownership structure as a constant across time and space and has presumed that mineral rich countries are incapable of either building or sustaining strong institutions particularly fiscal regimes The experience of the five petroleum rich Soviet successor states Azerbaijan Kazakhstan the Russian Federation Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan provides a clear challenge to both of these assumptions Their respective developmental trajectories since independence demonstrate not only that ownership structure can vary even across countries that share the same institutional legacy but also that this variation helps to explain the divergence in their subsequent fiscal regimes
