Research Methods for the Social Sciences Jerry Wellington, Marcin Szczerbinski, 2007-10-18

The aim of this book is to provide an introductory but not simplistic guide to research in the social and behavioural sciences. The book sets out to tackle difficult issues and concepts in a scholarly but accessible manner providing ample guidance and signposts to further reading. We explore a wide range of questions about research and research methods including: What counts as good research? Research approaches, paradigms, methods and methodology: what are they and what is the difference? What is the so-called qualitative/quantitative divide? When and where is quantitative research indispensable? If one suggests that research should be scientific, what does that mean? What methods and methodologies are used in social research? What is the role of statistics in social and behavioural research? How should statistical evidence be interpreted? What are the ways in which research can and should be disseminated and presented? This book is aimed as much at the reflective researching professional as for the professional researcher.

The SAGE Encyclopedia of Social Science Research Methods Michael Lewis-Beck, Alan E Bryman, Tim Futing Liao, 2004

This defining work will be valuable to readers and researchers in social sciences and humanities at all academic levels. As a teaching resource it will be useful to instructors and students alike and will become a standard reference source. Essential for general and academic collections. CHOICE: Appreciative users of this volume will be students, faculty and researchers in academic special and large public libraries for whom it is recommended. LIBRARY JOURNALS: SAGE Reference is proud to announce The SAGE Encyclopedia of Social Science Research Methods, a three-volume resource that is a first of its kind developed by the leading publisher of social science research methods books and journals. This unique multi-volume reference set offers readers an all-encompassing education in the ways of social science researchers. Written to be accessible to general readers, entries do not require any advanced knowledge or experience to understand the purposes and basic principles of any of the methods. The Encyclopedia features two major types of entries: definitions consisting of a paragraph or two provide a quick explanation of a methodological term and topical treatments or essays discussing the nature, history, application, example and implication of using a certain method. Also included are suggested readings and references for future study. To help provide a more complete explanation than is often achieved within the scope of a single article, key terms and concepts appear in SMALL CAPITAL LETTERS to refer readers to related terms explained elsewhere. In addition to epistemological issues that influence the nature of research questions and assumptions, The SAGE Encyclopedia of Social Science Research Methods tackles topics not normally viewed as part of social science research methodology from philosophical issues such as poststructuralism to advanced statistical techniques. In covering the full range of qualitative and quantitative data analyses, this key reference offers an integrated approach that allows the reader to choose the most appropriate and robust techniques to apply to each situation. Many entries treat traditional topics in a novel way stimulating both interest and new perspectives One example is the entry Econometrics by Professor Damodar Gujarati Following a process which many educators preach but seldom practice Gujarati walks the reader twice through the research process from economic theory to data and models to analysis once in principle and a second time with an example In using the ordinary process of economic research to achieve an extraordinary impact he leaves the reader thinking not only about methods and models but also the fundamental purpose of econometrics Topics Covered Analysis of Variance Association and Correlation Basic Qualitative Research Basic Statistics Causal Modeling Structural Equations Discourse Conversation Analysis Econometrics Epistemology Ethnography Evaluation Event History Analysis Experimental Design Factor Analysis Related Techniques Feminist Methodology Generalized Linear Models Historical Comparative Interviewing in Qualitative Research Latent Variable Model Life History Biography Loglinear Models Categorical Dependent Variables Longitudinal Analysis Mathematics and Formal Models Measurement Level Measurement Testing Classification Multiple Regression Multilevel Analysis Qualitative Data Analysis Sampling in Surveys Sampling in Qualitative Research Scaling Significance Testing Simple Regression Survey Design Time Series Key Features Over 900 entries arranged A to Z Each entry is written by a leading authority in the field covering both quantitative and qualitative methods Covers all disciplines within the social sciences Contains both concise definitions and in depth essays Three volumes and more than 1500 pages

Doing research is an ever changing challenge for social scientists This challenge is harder than ever today as current societies are changing quickly and in many sometimes conflicting directions Social phenomena personal interactions and formal and informal relationships are becoming more borderless and disconnected from the anchors of the offline reality These dynamics are heavily marking our time and are suggesting evolutionary challenges in the ways we know interpret and analyze the world Internet and computer mediated communication CMC is being incorporated into every aspect of daily life and social life has been deeply penetrated by the internet This is due to recent technological developments that increase the scope and range of online social spaces and the forms and time of participation such as Web 2 0 which widened the opportunities for user generated content the emergence of an internet of things and of ubiquitous mobile devices that make it possible to always be connected This implies an adjustment to epistemological and methodological stances for conducting social research and an adaption of traditional social research methods to the specificities of online interactions in the digital society The Handbook of Research on Advanced Research Methodologies for a Digital Society covers the different strands of methods most affected by the change in a digital society and develops a broader theoretical reflection on the future of social research in its challenge to always be fitting suitable adaptable and pertinent to the society to be studied The chapters are geared towards unlocking the future frontiers and potential for social research in the digital society They include theoretical epistemological and ontological reflections about the digital research methods as well as innovative methods and tools to collect analyze and interpret data This book is ideal for social scientists practitioners librarians researchers academicians and students interested in social research methodology and its developments in the digital scenario Teaching Research Methods in the Social Sciences Dr Claire Wagner, Dr Mark Garner, Ms Barbara Kawulich, 2012-12-28 How can excellence in the teaching of research methods be encouraged and ensured This question has become increasingly important following the adoption of research methodology as a core part of many postgraduate and undergraduate courses There has however been little discussion about the aims and methods of teaching the subject In this volume a number of authors from a variety of countries and disciplines employ their knowledge and experience towards the development of a pedagogical culture in research methods Their aim is to establish the extent of common concerns and challenges and to demonstrate ways in which these are being met Intended to provide both a stimulus and source materials for the development of a more substantial and systematic literature in the field the book will be of great interest to all those teaching research methods courses within social science disciplines Mass Communication Research Methods Anders Hansen, 1998-06 Mass Communication
