The Power to Choose Naila Kabeer,2020-05-05 In this path breaking study social economist Naila Kabeer examines the lives of Bangladeshi garment workers in Bangladesh and Britain to shed light on the question of what constitutes fair competition in international trade She argues that if the unhealthy coalition of multinationals and labor movements is truly seeking to improve the working conditions for women and children in the Third World as well as those of western workers their efforts should be directed away from an attempt to impose labor standards and towards a support for the organization of labor rights Any attempt to devise acceptable labor standards at an international level which takes no account of the forces of inclusion and exclusion with local labor movements is she further argues likely to represent the interests of the powerful at the expense of those of the weak

Children: Noble Causes or Worthy Citizens? Karl Eric Knutsson,2017-07-05 Since the International Year of the Child in 1979 advocacy for children has intensified The Convention on the Rights of the Child has propelled this advocacy decisively into the midst of the political debate over human rights Attempts to construct and support the theoretical and empirical underpinnings for a fresh approach to children and childhood are also intensifying Nonetheless policies targeted at children continue to suffer from pervasive theoretical weaknesses This is persistently constraining appropriate action This book argues that for both theoretical and practical reasons children need to be understood in their own right It asks fundamental questions about the perceptions we have of children and childhood and about the ways these perceptions emerge to influence and shape our assumptions preferences and choices concerning children It tries to deepen understanding and interest by clarifying the theoretical ethical and pragmatic reasons for transforming the political neglect of children into recognition and action The book is divided into two parts The first part examines cultural and social variations in perceptions concerning children and the second part draws conclusions from the analysis It concludes by proposing practical lessons which may be learned from the debate about children

The Government of Chronic Poverty Sam Hickey,2013-10-31 What are the underlying causes of chronic poverty Can development beyond neoliberalism offer the strategies required to challenge such persistent forms of poverty particularly through efforts to promote citizenship amongst poor people Drawing on case study evidence from Africa Latin America and South Asia the contributions critically examine different attempts to govern chronic poverty via the promotion of particular forms and notions of citizenship with a specific focus on the role of community based approaches social policy and social movements Poverty is seen here as deriving from underlying patterns of uneven development involving processes of capitalism and state formation that foster inequality generating mechanisms and particularly disadvantaged social categories. Sceptics tend to deride the emphasis under current inclusive forms of Liberalism on tackling poverty through the promotion of citizenship as inevitably depoliticising and disempowering for poor people and our cases do suggest that citizenship based strategies rarely alter the underlying basis of poverty. However our evidence also offers some support to those optimists who suggest that progressive moves towards poverty reduction and citizenship formation have become more rather than less likely at the current juncture. The promotion of citizenship emerges here as a significant but incomplete effort to challenge poverty that persists over time. This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Development Studies.

Children of Other Worlds Jeremy Seabrook, 2001-04-20. More than 40 000 children die daily in the developing world from avoidable sickness and disease. Tens of millions of children labour in mines, mills and sweatshops or scavenge for a living on city streets and dumps. In the so called developed world children's lives are similarly blighted by drugs, alcohol, sexual abuse and violence. Children of the rich are unhealthily obsessed with consumerist desires while children of the poor suffer from lack of opportunity. The global market is responsible for both of these ills. In Children of Other Worlds Jeremy Seabrook examines the international exploitation of children and exposes the hypocrisy, piety and moral blindness that have informed so much of the debate in the West on the rights of the child. Seabrook insists that the whole question of protecting children's rights must take into consideration the structural abuses of humanity that are inherent in globalisation. Anthropology

CHILDHOOD (HUMAN RIGHTS OF SOCIALLY DEPRIVED) Vijay Prakash Sharma, This book is an experiment in understanding ground realities and descriptions of contemporary social problems. Current debates about social and economic human rights emphasize vital economically driven needs for food, shelter, health care and basic education while ignoring equally fundamental needs for socialization, interpersonal caring and meaningful associations. This gives a distorted picture of social and economic human rights and allows the provision of economic needs to be promoted without due attention to the social needs that accompany them. Similarly, debates about civil and political human rights have focused on the rights against torture and cruel, inhumane or degrading treatment while giving little or no attention to the intersection between these exclusions. Social exclusion is a socially constructed concept and can depend on an idea of what is considered normal. The concept of social exclusion is contested in that it is often difficult to objectively identify who is socially excluded as it is a matter of the criteria adopted and the judgments used. The state of Jharkhand is one of the migrating states especially for child laborers. Their labor is unaccountable. They usually suffer from anemia and reproductive infections. One of the main obstacles to tribal development is superstitious beliefs and practices. They think that the diseases, famines, water scarcities, weak crops, the spread of epidemics and premature death etc befall on them only when the evil spirits are angry. Thus the socio economic condition of the tribal is very poor caused by many factors i.e. undulating topography, less cultivable land with no irrigation facilities lack of Govt infrastructure facilities and superstitious beliefs etc Migration and child trafficking must be prevented through the collaborative action of influential members of society and community leaders police personnel media people NGOs working in the field and individuals who are in a professional capacity can influence state legislation to successfully combat trafficking Education with professional technical skills education for income generation activities is needed Migration and child trafficking must be prevented through the collaborative action of influential members of society and community leaders police personnel media people NGOs working in the field and individuals who are in a professional capacity can influence state legislation to successfully combat trafficking Education with professional technical skills education for income generation activities is needed It is occasioned by of complete lack of sources of livelihood It doesn't lead to a better fortune for most of the girls going out of their homes but dark lanes where they are forever lost where their lives end as victims of sexual exploitation in various ways and they fall prey to sexual exploitation in the brothels or outside the brothels This book will be helpful to Administrators Social Scientists journalists and social activists
