Radio Pluralism In West Africa A Survey Conducted By The Panos Institute Paris:

Muslims and New Media in West Africa Dorothea E. Schulz, 2012 Although Islam is not new to West Africa new patterns of domestic economies the promise of political liberalization and the proliferation of new media have led to increased scrutiny of Islam in the public sphere Dorothea E Schulz shows how new media have created religious communities that are far more publicly engaged than they were in the past Muslims and New Media in West Africa expands ideas about religious life in West Africa women's roles in religion religion and popular culture the meaning of religious experience in a charged environment and how those who consume both religion and new media view their public and private selves Negotiating

Democracy Isaac A. Blankson, Patrick Murphy, 2012-02-01 Negotiating Democracy addresses issues that have defined the challenges and consequences of media transformation faced by new and emerging democracies These issues include the dismantling of national broadcasting systems the promotion of private independent and pluralistic media the clash between liberal democratic and authoritarian political traditions negotiations about the appropriate broadcast language and the potential for free press and for freedom of speech The contributors use examples from countries such as Cambodia Bulgaria Iran Nigeria and Taiwan to not only provide detailed analysis of regional and or nation specific cases of media but also to identify transnational patterns that help deepen the understanding of the media's role in globalization The Media of Conflict Tim Allen, Jean Seaton, 1999-03 This book demonstrates how international media coverage of contemporary wars often encourages serious misunderstandings of complex situations The shortage of information and the reporting only of those events easily understood by western audiences compounds misconceptions The contributors are concerned with getting behind ethnic categorizations and examining how they have been constructed from the perspective that ethnicity is essentially a negotiated and relational phenomenon not something static primordial or natural Africa Toyin Falola, Daniel

Jean-Jacques, 2015-12-14 These volumes offer a one stop resource for researching the lives customs and cultures of Africa's nations and peoples Unparalleled in its coverage of contemporary customs in all of Africa this multivolume set is perfect for both high school and public library shelves The three volume encyclopedia will provide readers with an overview of contemporary customs and life in North Africa and sub Saharan Africa through discussions of key concepts and topics that touch everyday life among the nations peoples While this encyclopedia places emphasis on the customs and cultural practices of each state history politics and economics are also addressed Because entries average 14 000 to 15 000 words each contributors are able to expound more extensively on each country than in similar encyclopedic works with shorter entries As a result readers will gain a more complete understanding of what life is like in Africa's 54 nations and territories and will be better able to draw cross cultural comparisons based on their reading Culture and Customs of Mali Dorothea E. Schulz Ph.D., 2012-01-06 Touching on everything from its rich musical heritage to its varied cultural traditions this is a thorough and accessible introduction to the contemporary lives of the different peoples who call Mali their home Rated among the world's ten poorest nations Mali has a glorious past and a less certain present Culture and Customs of Mali touches on the first as background for understanding the second exploring multiple facets of contemporary social life and cultural practices in this landlocked West African nation The book offers an overview of diverse aspects of everyday social cultural and religious life in Mali paying particular attention to regional and ethnic variations It shows how current social conventions and cultural values are the product of a centuries long history while at the same time dispels the common perception that African societies are rooted in unchanging tradition Readers will come away with a better understanding of the multiple ways in which Malians starting from their own customs and cultural foundations integrate themselves into an international economic order and a globalized world of shared media images and cultural practices

Tiger in an African palace, and other thoughts about identification and transformation Richard Fardon, 2014-06-13 Tiger in an African palace collects eight essays about kinship and belonging that Richard Fardon wrote to complement his monographs on West Africa The essays extend those book length descriptions by pursuing their wider implications for theory in social anthropology exploring the relationship between comparison and historical reconstruction and questioning the fit between personal ethnic and cosmopolitan identities in contemporary West African nations In an Introduction written specially for this Langaa collection Richard Fardon retraces the career long development of his preoccupation with concepts of identification and transformation and their relevance to understanding West African societies comparatively and historically Radio Pluralism in West Africa, African Media, African Children Norma Odom Pecora, Enyonam Osei-Hwere, Ulla Carlsson, 2008 African Media African Children is the title of the tenth Yearbook of the International Clearinghouse on Children Youth and Media. Over the years we have focused attention on a wide range of topics but this is the first Yearbook with a geographical focus and a vast continent at that. A focus on Africa seems both timely and important. When issues about children and media are discussed all too often the frame of reference is the media culture of the Western world. There is an urgent need for the agenda to become open to non Western thoughts and intercultural approaches to a much higher degree than is the case at present. The essays in this volume reflect a wide range of issues and concerns related to children's media culture in Africa. For example several address the role of entertainment television in Addis Abba, Ghana, South Africa, Kenya and Zambia and in the lives of Muslim children. Other essays introduce us to children centered media from Ghana, South Africa and Zimbabwe and the innovative programs of PLAN International. In addition to entertainment media and children centered media media education and digital media literacy are also discussed. Publisher website.

Joint Acquisitions List of Africana, 1996 Media, Peace and Democracy, 1995 Part I of the study covers a survey conducted among 31 media organizations in Senegal, Mali, Burkina Faso, Niger, Ghana, Benin and Chad. Part II consists of case studies in Benin, Mali, Niger, Senegal and Burkina Faso. The five major themes selected for the questionnaire were inter ethnic relations, religious tolerance, social information, human rights, stricto sensu and the minority groups.
