Modernismo, Modernity and the Development of Spanish American Literature

Cathy L. Jrade, 2010-01-01 A CHOICE Outstanding Academic Book Modernismo arose in Spanish American literature as a confrontation with and a response to modernizing forces that were transforming Spanish American society in the later nineteenth century In this book Cathy L Jrade undertakes a full exploration of the modernista project and shows how it provided a foundation for trends and movements that have continued to shape literary production in Spanish America throughout the twentieth century Jrade opens with a systematic consideration of the development of modernismo and then proceeds with detailed analyses of works poetry narrative and essays that typified and altered the movement's course In this way she situates the writing of key authors such as Rubén Darío José Martí and Leopoldo Lugones within the overall modernista project and traces modernismo's influence on subsequent generations of writers Jrade's analysis reclaims the power of the visionary stance taken by these creative intellectuals She firmly abolishes any lingering tendency to associate modernismo with affectation and effete elegance revealing instead how the modernistas new literary language expressed their profound political and epistemological concerns

Reading and Writing the Ambiente

Susana Chávez-Silverman, Librada Hernández, 2000 In this dynamic collection of essays many leading literary scholars trace gay and lesbian themes in Latin American Hispanic and U.S. Latino literary and cultural texts Reading and Writing the Ambiente is consciously ambitious and far ranging historically as well as geographically It includes discussions of texts from as early as the seventeenth century to writings of the late twentieth century Reading and Writing the Ambiente also underscores the ways in which lesbian and gay self representation in Hispanic texts differs from representations in Anglo American texts The contributors demonstrate that unlike the emphasis on the individual in Anglo American sexual identity Latino Spanish and Latin American sexual identity is produced in the surrounding culture and community in the ambiente As one of the first collections of its kind Reading and Writing the Ambiente is expressive of the next wave of gay Hispanic and Latin scholarship Drowned Muse Anne-Gaëlle Saliot, 2015-09-10 The Drowned Muse is a study of the extraordinary destiny in the history of European culture of an object which could seem at first glance quite ordinary in the history of European culture. It tells the story of a mask the cast of a young girl's face entitled L'Inconnue de la Seine the Unknown Woman of the Seine and its subsequent metamorphoses as a cultural figure. Legend has it that the Inconnue drowned herself in Paris at the end of the nineteenth century. The forensic scientist tending to her unidentified corpse at the Paris Morgue was supposedly so struck by her allure that he captured in plaster the contours of her face. This unknown girl also referred to as The Mona Lisa of Suicide has since become the object of an obsessive interest that started in the late 1890s, reached its peak in the 1930s and continues to reverberate today. Aby Warburg defines art history as a ghost story for grown ups. This study is similarly a ghost story for grown ups narrating the aura of a cultural object that crosses temporal, geographical and linguistic frontiers. It views the Inconnue as a symptomatic expression of a modern world haunted by the earlier modernity of the nineteenth century. It investigates how the mask's metamorphoses reflect major shifts in the cultural history of the last two centuries, approaching the Inconnue as an entry point to understand a phenomenon characteristic of 20th and 21st century modernity: the translatability of media. Doing so, this study mobilizes discourses surrounding the Inconnue, casting them as points of negotiation through which we may consider the modern age.

The Hand of the Interpreter G. F. Mitrano, Eric Jarosinski, 2009 This collection of essays by scholars and artists of different disciplines and from different countries is designed to navigate the labyrinth of contemporary aesthetic ideologies with the aim of reassessing how we read both the way in which texts touch us and we them. Theory has transformed texts into mute interlocutors exposed to infinite indeterminacy. While the response to this sense of silence that undermines meaning is often informed by a nostalgia for older notions of close reading, the essays in this volume work towards a re-evaluation of key subjects such as reader, writer and text. The contributors engage with topics such as digital books, popular culture, alternative ways of book making, visual-verbal collaborations and thematic explorations of the hand in literature.

A Common Place Julie Jones, 1998 The issues raised in this study are pertinent to contemporary fiction in general; important here are theories of representation of place of metafiction and parody and questions involving postcolonial urban travel and postmodern literature.

Postmodernist Fiction Brian McHale, 2003-09-02 In this trenchant and lively study Brian McHale undertakes to construct a version of postmodernist fiction which encompasses forms as wide-ranging as North American metafiction, Latin American magic realism, the French New Novel, concrete prose and science fiction. Considering a variety of theoretical approaches including those of Ingarden, Eco, Dolezel, Pavel and Hrushovski, McHale shows that the common denominator is postmodernist fiction's ability to thrust its own ontological status into the foreground and to raise questions about the world or worlds in which we live. Exploiting various theoretical approaches to literary ontology—those of Ingarden, Eco, Dolezel, Pavel, Hrushovski and others—and ranging widely over contemporary world literature, McHale assembles a comprehensive repertoire of postmodernist fiction's strategies of world making and unmaking
