Old Buildings, New Forms Françoise

Bollack, 2013-11-12 It is clear that working with historic structures is both more environmentally sustainable and cost effective than new architecture and construction and many believe that the best design occurs at the intersection of old and new Françoise Astorg Bollack presents 28 examples gathered in the United States and throughout Europe and the Middle East Some are well known Mass MOCA Market Santa Caterina in Barcelona Neues Museum in Berlin and others are almost anonymous But all demonstrate a unique and appropriate solution to the problem of adapting historic structures to contemporary uses This survey of contemporary additions to older buildings is an essential addition to the architectural literature I have always loved old buildings An old building is not an obstacle but instead a foundation for continued action Designing with them is an exhilarating enterprise adding to them grafting inserting knitting new pieces into the existing built fabric is endlessly stimulating Françoise Astorg Bollack

Wells,Barry L. Stiefel,2018-09-20 Human Centered Built Environment Heritage Preservation addresses the question of how a human centred conservation approach can and should change practice For the most part there are few answers to this question because professionals in the heritage conservation field do not use social science research methodologies to manage cultural landscapes assess historical significance and inform the treatment of building and landscape fabric With few exceptions only academic theorists have explored these topics while failing to offer specific usable guidance on how the social sciences can actually be used by heritage professionals In exploring the nature of a human centred heritage conservation practice we explicitly seek a middle ground between the academy and practice theory and application fabric and meanings conventional and civil experts and orthodox and heterodox ideas behind practice and research We do this by positioning this book in a transdisciplinary space between these dichotomies as a way to give voice and respect to multiple perspectives without losing sight of our goal that heritage conservation practice should fundamentally benefit all people We believe that this approach is essential for creating an emancipated built heritage conservation practice that must successfully engage very different ontological and epistemological perspectives Architecture in Conservation James Strike,1994 He explains the way in which the methods of producing good developments relate to our very perception of history and addresses the practical problems involved in developing appropriate sites Case studies from around the world demonstrate the potential of each approach Building Adaptation James Douglas,2006 Introduction Feasibility Principles of Building Conversion Adaptive fuses Lateral extensions Vertical extensions Structural alterations Principles of refurbishment Further aspects of refurbishment Sustainable adaptation Implementation Appendices Creative Reuse of Buildings: Volume One Derek Latham,2016-01-08 Addresses the advantages and practicalities involved in the issue of the creative re use of existing buildings Preservation and Reuse Design for Fragile Territories' Settlements Francesco Augelli,Matteo Rigamonti,Paola Bertò,Alessandro Marccone,2020-11-12 This book reports on an architectural conservation and reuse project in Anipemza an

Architecture in Existing Fabric Johannes Cramer,Stefan Breitling,2012-11-05 Architectural work on existing structures has become enormously important in recent years For the majority of architects this is where future market opportunities will lie This book provides a comprehensive introduction to the field and is thus addressed to all practitioners students and building sponsors whose interest goes beyond an initial encounter with this wideranging field of activity Contradicting the conventional view that creative design work is the exclusive province of new building design the authors offer a nuanced account of active and creative strategies for planning design and execution Subjects considered range from town planning issues through the overall project cycle and its individual phases all the way to building management Special focuses are the grammar of design as well as the issues arising through collaboration of different experts In order to illuminate this broad and complex spectrum of topics the book incorporates thirty examples of projects from Europe and North America in which buildings from a huge variety of periods from the Middle Ages to the 1960s are transferred into the present

Values in Cities James Lesh,2022-09-23 Examining urban heritage in twentieth century Australia James Lesh reveals how evolving ideas of value and significance shaped cities and places Over decades a growing number of sites and areas were found to be valuable by communities and professionals Places perceived to have value were often conserved Places perceived to lack value became subject to modernisation redevelopment and renewal From the 1970s alongside strengthened activism and legislation with the innovative Burra Charter 1979 the values based model emerged for managing the aesthetic historic scientific and social significance of historic environments Values thus transitioned from an implicit to an overt component of urban architectural and planning conservation The field of conservation became a noted profession and discipline Conservation also had a broader role in celebrating the Australian nation and in reconciling settler colonialism for the twentieth century Integrating urban history and heritage studies this book provides the first longitudinal study of the twentieth century Australian heritage movement It advocates for innovative and reflexive modes of heritage practice

Underground Spaces C. A. Brebbia, D. Kaliampakos, 2008 It is a strongly held belief that population growth and the demand for better accommodation and leisure facilities combined with a desire to improve the landscape will result in the need to develop more underground spaces This phenomenon which started in countries subjected to extreme climates is now becoming more widespread Underground spaces are being utilized for a wide diversity of needs They range from classical excavations to subway constructions underground sports halls power stations waste repositories underground cities and many others Their construction techniques are also varied from open air excavations to newly developed injection methods The response of the underground structures on the imposed loadings depends on a number of parameters that sometimes are too complex or not fully understood resulting in budget overruns or even failures that lead to loss of property or life Such uncertain cases need to be addressed and engineers should be able to accurately predict the construction's performance throughout its construction and service life The First International Conference on Underground Spaces discusses not only structural and environmental material characterization aspects but also the trends regarding the utilization of underground spaces This book contains papers presented at the Meeting and covers a wide range of topics including Use of underground space for industry Underground power stations Toxic and nuclear waste repositories Energy underground reservoirs Underground sewerage plants Waste storage and management Road and railway tunnels Utility tunnels Fire defence Defence against terrorist attacks Proceedings of the International Symposium on Design Review (Routledge Revivals) Wolfgang F. E. Preiser, Brenda Case Scheer, 2017-08-03 First published in 1992 this book collects together the papers presented at the International Symposium on Design Review which was held to address the growing tendency of local governments to institute programs of aesthetic control The editor argues that the widespread adoption of design review processes in the years preceding the conference necessitated thoroughgoing professional criticism and a number of areas of debate are identified and addressed in the subsequent papers Are the difficulties experienced by planners community activists and architects with the process due to its relative youth or inherent flaws in the entire concept How should mechanical problems like time and expense the ease with which the process can be manipulated and general inefficiencies in the system be resolved More intricate problems are also addressed such as who has the power to judge the aesthetic quality of a building whether design review infringes on the rights of the individual especially under the First Amendment whether the design review process is fair and the difficulty for the reviewer of deciding what is right and what is wrong having taken into account factors that can be highly subjective or contradict more practical concerns
