Re Engerizing Agricultural Sector To Sustain Growth Reduce Poverty

Clemens Wendtner

Re Energizing Agricultural Sector To Sustain Growth Reduce Poverty:

Growth and Productivity in Agriculture and Agribusiness, 2011 The report assesses the World Bank Group's support for growth and productivity in the agriculture sector. Enhancing agricultural growth and productivity is essential to meeting the worldwide demand for food and to reducing poverty particularly in the poorest developing countries. Between 1998 and 2008 the period covered by this evaluation the World Bank Group (WBG) provided 23.7 billion in financing for agriculture and agribusiness in 108 countries roughly 8 percent of total WBG financing spanning areas from irrigation and marketing to research and extension. However this was a time of declining focus on agricultural growth and productivity by both countries and donors. The cost of inadequate attention to agriculture especially in agriculture based economies came into focus with the food crisis of 2007-08. The crisis added momentum to an emerging renewal of attention and stepped up financing to agriculture and agribusiness at the World Bank and International Finance Corporation (IFC) as well as at several multilateral and bilateral agencies. World Bank financing rose two and a half times from 2008 to 2009 though that increase in lending seems to have been accompanied by a decline in analytical work which this review finds valuable for results. This evaluation seeks to provide lessons from successes and failures to help improve the development impact of the renewed attention to the sector. Ratings against the World Bank's stated objectives and IFC's market based benchmarks for agriculture and agribusiness projects have been equal to or above portfolio averages in East Asia, Latin America and the transition economies in Europe with notable successes over a long period in China and India. But performance of WBG interventions has been well below average in Sub-Saharan Africa where IFC has had little engagement in agribusiness. Inconsistent client commitment and weak capacity have limited the effectiveness of WBG support in agriculture based economies particularly in Sub-Saharan Africa and constraints on staffing and internal coordination within the WBG have also hurt outcomes. Financial sustainability has been constrained by insufficient government funding and the difficulty of maintaining agricultural services and infrastructure. The WBG has a unique opportunity to match the increases in the financing for agriculture with sharper focus on improving agricultural growth and productivity in agriculture based economies notably in Sub-Saharan Africa. Greater effort will be needed to connect sectoral interventions and achieve synergies from public and private sector interventions to build capacity and knowledge exchange to take stock of experience in rain fed agriculture to ensure attention to financial sustainability and to cross cutting issues of gender, environmental and social impacts and climate and to better integrate WBG support at the global and regional levels with that at the country level.

Agricultural Innovation in Rural India: The Paradox of Farmer Nonadoption in Bajwada, Madhya Pradesh
Natasha Malpani, 2011-08-19 Farmer adoption of sustainable agricultural practices is key to sustainable development as changes at the farm level are essential to ensuring food security and environmental protection. Reasons for converting to sustainable farming have been studied in a number of instances. However the underlying rationale that motivates this behaviour is not always made clear The village of Bajwada in Madhya Pradesh is used as a case to investigate farmer perceptions and attitudes regarding sustainable farming An innovator has been promoting what seems to be a highly productive and lauded method of sustainable farming called Natu eco farming for the past five years Strikingly this technique has had practically zero adoption in the village This study aims to examine this paradox by exploring farmer narratives about sustainability futures and development Semi structured interviews were conducted using 18 farmers in Bajwada Participatory observation was also undertaken for ten days The development discourse the drive for modernity and urbanization were found to be important in shaping farmer s perspectives on Natu eco farming and sustainable agriculture An understanding of the dominance of certain discourses and narratives offers a new approach to understanding farmer adoption and non adoption The results of this study are meant to attract the attention of policymakers and practitioners who are involved in the planning and implementation of schemes and projects promoting sustainable agricultural innovation

Livelihoods, Poverty and Targeting in the Indo-Gangetic Plains Olaf Erenstein,2007 Globalization, Labor Markets and Inequality in India Dipak Mazumdar,Sandip Sarkar,2008 India started on a program of reforms both in its external and internal aspects sometime in the mid eighties and going on into the nineties While the increased exposure to world markets globalization and relaxation of domestic controls has undoubtedly given a spurt to the GDP growth rate its impact on poverty inequality and employment have been controversial This book examines in detail these aspects of post reform India and discerns the changes and trends which these new developments have created Providing an original analysis of unit level data available from the quinquennial National Sample Surveys the Annual Surveys of Industries and other basic data sources the authors analyse and compare the results with other pieces of work in the literature As well as describing the overall situation for India the book highlights regional differences and looks at the major industrial sectors such as agriculture manufacturing and tertiary services The important topic of labor market institutions both for the formal or organized and the unorganized sectors is considered and the possible adverse effect on employment growth of the regulatory labor framework is examined carefully Since any reform of this framework must go hand in hand with better state intervention in the informal sector to have any chance of acceptance politically some of the major initiatives in this area are critically explored Overall this book will be of great interest to development economists labour economists and specialists in South Asian Studies

The Political Economy of Agricultural Policy Reform in India Regina Birner, Surupa

Gupta, Neeru Sharma, 2011 Agricultural policy reform is one of the major challenges facing India today Such reform is required to reduce poverty through faster agricultural growth and to promote more sustainable use of natural resources while ensuring food security Subsidy policies that promote the use of fertilizer and of electricity for groundwater irrigation are in particular need of reform While subsidies for these two inputs played a crucial role in achieving India's Green Revolution they have been criticized during the past decade for benefitting large scale farmers more than smallholders placing a fiscal burden on the state and having negative environmental effects By analyzing the evolution of these input subsidy policies and examining the political processes involved in efforts to reform them this study throws new light on the factors that have so far prevented a move toward more pro poor and environmentally sustainable agricultural input policies in India The authors show that electoral politics institutional factors and policy paradigms or belief systems all play an important role in blocking reform They identify several policy reform options as well as political strategies that can overcome past obstacles to reform Community based policy solutions new coalitions for policy reform fresh approaches to the policy debate innovative and consensus oriented forms of deliberation and effective use of research based knowledge can all make positive contributions to Indian policy reform The analyses and proposals presented in this study will be a valuable resource for policymakers and stakeholders concerned with the politics of agricultural development

World Development Report 2008 World Bank, 2007-10-15 The world's demand for food is expected to double within the next 50 years while the natural resources that sustain agriculture will become increasingly scarce degraded and vulnerable to the effects of climate change In many poor countries agriculture accounts for at least 40 percent of GDP and 80 percent of employment At the same time about 70 percent of the world's poor live in rural areas and most depend on agriculture for their livelihoods World Development Report 2008 seeks to assess where when and how agriculture can be an effective instrument for economic development especially development that favors the poor It examines several broad questions How has agriculture changed in developing countries in the past 20 years What are the important new challenges and opportunities for agriculture Which new sources of agricultural growth can be captured cost effectively in particular in poor countries with large agricultural sectors as in Africa How can agricultural growth be made more effective for poverty reduction How can governments facilitate the transition of large populations out of agriculture without simply transferring the burden of rural poverty to urban areas How can the natural resource endowment for agriculture be protected How can agriculture's negative environmental effects be contained This year's report marks the 30th year the World Bank has been publishing the World Development Report Globalization, Labour Markets and Inequality in India Dipak Mazumdar, Sandip Sarkar, 2020-11-25 India started on a program of reforms both in its external and internal aspects sometime in the mid eighties and going on into the nineties While the increased exposure to world markets globalization and relaxation of domestic controls has undoubtedly given a spurt to the GDP growth rate its impact on poverty inequality and employment have been controversial This book examines in detail these aspects of post reform India and discerns the changes and trends which these new developments have created Providing an original analysis of unit level data available from the quinquennial National Sample Surveys the Annual Surveys of Industries and other basic data sources the authors analyse and compare the results with other pieces of work in the literature As well as describing the overall situation for India the book highlights regional differences and looks at the major industrial sectors such as agriculture manufacturing and tertiary services The important topic of labor market institutions both for the formal or organized and the unorganized sectors is considered and the possible adverse effect on employment growth of the regulatory labor framework is examined carefully Since any reform of this framework must go hand in hand with better state intervention in the informal sector to have any chance of acceptance politically some of the major initiatives in this area are critically explored Overall this book will be of great interest to development economists labour economists and specialists in South Asian Studies The Great Indian Corridor in the East, 2007 Commemorative volume in honour of late Hariprasanna Das b 1924 Indian geographer contributed articles

Contract Farming in Developing Countries Sudha Narayanan, 2025-03-18 Contract farming is an institutional arrangement between farmers and businesses to produce and transact agricultural commodities at predetermined prices and conditions and it has recently received a heightened amount of attention despite being a relatively old phenomenon A new wave of agricultural industrialization and the emergence of large scale food retailing in developing countries may be precipitating the unprecedented shift in favor of contract farming This open access book identifies the methodological differences across disciplines that have generated a false binary in discussions of contract farming The author explains the importance of adopting a more integrated theoretical perspective providing insights into the ways in which this can reconcile conflicting positions Given the immense diversity of contracting schemes commodities and contexts as well as the substantial regional differences in contract farming experiences across a range of outcomes a syncretic understanding of contract farming is essential to the evaluation of the promise and perils of contract farming The resulting book proposes a way forward that is holistic in nature framing contract farming within a comparative institutional analysis so that it can better accommodate multidisciplinary priorities DEVELOPMENT ECONOMICS : A CRITICAL PERSPECTIVE APARAJITA MUKHERJEE, SAUMYA CHAKRABARTI, 2016-05-16 Development economics is a branch of study that focuses on improving the economies of developing countries examining both macroeconomic and microeconomic factors relating to the structure of a developing economy The main objective of the book is to present major issues of development economies It takes up an analysis of the limitations of accumulation centric growth process and introduces the readers to alternative development paradigms along with their critics Organised into fourteen chapters the initial chapters discuss historical background of less developed economies post colonial development patterns in the context of establishment of the World Bank the IMF and the GATT economic models like classical development ideas Marxian model the Marginalist economies Alfred Marshall and the neoclassical school and ideas of Keynes The book skillfully explains some of the development macro models based on industry agriculture interactions structure of agriculture population and role of market and state in economic development The later chapters delve on capability approaches to development and thematic deficiency of traditional development economics and relation between inequality poverty and development In this context the book takes up the analysis of the concept of Development Management and its application to less developed economies Crop-livestock Interactions and Livelihoods in the Gangetic Plains of West Bengal, India ,2007-01-01 The Rise of the BRICS in the Global Political Economy Vai Io Lo,Mary Hiscock,2014-01-31 Taking an interdisciplinary approach Vai Io Lo and Mary Hiscock together with scholars and researchers from around the world investigate the rise of the BRICS and assess the extent of their further development and influence from the perspectives of Agricultural Growth and Productivity in Maharashtra S.S. Kalamkar,2011-09-14 Maharashtra is an important state of India so far as its contribution to the agriculture development of the country is concerned During the last four decades the agricultural sector of Maharashtra has undergone lots of changes Though agricultural performance improved during the last forty years its progress was not sustained and showed wide fluctuations In fact the important characteristics of Maharashtra agriculture are the instability in crop production and significant regional variations in the performance of agriculture in the state The recent farmer suicides in Vidarbha and Marathawada have once again highlighted regional disparity in Maharashtra The agrarian crisis in Vidarbha has spun almost out of control There are a number of factors which limit the growth of agriculture over the years in the state It is therefore necessary to look into the factors affecting agricultural growth Crop-livestock interactions and livelihoods in the trans-Gangetic Plains, India ,2007-01-01 Footprints of Development and Change N.
