Reaching Women:

How can anticipatory action programming support women? Application of the reach-benefit-empower-transform framework in Nepal and Nigeria Gonzales, Teresa, Kosec, Katrina, Kyle, Jordan, Madero, Ana, Mittrick, Caitlin, Myers, Emily, Quisumbing, Agnes R., Rapadas, Amica, 2024-12-10 As floods increase in frequency and intensity due to climate change anticipatory action AA programs offer a promising approach to mitigate their impacts However there is limited research about how AA programming can address the specific needs of women who often face heightened vulnerabilities during disasters This paper applies the Reach Benefit Empower Transform RBET framework to examine gender dynamics in AA programming through case studies in Nepal and Nigeria two flood prone countries where AA initiatives have been piloted Using data from key informant interviews and focus group discussions with stakeholders including government agencies NGOs local advocacy groups and direct beneficiaries of flood programs we assess barriers and enabling conditions for AA to reach benefit and empower women and broader opportunities for transformation of gender norms and social inequalities Our findings reveal key implementation challenges including limited funding weak integration with broader disaster risk reduction efforts and inadequate early warning systems However we also identify practical strategies for improving AA s gender responsiveness such as relying on individual rather than household level data providing accessible early warning information offering aid modalities that meet women s specific needs such as dignity kits ensuring women s participation in community decision making and facilitating ongoing inclusive household and community dialogues in flood prone communities rather than only responding to specific flood warnings The paper concludes with recommendations for scaling up gender inclusive AA programming to enhance resilience and reduce the disproportionate impacts of flooding on women

Understanding the organizational approaches of funders and project implementers to strengthen women's empowerment through agricultural collectives Rubin, Deborah, 2024-10-07 This paper reports on approaches for strengthening women's empowerment that were implemented by project partners involved in the International Food Policy Research IFPRI led Applying New Evidence for Women's Empowerment ANEW project funded by the Walmart Foundation The study explores the partner organizations websites and publications project materials and selected staff interviews to better understand how each envisions women's empowerment and the pathways for supporting it The four implementing project partners are Grameen Foundation Professional Assistance for Development Action PRADAN in India Root Capital in Mexico and TechnoServe in Guatemala Their programs and their organizational approaches vary in whether they primarily focus on women rather than more broadly targeting both women and men and their gender relationships Some organizations are more organic in integrating attention to gender and empowerment into their programs designing and implementing an approach on a case by case basis Others are more intentional in establishing organization wide policies strategies and monitoring systems The organizations also differ in their positions on supporting economic empowerment and clear economic benefits such as prioritizing increased income or assets in contrast to those that also seek to actively change social norms and achieve other social dimensions of empowerment that encompass behaviors around decision making mobility and self confidence Another variation is in the organizations attention to enterprise development and consequently to entrepreneurship and upgrading and what aspects of women's empowerment are most critical for achieving those goals This paper offers implementers and their funders insight into organizational differences in approaches to women's empowerment The review demonstrates that both funders and implementers continue to focus on strengthening women's economic empowerment by increasing women's incomes and assets often with good results However they often lack clear theories of change or explicit strategies to strengthen other dimensions of women's empowerment More nuanced evidence based theories of change and targeted actions could strengthen program design to expand and support women s achievement of empowerment across all its dimensions Funding Your Ministry Scott Morton,1999
