Chinese-English Dual Language Immersion Programs Ko-Yin Sung, 2024-05-29 Chinese dual language immersion (DLI) education experienced unprecedented growth in recent years; hence, it has become critical that Chinese DLI research catches up to inform Chinese DLI teachers and administrators of the most effective ways to teach and run their programs. The purpose of Chinese-English Dual Language Immersion Programs: Content Area Instruction, Learners, and Evaluations is to explore three DLI themes that are under-researched: content area instruction, learners, and evaluations. The first section of this edited volume is dedicated to exploring current teaching designs and practices in different content subjects in Chinese DLI programs in order to make useful teaching suggestions to the programs. The second section includes studies which look into K-12 Chinese DLI learners' learning variables such as motivations, learning strategies, learner perception, and engagement, and learner background differences. The last section of this edited volume intends to fill the research gap by including studies which adopt various methods to evaluate Chinese DLI students' target language level to better illustrate their learning progress in different language skills.

Ethnography in China Today Daniel Overmyer, 2002-06-01 This book includes twenty chapters reviewing a total of sixty-four books in Chinese in the two series Studies in Chinese Ritual Theatre and Folklore and Traditional Hakka Society, edited respectively by Wang Chiu-kuei and John Lagerwey. It is intended to inform the wider world of scholarship of this new research which provides the most detailed information ever available about Chinese local culture, drama, and religion. Together with the excellent studies of this dimension of culture by scholars in Taiwan and with a revived interest in this area by other China mainland scholars, it represents a resumption of the folklore studies movement of the 1920s and 1930s that was interrupted by the war with Japan. These new reports may also be seen as a complement to the work of anthropologists who until recently have not been able to conduct many field studies in China. As such, this research provides fresh information for an understanding of the culture of the majority of the Chinese people: an understanding based on their lived experiences and values.
