The set also features essays that explore how a particular program or type of show has influenced or reflected American society and it includes numerous sidebars packed with interesting data related information and additional insights into the subject matter Women Resisting Sexual Violence and the Egyptian Revolution Manal Hamzeh, 2020-06-25 Women were at the forefront of the Egyptian Revolution in 2011 with the Arab Spring protests providing an unprecedented opportunity to make their voices heard But these women also faced an intense backlash from Egypt's patriarchal authorities with female activists subjected to sexual violence and intimidation by the regime and even fellow protestors Centered on the testimonies of four women who each played a significant role in the protests this book provides unique insight into women s experiences during the Egyptian Revolution and into the methods of resistance these women developed in response to sexual violence In the process Hamzeh casts new light on the relationship between gendered and state violence and argues that women s resistance to this violence is reshaping gender relations in Egypt and the wider Arab world Television Broadcast Policies United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation. Subcommittee on Communications, 1977 The Age of Television Martin Esslin, 2017-07-05 Having spent most of his career working with the British Broadcasting Corporation BBC Martin Esslin appraises American TV with the eyes of both a detached outsider and a concerned insider American popular culture writes Esslin has become the popular culture of the world at large American television is thus more than a purely social phenomenon It fascinates and in some instances frightens the whole world The Age of Television discusses television as an essentially dramatic form of communication pointing to the strengths and weaknesses that spring from its character It explores its impact on generations destined to grow up under its influence with such questions as how TV turns reality into fiction and fiction into reality Esslin considers the long term effects of television on our abilities to reason to read to create He asks if current programming on American television constitutes what we want and deserve and asks what we would change if we could These are but a handful of the questions Esslin probes in this penetrating analysis of contemporary television and its impact on our lives In his new introduction Esslin discusses changes in the media over the last two decades He explores the increasing number of television stations available the rise of boutique channels concentrating on news sports or film and the relationship between television and other forms of electronic media such as video games and the Internet Finally he considers the effect of these developments on our ability to concentrate our sensitivity to violence and even our artistic taste Most compelling of all is his final question Can the Age of Television with all its dangers yet become a golden age of cultural growth Martin Esslin is professor emeritus of drama at Stanford University His numerous critical works include Brecht The Man and his Work The Theatre of the Absurd An Anatomy of Drama and Artaud He cur Bad Sex Billy Holzberg, Jacqueline Gibbs, Aura Lehtonen, 2025-02-06 Bad Sex traces the evolution of representations of sex on screen from earlier portrayals of sex as glamorous or taboo to more complex depictions of often awkward or painful experiences and feelings Jacqueline Gibbs Billy Holzberg and Aura Lehtonen examine the representation of sex and sexuality in contemporary English language drama and dramedy shows like Fleabag 2016 2019 Sex Education 2019 23 I May Destroy You 2020 and Euphoria 2019 arguing that TV is where the politics of sexuality and gender is negotiated under the contemporary conditions of neoliberalism Through a cultural analysis of key television shows they identify this shift as driven by the diversification of representations of sex and sexuality as women trans and non binary Black and minority ethnic working class and disabled TV professionals carve some space in a traditionally white middle class cis male dominated industry In doing so they explore the affective potential and limits of bad sex on our screens and what these representations can tell us about sexual politics and gender cultures today
