Nearly a decade's worth of theoretical and empirical advances Handbook of Identity Theory and Research Seth J. Schwartz, Koen Luyckx, Vivian L. Vignoles, 2011-06-22 Identity is one of the most extensively studied constructs in the social sciences. Yet despite the wealth of findings across many disciplines, identity researchers remain divided over such enduring fundamental questions as: What exactly is identity and how do identity processes function? Do people have a single identity or multiple identities? Is identity individually or collectively oriented? Personally or socially constructed? Stable or constantly in flux? The Handbook of Identity Theory and Research offers the rare opportunity to address the questions and reconcile these seeming contradictions, bringing unity and clarity to a diverse and fragmented literature. This exhaustive reference work emphasizes the depth and complexity of identity processes and domains and presents perspectives from many different theoretical schools and empirical approaches. Contributing authors provide perspectives from psychology (e.g., narrative social identity theory, neo-Eriksonian) and from other disciplines (e.g., sociology, political science, ethnic studies) and the editors highlight the links between chapters that provide complementary insights on related subjects. In addition to covering identity processes and categories that are well known to the field, the Handbook tackles many emerging issues, including: Identity development among adopted persons; Identity processes in interpersonal relationships; Effects of globalization on cultural identity; Transgender experience and identity; Consumer identity and shopping behavior; Social identity processes in xenophobia and genocide. The Handbook of Identity Theory and Research lends itself to a wealth of uses by scholars, clinicians, and graduate students across many disciplines, including social developmental and child school psychology, human development and family studies, sociology, cultural anthropology, gender, ethnic and communication studies, education, and counseling.

The Psychology of Love Michele A. Paludi, 2012-03-09 From arranged marriages to online dating, this four-volume work presents everything from personal accounts to empirical evidence to document what creates love in our culture as well as around the world. The field of biology views love as a hard-wired mammalian drive, akin to thirst and hunger. In contrast, psychology views love from a social and cultural perspective where our drive to find love and our responses to it are highly dependent on societal norms. In The Psychology of Love, esteemed author and educator Michele A. Paludi examines love through all lenses, thereby providing readers a deeper understanding of the ways we can express caring, sensitivity, empathy, and respect toward one another. Each chapter in this comprehensive four-volume work includes a scholarly overview of empirical research and theories about the psychology of love. In addition, individuals' own definitions of love are included. Special attention is paid to accepted standards of love across a variety of cultures, the ways individuals express liking and love across the lifecycle, and patterns in dissolutions of friendships and romantic relationships, making note of gender and race differences.

Gender Perceptions and the Law Christine R. Barker, Elizabeth A. Kirk, 2018-08-20 Published in 1998 This collection of papers written by leading lawyers and sociologists in the UK focuses on the relationships between gender and the law in the context of three areas of law family law criminal law and equal rights The papers argue that gender roles within society affect the legal rights of individuals and impact on procedures they go through to enforce their rights or to gain redress for wrongs done to them By failing to recognize the social and economic situations in which men and women are placed the law perpetuates inequalities in their positions Where attempts are made to ensure equality between the sexes the result is often the exact opposite because the legal system treats individuals as equals operating in a vacuum ignoring the argument that equal treatment does not necessarily mean the same treatment but can mean different treatment to ensure equality of result Topics include Disputes in the area of parental child custody rights The rights of surviving spouses to their deceased partner s estate Theories for violent behaviour in women as contrasted with men Gender bias in criminal sentencing The role of European law in promoting sex equality in the work place Pornography and free speech Homosexuality as a civil right of citizenship
