English Language as Hydra Vaughan Rapatahana, Pauline Bunce, 2012-06-22 In far too many places the worldwide trade in English language teaching testing and publishing has become a self perpetuating self congratulating neocolonial monster a veritable multi headed Hydra Too often the English language industry aggressively promotes itself as some sort of uplifting essential proper or even better means of communication than any other language Unfortunately its relentless global outreach is taking place at the direct expense and the active denigration of local and regional languages not to mention individual identities English Language as Hydra brings together the voices of linguists literary figures and teaching professionals in a wide ranging expos of this monstrous Hydra in action on four continents It provides a showcase of the diverse and powerful impacts that this ever evolving gluttonous beast has had on so many non English language cultures as well as the surreptitious drug like ways in which it can infiltrate individual psyches Who's Who in Twentieth Century World Poetry Alan Parker, Mark Willhardt, 2005-12-05 Publicity Title Foreword by Andrew Motion Poet Laureate 900 entries by 75 international contributors all experts in their field Covers both canonical and lesser known contemporary poets Very broad range of coverage taking in poets from all over the world The only book of its kind to look at non English language poets in such detail Cross-Cultural Visions in African American Literature Y. Hakutani, 2011-05-23 The most influential East West artistic cultural and literary exchange that has taken place in modern and postmodern times was the reading and writing of haiku Here esteemed contributors investigate the impact of Eastern philosophy and religion on African American writers such as Richard Wright Ralph Ellison and Toni Morrison offering a fresh field of literary inquiry Poetry across the Curriculum, 2018-09-24 The present volume is the result of a pilot study and a workshop at Queensborough Community College that tried to integrate and discussed poetry as a new method of writing intensive pedagogy across the curriculum Educators from several different disciplines Art and Design Biology English History Philosophy and Sociology describe such methods and their teaching experiences in the classroom and highlight how poetry has been and could be used for fruitful teaching and learning across the curriculum The interdisciplinary pilot study and the discussions at the workshop which are represented by the chapters in the present volume consequently emphasize the possibilities for the use of poetry at Community Colleges and U S undergraduate education in general Contributors are Kathleen Alves Alison Cimino Urszula Golebiewska Joshua M Hall Angela Hooks Frank Jacob Shannon Kincaid Susan Lago Alice Rosenblitt Lacey Ravid Rovner and Amy Traver Inner Lives Paula Johnson, 2004-03-01 An intimate collection of African American women s voices on their lives in prison The rate of women entering prison has increased nearly 400 percent since 1980 with African American women constituting the largest percentage of this population However despite their extremely disproportional representation in correctional institutions little attention has been paid to their experiences within the criminal justice system Inner Lives provides readers the rare opportunity to intimately connect with African American women prisoners By presenting the women s stories in their own voices Paula C Johnson captures the reality of those who are in the system and those who are working to help them Johnson offers a nuanced and compelling portrait of this fastest growing prison population by blending legal history ethnography sociology and criminology These striking and vivid narratives are accompanied by equally compelling arguments by Johnson on how to reform our nation s laws and social policies in order to eradicate existing inequalities Her thorough and insightful analysis of the historical and legal background of contemporary criminal law
